ALLIES IN ACCORD FOR THE REFUSAL OF POPE'S PEACE

America's Reply May Coincide with Pershing's First Push on the Fighting Front.

JOINT ANSWER BY ENTENTE

But a Separate Communication from President Wilson to Rome Is Predicted.

BRITISH MESSAGE TO POPE

Acknowledges Receipt of Proposals and Will Examine Them in a "Benevolent" Spirit.

Michaelis Friendly to Pope's Note, But Can't Offer Peace

BERLIN, Aug. 21, (via London.)—Chancellor Michaelis informed the Main Committee of the Reichstag today that Germany would not reply to the Papal peace note until she had consulted her allies.

Dr. Michaelis added that as Germany had repeatedly and positively indicated her readiness to enter peace negotiations, the Vatican's appeal was looked on with sympathetic approval. Germany, however, could not again offer peace in face of the rejection of previous proposals and the continued declarations by the Entente that no peace was possible until the Central powers were defeated and crushed.

The Chancellor informed the committee that no steps would be undertaken toward peace without fully consulting the Reichstag. He then declared that the military situation on all fronts was exceptionally auspicious, and read a message received from Great Headquarters, in which the U-boat campaign was given liberal credit for its effect in successfully warding off the Allies' offensive in Flanders.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 21.—Dr. Michaelis told the Reichstag Main Committee that the peace proposal of the Pope was issued spontaneously, and not at the wish of the Central Powers.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—All doubt appears to have been removed with reference to the response that the allied nations will make to the peace offer of Pope Benedict. It is now accepted as certain that all the Allies, individually and collectively, will notify the Vatican that the Pope's proposals cannot be accepted.

The Entente Powers will reply, it is believed, in an identical note sent through the medium of Great Britain, although Russia may make some supplemental communication to explain her particular aims in her present political situation. The United States is expected to send a separate answer that will be in general agreement with the response of the Entente.

Interest in official and diplomatic circles today was devoted mainly to the probable conditions that will be created through the negative attitude of the nations engaged in fighting Germany. Among some of those concerned the opinion prevails that while the Pope may be discouraged over the non-success of his effort to end the war, he will not abandon his activity and will take advantage of every opportunity to keep alive the discussion of peace terms.

Expect Teutonic Backing for Pope.

The Pope's action is known to have the sympathy of neutral countries, which desire the restoration of peace and profess not to be greatly concerned, as a matter not affecting them, by the conditions. It is believed also to please the Central Powers and their allies.

Germany, with a new Imperial Chancellor, to whom attaches none of the responsibility of the many miscarriages of Teutonic diplomacy since the war began, is expected, with the backing of Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria, and Turkey, to encourage the Vatican to continue its efforts, accepting, with reservations, the Pope's plan for ending the conflict.

Observers of the situation here assert that Germany, realizing now the limits of the extension of the alliance against her, expecting no new enemies unless she elects to force more neutrals into the war, and having a new Chancellor, will nevertheless maintain her former policy but in different guise. Chancellor Michaelis is expected to assign responsibility for the war to Germany's enemies, just as von Bethmann Hollweg did, and to declare Germany's readiness to negotiate peace, but to make the conditions so vague as to be meaningless.

Despite the tremendous pressure now being brought to bear upon Germany and Austria by the French, British, and Italian armies, military men here say that the German Government, because of the collapse of Russia's military power and because of the necessary slowness in preparing America for a major part in the war, may well be able to deceive the German people into the belief that, even with losses in the West, Germany's fortunes in the field are still in the ascendent.

American "Push" May Coincide.

Some observers advance the suggestion that the reply of the United States to the Pope will be coincident with the entry of the American forces in France into the actual fighting. "It

Ex-Ambassador Gerard Now Sir James; King Confers Order of Bath on Him

LONDON, Tuesday, Aug. 22.—The statement that King George has conferred the Order of Knight Grand Cross of the Bath on James W. Gerard, former American Ambassador to Germany, appears today for the first time in an unofficial announcement in The Daily Mail, which says the decoration was given Mr. Gerard in recognition of his unceasing and courageous efforts to ameliorate the lot of British prisoners in Germany.

The Daily Mail adds that the decoration was offered Mr. Gerard in February, but that he was unable formally to accept it until his retirement from the diplomatic service. The "G. C. B." (Knight Grand Cross of the Bath) involves knighthood with the prefixed title of "Sir."

ORDER STRIKE IN ALL SHIPYARDS

Men Instruct Leaders to Withdraw Workers from the Shops in New York.

NAVY YARD IS INCLUDED

George Stilzebauer Starts Cry Which Stampedes Tammany Hall Meeting Against Work.

Nearly 2,000 striking shipyard workers attended a mass meeting yesterday afternoon at Tammany Hall and ordered their leaders by resolution to call a strike in all the shops in the Port of New York, including the New York Navy Yard. The men filled the floor and gallery of the hall, and hooted down every speaker who urged them not to take any hasty action.

The slogan of the meeting was "Pull the Navy Yard!" which was started by George Stilzebauer of the Machinists' Association and shouted at the leaders on the platform every few minutes.

James J. Keppler, Vice President of the International Machinists Association, also made a stir when he said: "There has been talk that officials of the unions, 1 one of them, have been receiving German money. That talk went on during the Bridgeport strike, too. To the employers I say, pay the men the money they are entitled to and we won't need no Kaiser's money." This was received with cheers and hat waving from all parts of the hall except the platform where the leaders sat.

Fight Starts Over the Kaiser.

Apparently one of the strikers in the rear of the hall understood that the Kaiser was to be called over to settle the strike. He objected to it and was punched by a man near him, but the matter was explained before the fight spread.

It was evident that the strikers had come to Tammany Hall primed to declare war on all employers of labor, including the Government. They were especially bitter against the Brooklyn Navy Yard, which was accused repeatedly of employing scab labor. At 5 o'clock, when nearly every one present was exhausted, a resolution was put by the Chairman, William Dickson, President of the Marine Trades Council, and voted unanimously. It read:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that the Marine Trades Council be and hereby is instructed to withdraw all the shops in the Port of New York and vicinity engaged in marine work, including the Brooklyn Navy Yard—irrespective whether the conditions requested have been granted."

The strikers were so anxious to have the resolution passed, after the Chairman had read it five times, that they held up both hands, instead of their right, as he requested. When the call was made for those who opposed the resolution not one responded.

"No Peace Until Demands Are Met."

The first speaker was Joseph J. McIntee, business agent of the International Machinists' Association.

"We are willing to let the public know what we are doing," he said, "which is different to the attitude of the owners. With regard to the Government we are all Americans and we want to see Amrica prosper and not do anything ourselves to embarrass the country during this crisis. That is why a few months ago we held up the strike in the shipyards at the request of the Department of Labor to give the Government conciliators an opportunity to effect an adjustment. We exercised every honorable means to bring the controvrsy to an end without calling a strike in Government yards or in those belonging to private firms.

"Hundreds left this port to seek jobs in shipyards in other ports. I believe the Government at Washington is about to consider the demands of the men on strike. There is not going to be any industrial peace in the Port of New York until the demands of the men are met by their employers. H. C. Hunter, the represntative of the shipyard owners, has insulted the Government officials as well as the labor leaders."

Mr. McEntee read the following telegram from the New Jersey State Federation of Labor, which was holding a convention at Paterson:

"We pledge our loyal support. Stick to your guns and victory will be yours."

John J. Dowd, delegate from the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, aroused wild enthusiasm when he said: "We are going to reap the benefits of our labor or else declare war on every shipyard in the United States."

"Pull Navy Yard," Yells Stilzebauer.

The slogan of the meeting was coined when George Stilzebauer of the International Machinists' Association rose to his feet and shouted, "Pull the navy yard too—prevent the scab work there!" and sat down while the cry "Pull the navy yard!" was yelled from every part of the hall. One man made himself heard long enough to say:

"Pull out the West Coast. The only fault we have with the leaders is that they are not putting enough fight into the strike. Call out every marine shop in New York. There are 250 shops in the United States—call them all out. We have trusted too much to the Government, but it has not kept its promises." Here the speaker was interrupted again for five minutes or more by the cries of "Pull the Navy Yard!"

Shaking his finger toward the leaders of the Marine Trades Council on the platform, he continued: "Let the Marine Trades Council back up its talk. They have talked for seven weeks, giving out statements to the papers that the men in the Navy Yard

HEARST PETITION FOR MAYOR FILED

Sponsors Say Principal, Who Is in California, Was Not Consulted as to Candidacy.

REPUBLICAN TICKET PUT UP

William M. Bennett Files Petition Naming Himself for Mayor —Brooklyn Revolt Spreads.

Petitions designating William R. Hearst as a candidate for Mayor in the Democratic primary were filed last night with the Board of Elections by Hearst followers in the city. Although only 1,500 names are necessary to a petition designating a candidate for Mayor, the Hearst petitions contained 3,515 signatures. It was said that the petitions had the sanction of Mr. Hearst's lieutenant in New York, L. J. O'Reilly.

Whether Mr. Hearst will run in the primary could not be learned last night, as Mr. Hearst is in California and his representative here would not say what action is to be taken. Midnight was the last hour for filing petitions, and each party had its petitions in on time.

If Mr. Hearst decides to make a fight against the Democratic nominee, County Judge John F. Hylan of Brooklyn, it is expected that the Democratic ticket will stand little chance of success at the polls. Judge Hylan has said that, if beaten in the primary, he would retire in favor of the successful candidate. The Tammany candidate has still a chance to withdraw before the primary in favor of another candidate, but he also positively stated that he would not withdraw but leave it to the primary to decide whether or not he was to be the Democratic nominee.

The filing of a Hearst petition did not come as a surprise, for it was understood that his followers had determined to see that he was put forward as a candidate and then leave to him whether or not he should run. Four petitions in all were filed with the Board of Elections designating Mr. Hearst as a candidate for Mayor in the Democratic primary.

West Side Petition.

The largest petition was filed from Manhattan, and contained 3,208 names. A second Manhattan petition contained 307 names, while one from Brooklyn contained 36 signatures. Earlier in the day a petition from Queens designating Mr. Hearst as a Mayoralty candidate had been filed containing 251 signatures. The largest Hearst petition was filed by M. J. McCarthy, who is secretary to Coroner Riordan. Mr. McCarthy said, in explanation of his petition:

"My friends along the west side circulated this petition, because they believe that Mr. Hearst is the strongest man the Democratic Party can name and because they believe in the direct primary.

"Mr. Hearst has led the fight against the New York Central west side grab and best represents the public sentiment opposing the re-election of Mitchel and Prendergast.

"I am told that other petitions for Mr. Hearst's nomination have been filed, but I can speak only for my own.

"This is a workingman's petition, circulated by us without consultation with Mr. Hearst or with any organization. We took the petitions around during the evenings, and if we had had time to give to it we would have had no difficulty in obtaining any number of signatures."

Politicians who looked over many of the names signed to the Hearst petitions, particularly the signatures of citizens in Queens, declared that names of Teutonic origin predominated. The Queens petition was sponsored officially by the following men as the Committee on Vacancies: William F. Matthews, John T. Kreete, and Rudolph Geonnwich.

A petition with the requisite number of signatures placing a ticket in the Republican primary against the Fusion ticket headed by Mayor Mitchel was also filed last night by former State Senator William M. Bennett. Mr. Bennett is named as the candidate for Mayor. Others on the ticket are William H. Douglas, for Controller; Theodore T. Taylor, for President of the Board of Aldermen; Marcus M. Marks, for President of the Borough of Manhattan; John J. Lyons, for Sheriff; Herman W. Beyer, for County Clerk; Frank Moss, for District Attorney, and John J. Hopper, for Register. Marks, Lyons, Beyer, and Hopper are the Fusion nominees. It is understood that Mr. Douglas, the candidate for Controller, will withdraw, and that another candidate will be substituted.

Petitions designating Bird S. Coler as the Democratic nominee for Controller were filed last night. There were 2,166 signatures to the petition. A few minutes before the petition was filed Mr. Coler appeared at the office of the Elections Board and served notice that he declined the nomination and would not run for office.

Just before midnight the Fusion Committee filed its petitions, carrying all the names heretofore designated.

Candidates who will oppose the selections of the regular Democratic organizations, including Thomas E. Rush, leader of the Twenty-ninth Assembly District, who is a candidate for Supreme Court Justice against the Tammany selection, filed their petitions in the reg-

PRESIDENT CUTS SOFT COAL PRICE TO A BASE OF $2

Issues an Order Fixing Provisional Rates to be Charged at All Mines in Country.

GARFIELD FOR CONTROLLER

Chairman of the Wheat Price Committee May Take the Coal Situation in Hand.

Embargo on Meat Exports Next on Government Program

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 21.—Information was obtained tonight that within forty-eight hours a complete embargo will be placed on exportation of meats.

After the order is effective, the Food Administration will determine the quantities of meats that may be shipped to Allied countries, and the Exports Council will carry out the decision reached.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—President Wilson issued a sweeping order tonight fixing the base price of bituminous coal in all of the big producing districts at approximately $2 a ton, $1 a ton under the schedule agreed upon at a recent conference of coal operators with the Coal Production Committee of the Council of National Defense, Secretary Lane of the Interior Department, and Commissioner Fort of the Federal Trade Commission.

At this conference a price of $3 a ton had been fixed for bituminous coal at the mouth of the mine and $3.50 for special sizes, with a reduction of 50 cents a ton on Government contracts. The conference decision was repudiated in the War and Navy Departments.

The President, in his order, did not differentiate between the Government and the consuming public, but, apparently, named one price for all. This is entirely in keeping with his address of July 12, when he said that in all essential commodities there should be a single price.

Text of Price Fixing Order.

The President's statement is as follows:

White House,
Washington, Aug. 21, 1917.

The following scale of prices is prescribed for bituminous coal at the mine in the several coal-producing districts. It is provisional only. It is subject to reconsideration when the whole method of administering the fuel supplies of the country shall have been satisfactorily organized and put into operation. Subsequent measures will have as their object a fair and equitable control of the distribution of the supply and of the prices, not only at the mines but also in the hands of the middlemen and the retailers.

The prices provisionally fixed here are fixed by my authority under the provisions of the recent act of Congress regarding administration of the food supply of the country, which also conferred upon the Executive control of the fuel supply. They are based upon the actual cost of production and are deemed to be not only fair and just but liberal as well. Under them the industry should nowhere lack stimulation. WOODROW WILSON.

Note.—Prices are on f. o. b. mine basis for tons of 2,000 pounds.

President Wilson has full powers to enforce the prices he fixes under the Food Control law, and the tenor of his order made it evident that he intended to do so to the fullest extent unless an obvious flaw were brought to his attention. He said that, in his opinion, the prices he quoted, after careful investigation of the findings of production cost by the Federal Trade Commission, should be helpful to stimulation of the industry.

Vigorous Action Expected.

There was a feeling tonight that the President's schedule of prices would come as something of a shock to the coal industry, and it was considered here as an indication that he would take soon a much more decisive step to place the coal supply of the country under Federal control. Some of the operators have been obtaining prices greatly in excess of those named by the President, and it is said that, because of the action

GERMANS ROUTED IN A FOG AT LENS; FRENCH SWEEP ON NORTH OF VERDUN; ITALIANS BREAK AUSTRIAN LINES

FRENCH WIN MORE TOWNS

Capture Regneville and Samogneux, Together with the Cote de l'Oie.

ALL COUNTERATTACKS FAIL

Germans Make Desperate but Costly Efforts to Regain Lost Ground.

PRISONERS EXCEED 5,000

American Airmen and Ambulance Men Have Been Conspicuous in Battle.

PARIS, Aug. 21.—The battle at Verdun continued to rage throughout the day, even increasing in fury at some points. The French made further important gains, the War Office announcing tonight that on the left bank of the Meuse the attackers captured the famous Cote l'Oie and the village of Regnéville. On the right bank of the river they swept forward through the village of Samogneux, seizing an entire system of fortified trenches between that village and Hill 344, which was captured yesterday.

Furious German counterattacks on both sides of the river were repulsed, the enemy suffering heavy losses in futile attempts to check the onrush of the victorious French. The number of unwounded prisoners considerably exceeds 5,000, many of those taken in today's fighting not yet being counted.

The extent of the French gains on the east bank of the Meuse is shown by the fact that when the Germans held the village of Fleury and most gravely menaced Verdun they were two and a half miles from the fortress. Today, with the French holding the village of Samogneux, the Germans are nearly seven miles from the city.

The text of tonight's statement reads:

The artillery of both sides was quite active in the region north of Vauxaillon and on the Cerny and Craonne plateaus.

In Champagne our fires of destruction against the German organizations in the sector of St. Hilaire caused an explosion in gas reservoirs. Our reconnoitring parties found soon after enemy trenches were evacuated—that they were filled with dead.

On the Verdun front the battle continued today at several points and developed everywhere to our advantage. On the left bank of the Meuse our troops captured the Cote l'Oie, which we occupied in its entirety, as well as the village of Regnéville.

On the right bank, in the course of a brilliant attack, we took Samogneux and a whole system of fortified trenches which connects this village with the organizations on Hill 344. German counterattacks were repulsed. We made additional prisoners, who have not yet been counted.

In the Vosges an enemy surprise attack against our small posts at Hartmanns-Weilerkopf was without result.

The afternoon statement follows:

On the Cerny Plateau the Germans made attacks at three different points. On two occasions our fire broke up the assaulting waves, which were thrown back, greatly weakened, to the German lines. The other attack, west of Hurtebise monument, also was repulsed.

On the front north of Verdun the Germans reacted energetically during the night. Their counterattacks, which were extremely violent, especially at Avocourt Wood and north of Caurières Wood, were broken up by our fire. The enemy suffered heavy losses with no result. Our troops maintained all their gains and organized the captured positions. The number of unwounded prisoners taken by us yesterday exceeds 5,000, of whom 116 are officers.

Last night enemy airplanes bombarded positions in our rear, particularly a collection camp for German prisoners, of whom a large number were hit.

In Belgium our aviators bombarded the railway stations at Thourout, Roulers, and Staden. In the region of Verdun they bombarded the railway stations at Dun-sur-Meuse, Brieulles, and Fleville, and munitions depots at Bancheville, where they observed a great fire.

On Aug. 20 twenty-one German machines were brought down in aerial combats by our pilots. Most of them are reported to have been destroyed entirely. On Aug. 19 an airplane and a captive balloon of the enemy met with the same fate.

Victory Welcomed in Paris.

Yesterday's victory on the Verdun front was welcomed by the French people not only because after it the Germans no longer hold one of their dearly bought conquests won since the first onrush on the Verdun fortresses in February, 1916, but as proof that the unity

An "If" Used Now in German Calculations On Holding Out Through Another Winter

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 21.—The semi-official Cologne Gazette, a copy of which has been received here, says in an editorial that the peace proposal of Pope Benedict has met with a blunt rejection in Washington.

"The enemy's bluff does not frighten us," says the newspaper. "If we hold out one more Winter, then the worthlessness of American assistance will be patent to all, and nothing will remain for the enemy Governments but to admit to their befooled peoples that they have lost the game."

LABOR VOTE ON STOCKHOLM CLOSE

British Conference Gives Majority of Only 3,000 in Vote of Nearly 2,500,000.

CABINET MAY IGNORE IT

French Labor Confederation Also Accepts Invitation to Attend Socialist Convention.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—By the narrow margin of 3,000 in a vote representing nearly 2,500,000 workers, the British Labor Conference today decided to stand by its plan of sending delegates to the International Socialist Conference at Stockholm. The vote was attended by a turbulent scene. Part of the delegates sang a Socialist song and others the patriotic "Keep the Home Fires Burning."

William Purdy, Chairman of the British Labor Party, presided. On the platform were Arthur Henderson, the former member of the British War Council; James Ramsey MacDonald, ex-leader of the Labor Party; George Nicoll Barnes, Henderson's successor in the War Council; George J. Wardle, Chairman of the Labor Party in the House of Commons, and John R. Clynes and George H. Roberts, respectively Labor members of Parliament from Manchester and Norwich. Two Russian delegates also were present.

Arthur Henderson in an address denied that he had withheld deliberately or intentionally from the labor conference any information with reference to the Russian attitude toward the Stockholm conference. Premier Kerensky of Russia, he said, had been in favor of British representation at Stockholm. If he (Henderson) had failed or had erred it was only because of his loyalty to labor. He hoped the conference would not press for the withdrawal of labor members from the Government, because that policy, in his opinion, would be subversive to the national interests and the successful prosecution of the war.

The international situation, Mr. Henderson said, might change, and it might be that the various Governments would desire that the conference should be held in Stockholm. Premier Lloyd George had been in favor of the conference and he might be so again. What was a virtue in May ought not to be a crime for them in August.

George N. Barnes defended himself against attack and said he purposed to continue to support the Government in what he believed would be a successful effort to establish freedom in the world. He believed Germany had all to gain and the others all to lose from the Stockholm conference.

The following resolution was moved and seconded:

"The conference remains of the opinion that it is desirable for the British Labor Party to be represented at the International Socialist Conference about to be held, in order that the opinions of the party may not be misrepresented; and the conference notes with regret that the Government has expressed the intention of refusing passports and licenses for this purpose and directs that representations be made to the Government on the subject."

A representative of the Socialist Party moved an amendment that, the policy of the Labor Party now being admittedly incompatible with that of the Government, the conference decide to withdraw representatives of the Labor Party from participation in the Government.

The amendment met with considerable opposition and was withdrawn. The vote in favor of sending labor delegates to Stockholm stood 1,234,000 to 1,231,000.

In parliamentary circles the opinion is generally expressed that in view of the closeness of the vote of the conference the Government will adhere to its decision to refuse passports to delegates to the Stockholm Congress. John Hodge, the new Minister of Pensions, expressed the opinion that the vote had "killed the conference at Stockholm from the British labor point of view.

"I cannot believe, in fact," Mr. Hodge continued, "that the Government, in view of the result of today's vote, can do otherwise than refuse to issue passports."

Charles William Bowerman, Secretary of the Trades Union Congress, said: "A 3,000 majority in a division representing two and a half millions does not provide a strong mandate for an appeal to the Government to reverse its decision, nor does it convey the impression that the Stockholm Conference can usefully be attended by British delegates."

PARIS, Aug. 21.—MM. Goldenberg and Smirnoff of Petrograd, representing the Russian Council of Soldiers' and Workmen's Delegates, were received today by a committee of the General Confederation of Labor, and extended an invitation to the confederation to send representatives to the International Conference of Socialists at Stockholm. After considerable discussion the invitation was accepted.

AUSTRIAN LINES ON CARSO CRUMBLE

Monitors and Floating Batteries Support Italian Army's Advance Toward Trieste.

PRISONERS TOTAL 10,351

Defenses Between Corite and Selo Captured—War Office Sees Success in Sight.

ROME, Aug. 21.—The great battle on the Isonzo front continues without interruption. The War Office states that the Austrian line is beginning to bend and give way at various points. More than 10,000 prisoners had been taken up to yesterday evening. The army, supported by floating and fixed batteries and monitors, is marching toward success, which the official statement says is becoming delineated in spite of undiminished enemy resistance.

The present offensive is on a greater scale than any previous one. New features were the shortening of the period of artillery preparation, which lasted only twenty-four hours but was so arranged that beginning lightly it increased steadily and rapidly until a hurricane of shells was falling. Then when it suddenly ceased a squadron of airplanes flew in advance of the assaulting troops, forming the first line, using their machine guns on the Austrians at short range.

The official statement today reads:

The battle on the Julian front is proceeding without interruption. With great perseverance and concordant action our troops, efficaciously supported on the extreme right by floating and fixed batteries and by monitors of the Royal Navy, are marching toward success, which, in spite of the undiminished resistance of the enemy, is becoming delineated.

On the north wing the struggle is going on regularly on the Carso Plateau, and in the coastal zone. Under pressure of the third army, the enemy line is beginning to bend and give way at various points. Italian brigades, competing valor have succeeded in carrying the well organized enemy defenses between Corite and Selo, near the strongly fortified position of Starilokva.

Over the battle field 261 of our airplanes have flown. Troops massed between Selo and Comeno and on the eastern slopes of Monte Hermada were bombarded. Works at the Tarvis railway centre and enemy troops in movement there were bombed with five tons of high explosives. One of our pursuit machines did not return to its base. One enemy airplane was brought down.

Up to yesterday evening the total number of the enemy passing into our prisoner camps was 243 officers and 10,108 men. Many other wounded prisoners are in the field hospitals.

On Sunday night the enemy attempted a diversion by concentrating his fire and carrying out local attacks at various points on the Trentino and Carnia fronts. He was repulsed everywhere. One of his storming parties was destroyed in the Lagarina Valley, and another, which had succeeded in gaining a foothold in one of our advance posts southeast of Monte Maio, was driven back by a front counterattacks.

WITH THE ITALIAN ARMY ON THE CARSO, Aug. 21.—Puntas Dobba does not appear on ordinary maps. It is where the languid Isonzo leaks into the Adriatic through a maze of mud islands and a lagoon. The former are now masked with a six-foot high growth of reeds. Yesterday, awaiting events, I tried to bathe there and waded a mile before the water was up to my waist.

While I was wading there swam into sight a line of queer ships waddling up to their anchorage in the middle of the Gulf of Trieste. They steered like a haystack on a barge and steamed like a traction engine. They just ambled up to the point which was aimed at, found it clumsily and opened fire on the reverse of the Hermada. They were Italian monitors which are reaching from the sea to aid the ponderous forces which ashore are smashing against the granite front of the Hermada.

That is the measure of this great battle. It stretches from the sea, where warships supplement the army, across flats, where the shy Timavo ventures like an Austrian trench garrison into the daylight. It steps up to the heights and valleys of desolate stone, known as the Carso, sinks thence to that little wet hell of tangled trenches on the southern end of the Gorizia plain, swerves east of the conquered city of Gorizia to the tragic and blood-soaked heights of the hills of San Marco, sinks again across Sal Cano, Gorizia's northern fashionable suburb, then lifts to the murderous heights of Monte Satto, whose ruined monastery is sprawling in stone heaps. Then north it wanders intricately across a thousand crests and valleys like a highland mist.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WAR CORRESPONDENTS' HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 21.—By an attack in the early hours this morning the Canadians have drawn their lines still tighter around the inner defenses of Lens and thrust at least one post into the city itself.

One of the most astounding episodes of the war took place in this new assault, and as far as I can remember it is the first time it has happened. It was the clash of Canadian and German troops in No Man's Land, where they met in the mist and the vagueness of dawn by an attack on each side timed by chance at exactly the same moment.

The Germans had flung a heavy barrage an hour or so before onto the Canadian lines on the northwest of Lens and they had bombed very violently in reply. Then the storming line of Canadians went forward and came suddenly on an opposing line of men whose dark figures became visible as they drew forward out of the gloom.

The men came face to face, which is a rare, strange thing in this war, on open ground and fought each other with rifle fire and bayonets. They are fighting now and the Canadians have advanced on the left and on the right of their attack, while in the center they are hotly engaged. Advanced posts have been wedged right into the vast defensive system of the city and some Canadians, at least, are within Lens itself, although not far as yet beyond the outlying houses. Step by step, very steadily and very surely they have closed round Lens.

Advance on 2,000-Yard Front.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—The Canadians attacked the German trenches early this morning west and northwest of Lens, carrying important positions on a front of over a mile after some of the heaviest fighting of the war. A large number of prisoners were taken.

The battle raged all day and still continues tonight, according to tonight's official report fom the War Office. Two strong German counterattacks were beaten off northwest of the French mining city, while a third attack south of the town was broken up by the Canadian artillery.

The Associated Press correspondent at the front sends the following description of the attack:

"The Canadians have achieved their immediate object by drawing their lines still closer about the heart of the city and their goal, unless the German counterattacks succeed. By today's attack the Canadians have gained possession of many railway embankments and colliery sidings which afford excellent positions for either offensive or defensive operations.

Fighting Most Bitter.

"The Canadian assault extended from the northwest of the environs of the city to positions in the southwest suburbs, and as the Germans were already advancing to attack the new Canadian defenses the fighting quickly assumed the character of one of th emost sanguinary conflicts which this battle-scarred theatre has seen.

"On the northwest the Canadians and Germans clashed in no man's land just as the first gray streaks of day were appearing. From the start it was a struggle with hand bombs and bayonets, but the Canadians threw themselves upon the enemy with such fierceness that the Germans were forced to withdraw, battling step by step until the Canadians had penetrated their positions to a depth of several hundred yards and taken up new posts which they are holding against bitter counterthrusts.

"A circular line, around which the opposing forces are now fighting, is drawn close about the city proper, where the Germans had fortified themselves in concreted cellars and dugouts.

"No estimate of casualties or prisoners is yet possible, but captured Germans were beginning to arrive back of both fronts at an early hour."

The text of tonight's communication follows:

Early this morning we attacked the line of German trenches which skirts Lens to the west and northwest and captured the enemy's positions on a front of 2,000 yards.

Heavy fighting has taken place and still continues. At midday two strong counterattacks northwest of Lens were beaten off by our troops, and a third counterattack south of the town was broken up by our artillery.

We have captured a number of prisoners.

A hostile raid was repulsed early this morning northeast of Messines after sharp fighting.

Great activity in the air continued yesterday on both sides. Our airplanes successfully carried out their usual work, although the enemy aircraft were aggressive. In the air fighting nine German machines were brought down and seven were driven down out of control. Four of ours are missing.

The early statement said:

Early this morning the enemy made a third attempt to regain ground recently captured southeast of Epéhy. Although supported by flammenwerfer, his attacking troops were repulsed completely. We hold all our positions. East of Epéhy our troops raided the German lines on a wide front in the neighborhood of the St. Quentin Canal and brought back prisoners.

We improved our positions slightly during the night north of the Ypres-Menin road.

Guards Suffer Heavily in Fight.

By Canadian Press, Ltd.

CANADIAN HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Aug. 21.—Due south of Lens, almost two miles around a semi-circular front, a series of engagements have been fought, which, for hard hitting on both sides, has seldom been equalled during the struggle for Lens.

The cellars in this region had been crammed full of machine guns and trench mortars in expectation that the Canadian attack would consist entirely of a frontal assault. The German troops were also numerous, and they swarmed up from the cellars whenever the artillery fire was suspended to permit of our infantry going forward. They fought and died without any " kamerading."

All day the Germans have been bringing up fresh bodies of troops. A new guard division has been identified as the first guards reserve. Three battalions of this elite body of troops were thrown into battle this afternoon and suffered almost as greatly as the Fourth Guards Division last week. Another fresh formation identified is the Thirty-sixth Division. Since the artillery duel prior to the battle reached its height four German divisions, the Seventh, Eighth, Eleventh, and Twenty-second, have been withdrawn in an exhausted condition, and of the four enemy divisions now confronting the Canadian corps one-fourth of the guards are " all in."

Our casualties mount up, but are not to be compared to those of the Germans, whose dead lie thickly all along the front, and at some points are piled one upon another, as in the worst phases of the battle of the Somme.

Attacks by Germans in Volhynia Also Repulsed—Air Fights in Baltic Region.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 21.—The War Office communication issued today says:

In the direction of Dvinsk there have been animated fusillades. A more intense artillery bombardment on the part of the enemy took place in the region north of Lake Drisviaty. In the direction of Vladimir Volynskyi and north of Zaturze (Volhynia) the Germans carried out gas attacks and endeavored to develop an offensive, which was frustrated by our fire.

Rumanian Front: On the River Bistritza, in the region southeast of Krutche, the enemy launched several attacks, which were repulsed by our infantry.

Yesterday, in the direction of Ocna, the enemy undertook an energetic offensive south of the River Bloktu and along the mountainous range between the River Slanic and Oituz. Toward evening he succeeded in making a slight advance. Fighting for possession of the factory at Stakleris continued during the whole of yesterday, with varying success.

In the direction of Fokshani and west of Fokshani-Ajud Railway, the Rumanians beat off all German attacks. East of the railway by a series of counterattacks the Rumanians drove the enemy from trenches occupied by him the previous day and the position was restored.

On the Baltic Sea Sunday several squadrons of enemy hydroaeroplanes carried out three flights over the Oesel coast. In the Gulf of Riga our airmen, meeting the enemy, forced him to retire. Our airmen carried out a flight over the Courland coast line, where they dropped bombs on enemy military establishments.

BERLIN, Aug. 21, (via London.)—The War Office this evening gave out the following bulletin:

Eastern theatre: From the Dvina to the Danube the situation remains unchanged. In Macedonia there is nothing of importance to report.

KERENSKY'S GRIP TIGHTENS.

War and Interior Ministries Empowered to Arrest Agitators.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 21.—The Provisional Government has invested the Ministries of War and Interior jointly with the right to arrest persons whose activity constitutes a particular danger for the defense of the State and its internal security and liberty acquired by the revolution.

These Ministries are also empowered to call upon these persons to leave Russian territory within a fixed period, and to arrest them in case they do not do so, or in case they return to Russian on their own initiative.

Lieutenant General Korniloff, commander in chief of the Russian armies, has issued orders for a resumption of strict training for all the military forces, the free time of the soldiers to be devoted to gymnastics, drills and games, and for a cessation of all discussions. The order contains the statement: "Henceforth the only language in the army is command." This is significant in view of the abolition of the use of the word " command " since the revolution.

General Korniloff calls upon the intellectual element in the army to assist in providing games and theatricals for the amusement of the soldiers.

ARTHUR SHATTUCK AIDS WAR RELIEF FUND

Pianist Turns Over $60,000 Annual Income to Aid Destitute Musicians.

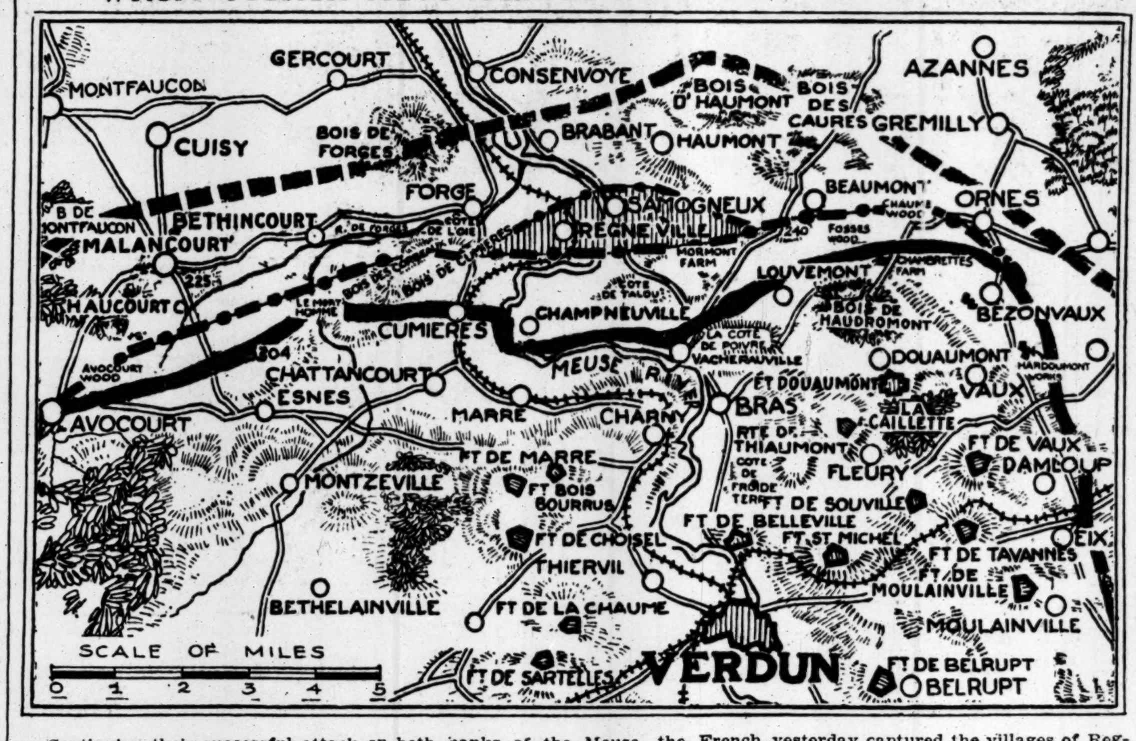
CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Arthur Shattuck, the concert pianist, who inherited a large estate upon the death of his father, F. C. Shattuck, a Wisconsin paper manufacturer, has turned the entire income from the estate over to war relief for the duration of the conflict, it was learned today. Shattuck expects to earn his own living by giving concerts.

The Harris Trust and Savings Bank was appointed trustee to carry out the plan. At the bank it was said that the income amounts to more than $60,000 a year. Mr. Shattuck particularly desires to aid European associates and colleagues of the musical profession who have been made destitute.

For three years Mr. Shattuck's home in Paris has been used by war victims, and when the United States joined the Allies he turned his yacht over to the Government.

Shattuck was educated at Vienna and Paris and made his début at Copenhagen with the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra at the age of 20. His tours carried him from the Balkan States as far north as Iceland. He made his American début several years ago with the New York Symphony Orchestra.

Where French Have Gained Further North of Verdun.



Continuing their successful attack on both banks of the Meuse, the French yesterday captured the villages of Regnéville and Samogneux, the famous Cote de l'Oie, and a whole system of fortified trenches between Samogneux and Hill 344, taken yesterday. The prisoners exceed 5,000 with many yet uncounted.

FRENCH WIN MORE TOWNS NEAR VERDUN

of action among the Entente Allies is at work.

The British, Italian, and French fronts are all active at the same time, making it possible that weakness may develop somewhere along the German and Austrian lines confronting them. The Figaro, however, warns its readers against expecting too much.

" Experience has shown," the Figaro says, " that it is vain to hope to pierce a front which incessantly closes after the breach has been made. At Verdun, as in Flanders, the object is to strike the enemy the most powerful blow possible and then to await an opportunity to strike again. It is not the territory rewon that counts, but the losses inflicted."

It is admitted in military circles that an offensive with a three days' preliminary bombardment cannot be a surprise. The German press has shown for ten days that the present attack had been expected, even the exact extent of the front from Avocourt Wood to Ornes being stated. The precise minute when a bombardment will cease, or rather be changed to a barrage fire, cutting off the first stage of the infantry rush, however, remains a secret.

Thus the Germans were surprised at 4:40 o'clock yesterday morning when the French made a bound along some fifteen miles of front, and it was twelve good minutes before the German barrage fire opened.

This delay allowed the French to occupy the first German lines without losses. They were found to be almost empty at one point. Only on the slopes of Talou Hill did a single company succeed in holding out in a subterranean stronghold. With its young Second Lieutenant as the only officer the entire company was taken prisoner.

By 6 o'clock a French aviator returned and dropped a sketch of Le Mort Homme marked with crosses showing the points occupied. An hour later a homing pigeon brought news that Hill 304 and Le Mort Homme on the left bank of the Meuse and Hill 344 on the right bank had been occupied.

The Germans used only asphyxiating shells for their barrage fire, thus placing the French troops under the handicap of wearing masks.

Germans Belittle French Gains.

BERLIN, Aug. 21, (via London.)—The battle before Verdun has not yet ended, the German General Headquarters Staff announced today. This morning fresh engagements developed at various places. The statement adds:

" Our troops and leaders anticipate a favorable conclusion of the battle."

The announcement says that the mighty Verdun struggle swayed to and fro during the whole day. West of the Meuse only Dead Man Hill and the southern fringe of Raven Wood remained in the hands of the French. East of the river, on Hill 344, southeast of Samogneux, and in Fosse Wood, the French won a little ground. Against the small local success of the French, the announcement adds, must be set the failure of their attack on a front of twenty kilometers (12½ miles).

The text of the statement follows:

Army Group of Crown Prince Rupprecht.—Apart from a temporarily strong and destructive fire in some sectors of Flanders and on the Arras front, there have been no fighting operations on a large scale.

Army Group of the German Crown Prince.—The first day of the battle before Verdun had the same result for the French as the great English attacks in Flanders had for the English on July 31 and Aug. 16; superiority in material and reckless use of men could not break the German fighting force. Against a small local success must be set the failure of the attack on a front of over twenty kilometers.

Powerful artillery preparation for the great thrust which the French Army was to conduct at England's command began on Aug. 11. From Avocourt Wood to the eastern fringe of Caurières Wood our positions were turned into a wide and desolate crater field by the enemy's artillery firing, which increased to most extreme intensity for a few hours before the attack early yesterday morning of the French infantry, who were in dense waves which came forward to assault in deep echelons behind the artillery fire that had been lifted forward to protect them.

In many places native and white French troops penetrated our defensive zone in which every step forward had to be wrested from our fighting troops with sanguinary losses. Bitter hand-to-hand fighting and powerful counterattacks drove back the enemy almost everywhere. The mighty struggle swayed to and fro through the whole day.

On the western bank of the Meuse only the height of Le Mort Homme and the southern fringe of Raven (Corbeaux) Wood remained in the hands of the French. There we are situated in close proximity to the northern slope of the hill.

On the eastern bank of the Meuse the fighting line has been still less deflected. Only on Height 344 and in Fosse Wood has the enemy won a little ground. The measures taken by our leaders proved splendid, as did also the typical tenacity and bravery of the infantry. The artillery is also deserving of full praise. The effect of its destructive fire against the enemy forward works appreciably impeded the advance to the attack, and the artillery also took a prominent part in our successful defense. The other arms, particularly the pioneers and aviators, materially assisted in the satisfactory termination of the day.

The losses to the French infantry in relation to the masses used are extraordinarily high. The battle before Verdun has not terminated this morning. Fresh engagements developed at various places. Both leaders and troops anticipate a favorable conclusion.

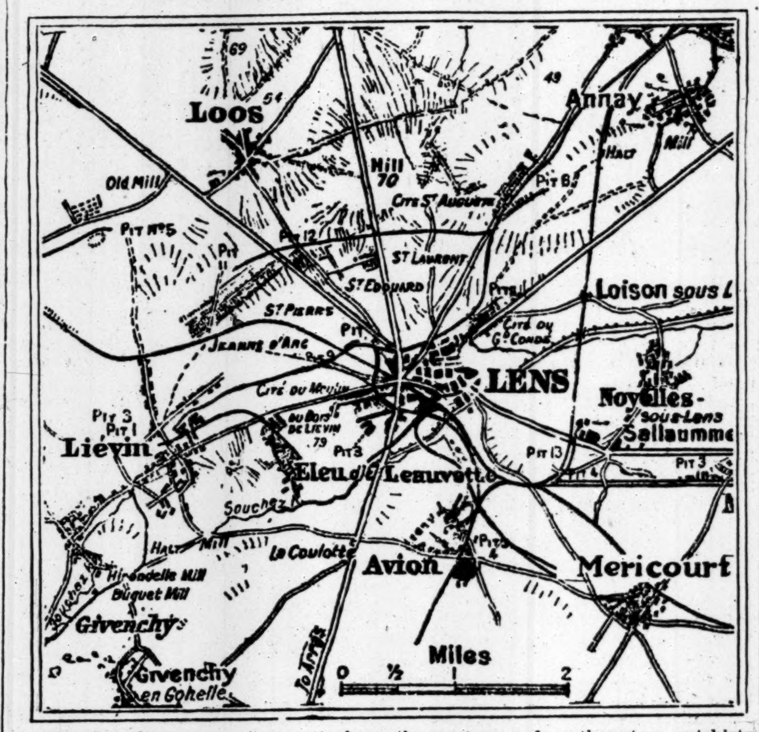
Twenty-six enemy airmen were shot down; we lost five airplanes.

The evening official statement from General Headquarters reads:

In Flanders there was artillery activity of varying intensity. North of Lens local engagements have taken place.

Before Verdun at isolated points fighting is still proceeding, particularly on Hill 304, (344?) We repulsed strong French attacks.

Where Canadians Won at Lens.



The Canadian troops, in an attack on the western and northwestern outskirts of Lens, captured German trenches on a front of 2,000 yards, after very severe fighting. The Germans launched an attack at the same moment as the British troops, and the opposing forces came together between the trenches.

TALON RIDGE PIVOT OF BATTLE

French Went Beyond Their Ozjectives in First Day's Fighting.

BY G. H. PERRIS.

Copyright, 1917, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ON THE FRENCH FRONT NEAR VERDUN, Aug. 21. The first day of the French offensive more than fulfilled expectations. Rather more than the amount of ground planned for has been taken and so far none of it has been lost, although German counterattacks have been made on the extreme left in Avocourt Wood and on Dead Man Hill and Hill 344, which were the essential objectives. The latter is the culmination point of Talou Ridge and lies between the villages of Samogneux and Beaulmont which it dominates.

It will be seen that the field of attack is divided by the wide, marshy valley of the Meuse, which is here overlooked by neighboring hills. There are evident disadvantages in the right and left of an advancing army being thus severed, but the nature of the ground offers an imperative reason against attacking on one bank only. The hills just beyond the old front command not only the valley between but the slopes on the opposite sides of the river, so that if only one wing is pushed forward it would be enfiladed from the other bank.

Dead Man Hill is peculiarly important in this respect and may be described as the pivot of yesterday's battle. Its capture in a single day, though it was tunnelled and very strongly intrenched, contrasts singularly with the prolonged and bloody effort that it cost the Germans to take it last Summer. If they make any attempts to recover this stronghold we shall at once see the consequence of the support which it receives from the neighboring saddle and ridge of Crow Wood and Camières Woods, now woods only in name, and from Talou ridge and Hill 344, on the east of the river. The front is also notably extended in front of Louvemont and Douaumont.

On the French right complete precautions were taken against the operation being interfered with by a flank attack from the Woevre. In the detailed plans the same minute care, foresight, and control were practiced as secured the remarkable preliminary victories of October and December last. Now as then every known brain is behind the high, almost mystical spirit of Verdun.

General Pétain is very far from being a sensationalist. His method is to make every step sure. I do not find any simple illusions among his lieutenants. They do not expect any easy or speedy victory, but rather obstinate resistance. Their method is strike blow on blow, each so powerful and so minutely prepared as to reduce to a minimum their losses and the possibilities of failure until at length the moral and material power of the enemy cracks, breaks and fails to rum. Yesterday this method was well illustrated.

The positions taken are tactically important singly and together. The German losses are believed to exceed greatly the French. They include over 4,000 prisoners—a great haul from picked troops on a single day. A measure of surprise was secured in the assault over much of the front. It went in a strong wave and the German barrage fire was late when the mischief was done. The aviators worked bravely and the experiment of raking the enemy trenches by the flying machines' guns accompanying the infantry assault was again successfully practiced.

Ambulances Go Up to Front Line—Aviators to the Fore.

GRAND HEADQUARTERS OF THE FRENCH ARMIES IN FRANCE, Aug. 21.—The enthusiasm of the French troops over their splendid victory yesterday was so great that they demanded, despite fatigue and hardships, that they be permitted to advance even further.

American ambulances brought in the first batches of French wounded, these cars proceeding under fire right toward the front of the fighting line. Their work is greatly praised, as is also that of the American aviators who participated in the gallant deeds of the French squadrons, descending to low altitudes and pouring their machine gun fire into the columns of German infantry assembling for counterattacks. Not only this, but in fighting off enemy air scouts, who were endeavoring to observe the movements of the French attacking forces, the Americans played a conspicuous and courageous part.

were being restrained. Why restrain them? I want to offer a motion to pull every yard in New York." This was received with loud cheers from the strikers and overruled by the Chairman, who said it was out of order.

Keppler Starts Fresh Storm.

The Chairman then called upon J. J. Keppler, Vice President of the International Machinists, to propose a resolution. This caused another series of yells: " Pull the navy yard! "

" You can win without pulling the navy yard," Keppler said. " Don't go on record as saying that you will not return to work unless the navy yard is pulled tomorrow."

Louis Weyland, Second Vice President of the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, urged upon the men to rely upon the Trades Council to adjust their grievances.

After the meeting was adjourned the officials of the unions said that although the men had insisted upon calling out the navy yard at once it could not be done, as the workers themselves have to hold a meeting there and decide on this question. They also said that the end of the strike was in sight, in their opinion, and everything would be adjusted within the next few weeks.

One of the officials said that Keppler meant to say that there would not have been any strike if the owners had agreed to pay the shipyard workers their demands, and therefore no rumors of German money being at the back of the dispute—only he put it rather awkwardly.

CHEERING THRONGS WELCOME BELGIANS

Mayor Tells Envoys All New York Feels Deeply for Belgium in Her Suffering.

SOLDIERS LINE STREETS

Baron Moncheur Expresses Gratitude of His People for America's Great Help.

The members of the special Belgian Commission to the United States, who arrived in New York late on Monday night, were officially received and welcomed yesterday by Mayor Mitchel and the city. The cheerful enthusiasm with which Joffre and Viviani were followed wherever they went was not so much in evidence yesterday. It had been officially announced that since the Belgian envoys came from a land in mourning they wanted no formal dinner, no elaborate social events to welcome them. And in the temper of the crowds that greeted them there was less of ebullient shouting than of sympathetic deference to the representatives of a nation which had sacrificed itself to preserve the pledged faith on which the world had depended.

There was another differnece between the reception to the Belgians and the reception to the French. Three months ago Joffre and Viviani came to a city in holiday dress, a city which received them as if they were coming back at the end of a victorious war; a city where the war as yet was something remote, something to be hurrahed over. Yesterday there was a grimness about the town. Where semi-social organizations were called out in gorgeous uniform to receive the French, the Belgians saw real soldiers on every hand.

The party left their quarters at the Biltmore at 9 o'clock in the morning and drove to the Charities' Department pier at 120th Street and the East River. Here they took a boat and went down the river, past the Brooklyn Navy Yard, and around Governors Island, landing at the Battery at a little after 11.

Here Troops B and D of Squadron A, under Major Wright, together with a platoon of mounted police, under Lieutenant Walsh, were waiting, and headed the procession of automobiles when the party drove away to the City Hall. Major Gen. Daniel Appleton and other members of the Mayor's Reception Committee greeted the Commissioners at the Battery and drove up with them through lower Broadway, where the black, gold and red of Belgium hung from every building. There were cheers all the way to City Hall Park.

On the steps of the hall were banked Boy Scouts and white-clad youngsters of the Junior Naval Reserve. On either side were drawn up soldiers of the Seventh Regiment, Companies A, B, C, and D, under Major James Schuyler; and opposite them was a long double line of white-clad sailors and marines in faded khaki from the dreadnought Wyoming, commanded by Lieutenant J. S. Dowell. The Seventh's band and the Wyoming band both burst into " La Brabançonne," the national anthem of Belgium, as the members of the mission dismounted in front of the City Hall and started up the steps; and the boys gathered before them shouted in Flemish and French, " Belgica! Belgica! Vriend van America! Vivent les Belges! "

Welcomed by the Mayor.

Mayor Mitchel and Frederic R. Coudert, Chairman of the Mayor's Committee to greet the visitors, stood just inside the door and greeted Baron Moncheur, head of the mission, and M. de Cartier de Marchienne, the Belgian Minister at Washington, as they came in at the head of the civilians and soldiers of the party.

" Of all the communities of this broad land," said Mayor Mitchel in the Aldermanic Chamber, " each generous, each devoted with the passionate spirit of American nationality to the cause of human freedom, each resentful of tyranny, each full of compassion for the victims of brutal aggression, there is none in which the cruel sufferings of Belgium and her people meet with a readier response in sympathy or evoke a fiercer hatred of the savage, conscienceless, faithless, militaristic autocracy of the Hohenzollerns that inflicted them than in the City of New York.

" Gentlemen, all this we have felt and still feel for Belgium. But today we are bound to her by a closer tie. We are now allied in a common cause. America has entered this war in part, it is true, in self-preservation, but in part also that Belgium may have justice. If out of this fearful struggle comes, as we are resolved there must, a guarantee that small nations for the future shall be secure against aggression and destruction by the mighty, the sacrifice of Belgium, the sacrifice of America, the sacrifice of France, of England, of Italy, of Russia, the supreme sacrifice of Belgium will not have been in vain."

Mr. Coudert referred to the previous missions which had been welcomed in the same place, but declared that the Belgian mission represented more than any of the others. " You represent incarnate and embodied," he said, " the great cause of America and of civilized mankind. There was no instance in the world's history so momentous as those first three days in August when the fate of the whole world hung on Belgium. Belgium had everything to lose save honor, and the nations waited on her choice. When the cannon opened on Liége that was the greatest day since the dawn of the Christian era."

He spoke of the " craven voices " which have been urging peace in America along with those " bought by the enemy's gold."

Baron Moncheur Responds.

Baron Moncheur responded in English for the mission. He said:

" Your Honor, Ladies and Gentlemen: On behalf of myself and my colleagues of the Belgian Mission I thank you most sincerely for your very cordial invitation to your city and for the cordial welcome which you are giving us here. The eloquent words which I have heard will fill us with confidence and hope. We have been sent by our King to express to the Government of the United States, and through the Government to the all-noble American Nation, the heartfelt thanks of our sovereign, of our Government, and of all our people, our thanks for the generous aid that has been given to our stricken fellow-citizens, and for what America is now going to win back—our independence, and to make the world safe for liberty-loving nations.

" It has been our privilege to make an extended tour of your country, and we had the opportunity of expressing our sentiments of gratitude in many places throughout your wide land, but we feel that nowhere can one reach the heart of America better than in this great metropolis of your country, which has, I may say, become the metropolis of the world.

" Mr. Mayor, as envoys of our King and of our nation, we have many things for which to thank the citizens of your great metropolis. It was there that the first movement was started for the relief of our suffering people immediately after the wanton destruction of Louvain. As the needs of our people increased your unbounded charity and sympathy increased with it. Your sympathy and help have never failed. You have not only given us of your treasure in our necessity, but you are now giving us your blood to win back our freedom. No words can express our sentiments, but I offer to you, Mr. Mayor, and through you to all the people of New York, the heartfelt gratitude of my sovereign and of every Belgian."

Present Flag and Medal.

After an informal reception the party left the City Hall and drove up Lafayette Street to Fourth Street and to Washington Square. The streets were lined with people all the way, and a large crowd had gathered in the square behind troops of the Twenty-third Infantry and the 600 members of the Wanamaker Cadet Battalion, whose band burst into " La Brahan Conne," as the party drew near. Under the arch Colonol W. D. Earnest, Commander of the Cadets, with John Wanamaker and Rodman Wanamaker, presented to Baron Moncheur an American flag, a city flag, and a medal.

Then the party drove on up the avenue. Along the eastern side, all the way from the square to Twenty-third Street, men of the Twenty-third, Seventy-first and First Infantry, composing the Second Brigade now in camp at Van Cortlandt Park, were drawn up at present arms.

At the Biltmore the commission partook of a private lunch, and left at 2:30 o'clock for a motor trip through Brooklyn. The party drove across the Queensboro Bridge and through back streets of Long Island City, Greenpoint, and Williamsburg, then across Prospect Park and down Ocean Parkway to Coney Island. Here the cars turned west along Surf Avenue and gave the visitors a chance to see Coney with a good weekday crowd. Then the expedition turned northward and drove along Cropsey Avenue and Fort Hamilton Parkway back to the foot of Thirty-ninth Street. Here they got aboard the ferryboat Mayor Gaynor and were brought back through the bay and up the North River to the foot of West Forty-second Street, where they landed and drove back to the Biltmore.

In the evening an informal dinner with about seventy-five covers was given at the Ritz. A statement issued for the Mayor's Committee asserted that this was not given by the Mayor or the committee, but by private individuals, and there were no speeches.

Today the heads of the party will be entertained at lunch by Colonel Roosevelt at Oyster Bay.

could draw the front upon the map accurately, because even while the pencil moved the line of Italian victory would have changed. Victory goes creeping on, but in each hour it gains ground. I suppose the Austrians have feelings like the rest of God's creatures, and there are moments when I am sorry for these slaves and dupes of Germany.

This is the greatest of Italian battles that the great war genius, Cadorna, held in his hand till it armed as it never armed before. His artillery compares even with the masses of guns on the Somme, where fresh from Russia I saw howitzers and field guns standing wheel to wheel over miles of country and heard for the first time in my life 10,000 shells fired in a single hour. The English batteries here alone fired 15,000 shells in the first twenty-four hours.

Yesterday I saw the Carso boiling like a cauldron. Every dreary distance of that stong desert was obscured by the drift of gun smoke and the sudden jump of shell fountains reddened with the blood colored earth of this wilderness. In that mist of death and terror the sturdy silent infantry of Italy was working at its heroic trade. It served to convey in the restricted medium of telegram that stubborn motive, that outward joylessness, that grey dusty effect which these fine battalions make on the English observer. They d not sing, they do not swagger, but go soberly into action with a kind of devout viciousness which one attributes to Cromwell's " Ironsides " and they bring back victory.

I cannot yet precisely indicate their gaints, but these would only be worth anything on a map. Yesterday's figure of prisoners was swelled to over 10,000. The Italians enumerate only those captives who are actually in cages, so each day's total excludes the melancholy convoys still trudging along the roads. I asked a certain General this morning how many machine guns he had taken. " Goodness knows," he replied. " I am sending lorries to fetch them in."

I walker today over a hill upon the Carso where it had ben hitherto impossible to show one's self in daylight. I looked down into the great Bristovizza Valley which was captured in the offensive of last May.

There is no knowing from the moment exactly where we stand. The Austrians are in strength, and the Italian victory is hard won against choice troops. The Italian grenadiers had been into and out of various positions at least twice, and their success in this assault against a filthy Carso village, organized into a triple line of superb defenses, is not yet officially announced. The Selo defenses at the southern side of the Carso, a stone heap changing contour daily under unceasing gunfire, are in Italian hands, and they are blowing out a sort of bladder of positions between the remains of Selo and the shell devastated hole in the ground which was formerly the pauper hamlet of Cofite.

I spoke yesterday of the spirit and morale of the Italian troops. Today I can confirm my original impression of their plan. Prisoners with whom I have spoken repeat parrotlike their yearning for peace. A Rumanian Sergeant talking perfect German, said to me:

" It is time we had less of the Kaiser and more of God."

ALLIES REJECT POPE'S PEACE PLEA

would be rather like an exclamation point to the note," one observer remarked.

All that is known here of the time when the Americans may take a position on the front is that recent intimations have come from France that it will be soon. It has been stated at the War Department that the American forces may even take up a position without the previous knowledge of officials here as to the precise time, indicating that General Pershing has complete discretion in this respect.

There is no necessity for the United States to send an acknowledgment of the receipt of the Pope's note, as has been done in the case of Great Britain, as this Government received it through the medium of the British Foreign Office. It was incumbent upon Great Britain to inform the Vatican that its communication had been delivered to all countries to which London was asked to forward it.

At the State Department today it was repeated that there would be an interchange of views among the countries at war with Germany before answers are sent to the Pope. Whether the United States or the Allies will reply first is not known. It is regarded as likely that America's note will be the first to be forwarded, although one argument against this course was thought to be the greater effect President Wilson's communication would have were it to be the last word rather than the first.

Russia Wants More Help.

The statement issued yesterday by the Russian Ambassador, M. Bakhmeteff, that the Vatican's proposals were inconsistent with Russian aims, was commented upon widely today. The members of the Russian mission to this country and Ambassador Bakhmeteff were in Boston today, but will return to Washington tomorrow, when they will begin a series of conferences with the members of the Root Mission.

It is known that Russian officials have been somewhat disappointed over the fact that the assistance which Russia sought here has not been forthcoming as quickly and in as large volume as Russia desired. It has been said that Russian experts have estimated that at least $1,000,000,000 ought to be lent to Russia by America. The two missions will collaborate upon the information each possesses, and it is understood that after they jointly consider the situation in Russia in all its phases, there will be framed a recommendation to be submitted to President Wilson for his approval. In the meantime considerable aid is being furnished Russia. Ships, foodstuffs, and materials are being supplied, with priority in several instances.

AUSTRIA LIKES POPE'S PLAN.

But Suggests He Couldn't Mean Giving Up of Territory to Italy.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 21.—A telegram from the Official Corr Bureau of Vienna seems to indicate that Austria-Hungary will accept the Pope's peace proposal. A summary of Austro-Hungarian press opinion, circulated by the Vorr Bureau, says:

" The newspapers regard the concrete proposals in the peace methods as a suitable basis for beginning peace negotiations, but doubt whether the Entente shares this hope."

In view of the usual methods of the Corr Bureau in preparing such summaries, this can probably be regarded as the Government's voice.

The bureau then suggests that when the Pope referred to territorial questins between Austria and Italy he could not have had Austrian soil in mind because the alienation was not to be discussed.

VATICAN CONTINUES HOPEFUL.

Informed by Britain That Note Will Be Seriously Considered.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, Aug. 21.—The Papal appeal for peace is the result of several months' constant work, performed not only here by the Pontiff and his assistants, but in all European countries where the Holy See has official or unofficial representatives.

Monsignor Pacelli, recently appointed Nuncio at Munich, has been efficacious in his efforts with the Central Powers, while Monsignor Cerretti has used all his influence with England, where he is favorably known, after having been for several years Apostolic Delegate to Australia.

" What the Pope wishes is," according to a prominent Cardinal, " that his new proposal should not be repulsed without discussion, feeling certain that if the two groups of belligerents can be induced to enter discussions, even through an intermediary, the war cannot continue long."

By The Associated Press.

ROME, Aug. 21.—The reply of the British Government to the peace note of Pope Benedict was handed to Cardinal Gasparri, the Papal Secretary of State, by the British Minister on Monday. The reply says that the Pope's note will be examined in a benevolent and serious spirit.

Cardinal Gasparri expressed to the British Minister the hope that the belligerents would give approval to four fundamental propositions in the Papal note, similar ideas having already been set forth by responsible Ministers of Great Britain, Russia, France, Germany, and Austria, while President Wilson's peace message, in the opinion of the Cardinal, implied almost the whole of the Pope's program.

It having been asserted in the press that the Pope was urged to work for peace by Empress Zita of Austria-Hungary, the Vatican states that the Pontiff has no personal acquaintance with the Empress and has never received any communication from her on any subject.

It has been reported on several occasions that the Austrian Empress, who was born in the Italian Province of Lucca, has been working assiduously for peace.

BAR ALSACE DISCUSSION.

Forecast of Michaelis's Peace Speech to Reichstag Committee.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 21.—At the meeting of the Main Committee of the Reichstag called for today, Chancellor Michaelis was expected to declare the Pope's peace note in general accord with the German Government's peace proposal of Dec. 12, 1916, and the recent Reichstag resolution on the same subject, and therefore to be sympathetically received in Germany.

Germany cannot discuss details, and particularly under no circumstances can it enter into a discussion of the status of Alsace-Lorraine as a part of the German Empire. The Chancellor, according to this forecast, will say that as Germany has earlier indicated its desire to make peace the first word must come from the other side.

A meeting of the Bundesrat Committee on Foreign Affairs had been called for yesterday in Berlin under the Chairmanship of the Bavarian Premier, Count Hertling, to discuss the situation created by the Pope's note and to approve the lines of Chancellor Michaelis's speech to the Reichstag Committee today.

Moscow Conference Plans.

MOSCOW, Aug. 21.—The sitting of the State conference Aug. 25-27, to consider the political situation and plans for the new national Government, will be held in the great state theatre here. The public will not be admitted, but places have been reserved for the members of the diplomatic corps. Premier Kerensky, who will preside, will at the opening of the session on Aug. 25 read a statement on the political situation and the economic life of the country. The second day will be devoted to speeches by representatives of the various political groups.

GRAND DUKES INSIST ON RIGHT TO VOTE

With ex-Czar and Grand Duchesses Protest Against Being Excluded From Elections.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 21.—A letter of protest against the prohibition of the former imperial family from participating in the coming elections has been addressed by Grand Dukes Nicholas Michaelovitch and Paul Alexandrovitch to Vassaili Maklakoff, who is charged with working out a plan for the Constituent Assembly. The letter bears also the signatures of virtually all the other Grand Dukes and Grand Duchesses, and states that the former Emperor joins in the protest.

In another communication to Premier Kerensky, Grand Duke Paul Alexandrovitch asks permission to make his home in Sweden, alleging that he finds the cost of living in Russia burdensome.

TWO ARE CAUGHT IN DRAFT BRIBERY NET

Doctor and Insurance Agent Arrested on Charge of Taking Money to Exempt Men.

MARKED BILLS HANDED OVER

Prisoners, Held in Heavy Bail, Refuse to Make Any Admission to Federal Authorities.

An offer on the part of Lazarus Jacobson, a life insurance agent, living at 170 South Third Street, Brooklyn, to obtain the exemption of Joseph Levy, a clerk, of 185 South Second Street, Brooklyn, provided Levy paid $75 in cash and gave up his diamond ring, resulted in the arrest yesterday afternoon of Jacobson and Dr. Henry Seligman of 740 Driggs Avenue, Brooklyn. Both are locked up in the Raymond Street Jail on a charge of accepting bribes to exempt men of draft age. Dr. Seligman was attached to the examining staff of Local Board 52, with headquarters in Public School 50, at Christopher Avenue and Jackman Street, in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn.

Dr. Seligman is said to be a subject of Austria-Hungary, and this is now being investigated by the Secret Service. Seligman, who has lived many years in this country, appeared at the Naturalization Bureau in Brooklyn about three weeks ago and applied for his first papers. He had to do this before he could assist in the physical examination. Furthermore, it became known that Seligman assisted in the examination of twenty men who appeared before Board 54, at Driggs Avenue and South Sixth Street, Brooklyn, for examination. Those among the twenty who were rejected will be recalled for examination. More than 150 men will be recalled for examination by Board 52 as a result of Dr. Seligman's activities.

When Seligman and Jacobson were arraigned before United States Commissioner McGoldrick in Brooklyn late yesterday afternoon, Assistant United States District Attorney Henry W. Beer, representing the Government, charged that Dr. Seligman has "been concerned in thirty transactions," and asked that because of the importance of the case bail be fixed in a large sum. Mr. Beer said the Government has ample evidence against both men. Commissioner McGoldrick held the prisoners in $10,000 bail each to wait the action of the Grand Jury. Deputy Attorney General Conkling said:

"I want to emphasize the fact that there is no breath of suspicion against any of the regular members of Board 52, and until the arrest of Seligman and Jacobson this afternoon they knew nothing of the crooked work that was going on. The board, when informed that exemptions had been sold, immediately and without suggestion from any of the higher Federal authorities ordered every man who has been rejected for physical reason to reappear for another examination. These new examinations will be made by Dr. Walter Hurley, the medical member of the board, who is one of the most reputable physicians in this city."

The information which resulted in the arrest of Dr. Seligman and Jacobson was given to United States Marshal James M. Power last Friday night. Marshal Power allowed Joseph Levy, who acted as a decoy for the Government, to tell how he was approached by Jacobson, who promised exemption on the payment of $200. Levy is physically unfit, but he was informed that unless he paid the bribe he would probably be certified for service. Levy was posted for examination by Board 52 last week, and on Friday morning he was approached by Jacobson.

"You have been called for examination, I understand," Jacobson remarked after greeting Levy.

"Yes, I have, what about it?" replied Levy.

"Oh, nothing very much except that for $200 I can get you exemption," Levy says Jacobson told him.

"It is not necessary for me to pay, for I will be exempted anyway, as I am lame," replied Levy.

"That makes no difference at all, and you will have to come across if you want exemption," Jacobson replied, according to Levy.

"All right, I will think it over," Levy answered, and he arranged to meet Jacobson near a Williamsburg barber shop on Monday night. About this time Marshal Power was informed about what was going on, and he sent a deputy to take Levy to his office. Marshal Power then told Levy to keep his appointment and be careful to remember everything that was said at the barber shop conference and to agree to pay for his exemption. Monday night Levy met Jacobson and the two went to the barber shop. Dr. Seligman was in there, according to Levy, and Jacobson told Levy to remain outside while he went in and talked with the doctor. When Jacobson came out he said:

"Well, Levy, there is nothing to it. You will have to get the money."

"I don't know whether I can scrape up $200 or not, but I will do the best I can," Levy said, and he agreed to meet Jacobson at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Levy reported back to Marshal Power and was given seven marked $10 bills and one $5 bill. Levy met Jacobson at the appointed time. Not far away were Detectives Peter Thornton and John Maser of the Brooklyn Detective Bureau.

"Have you got the money?" was the first question Jacobson asked.

"I have $75, and that is all I can raise," replied Levy. Jacobson looked at Levy's hand and noted the diamond ring.

"What about that ring? What can you hock that for?" he asked.

"About $45," Levy replied.

"All right, give me the $75 and the ring, and we will call it square and I will see to it that you are exempted," said Jacobson.

Levy handed over the money and the ring and the detectives put Jacobson under arrest. He was taken to detective headquarters, and Levy, acting under orders from Marshal Power, proceeded to the board headquarters to be examined. He took his proper place in the line and in a few minutes Dr. Seligman, he says, approached him. Seligman immediately began the examination of Levy.

"I guess you have flat feet, haven't you?" the doctor said, according to Levy.

"I don't think so," Levy replied.

"Oh, yes, you have," replied Dr. Seligman, and despite the protest Levy was rejected for having flat feet. Then Dr. Seligman was arrested. The prisoners were subjected to a long examination by Mr. Beer, Marshal Power, and Mr. Conkling, but neither of them would make any admission.

REJECT GEORGE J. GOULD, JR.

Exemption Board Drops Him for Physical Reasons.

TOMS RIVER, N. J., Aug. 22.—George J. Gould, Jr., of New York who appeared before the local Exemption Board here today for examination for the national army was rejected for physical reasons. Through a miscarriage of the mails Mr. Gould failed to receive his notice to appear, it having been sent to the Lakewood address, and the first intimation he had of his having to appear was when he read it in a newspaper on Monday.

He telegraphed to Sheriff Brown of Ocean County that he would be on hand and motored to Toms River, arriving at the courthouse in the morning. He entered the court just as his name was called. The examination was immediately begun and lasted about thirty minutes. Both Dr. Thomas J. Buchanan, head surgeon, and John Lewis Lane, assistant, examined him. At the close of the examination he chatted for a few minutes with some Lakewood friends and then left in his car.

CUBA GIVES TO US FOUR GERMAN SHIPS

President Menocal Refuses to Lease or Sell Vessels, Totaling 20,000 Tons.

HAVANA, Aug. 21.—At the Presidential Palace today, in the presence of General Marti, Secretary of War and Navy, and William E. Gonzales, United States Minister to Cuba, President Menocal signed a decree transferring to the United States Government four large German steamships—the Bavaria, Olivant, Adelheid, and Constantia—of an aggregate tonnage of approximately 20,000 tons, which were seized as prizes of war by the Cuban Government on the day this country declared war against Germany.

The first three named ships are in Havana Harbor, where they have been undergoing repairs for several months The Constantia is at Cienfuegos. The Kadonia, the fifth and smallest of the ships seized by the Cuban Government, is retained as a transport for army supplies.

It is announced that Minister Gonzales, acting as the representative of the United States Shipping Board, will take possession of the ships tomorrow. Minister Gonzales, when asked the amount the United States Government was paying for these ships, replied: "Absolutely nothing."

"President Menocal," he continued, "declined to consider offers to purchase or lease, whether made by Governments, navigation companies, or individuals. He regards these prizes of war, not as agencies for commercial profits, but to be used, as he states in his decree, for the common benefit in aiding to bring the war against the Government of Germany to a prompt and victorious end. President Menocal would not sell them, but he has given them to the United States. It is just another illustration of Cuba's generols spirit and of her earnest purpose to co-operate with her allies to the full extent of her power."

NEEDS $400,000,000 FOR NEW DESTROYERS

Daniels Finds That Private Plants Must Be Enlarged to Carry Out Program.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The sum of $400,000,000 is needed to realize Secretary Daniel's hopes of doubling the number of destroyers now building and contracted for by the Government. It was admitted at the Navy Department today that if more destroyers were to be constructed, the Government not only must finance the concerns agreeing to build them, but it must also condemn the land upon which the plants were to be raised, and grant priority to the companies receiving the contracts, so that they might obtain the necessary materials.

Representatives of twenty-five companies in conferences with Secretary Daniels yesterday on the destroyer building program informed him that they could not build the ships nor increase their plants without financial aid from the Government. The Navy Department, through Admirals Taylor and Griffin, is studying the situation, the experts having before them all the information furnished by the private concerns. These concrete facts were presented by the private companies:

The Government must finance the establishment and building of the plants.

It must induce the Priority Board to give the private concerns precedence in obtaining materials.

The plants must be entirely new, as all now in existence are being worked to their full capacity.

The concerns would be willing to accept contracts on a percentage basis.

The Government would have to condemn the land on the sites where the plants would be situated.

The Navy Department favors going ahead with the project of giving America more destroyers than any other country and soon will be prepared to present estimates to Congress to provide for the financing of the concerns that are to build the new ships. It also will ask the authority of Congress for condemning sites for locating the plants.

A survey of the world situation has convinced the Government that if it is to obtain more destroyers, they must be built in the United States, because every yard in every allied country is being utilized to the utmost. New shipbuilding concerns will build merchant craft exclusively, having had no experience in building warships.

TO COMMANDEER SHIPS WORTH $500,000,000

Board Also Wants $500,000,000 for Fabricated Steel Vessels —Contracts Now Ready.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Estimates included in the request the Shipping Board will make for a billion-dollar appropriation to complete its eighteen months' building program were gone over today at a conference between Chairman Hurley of the board and Secretary McAdoo. The request will go to Congress probably this week.

The board needs $500,000,000 for construction of fabricated steel ships, $250,000,000 to carry out commandeering of vessels now building in private yards, and another $250,000,000 for contracts for steel and wooden ships to be let soon. The commandeering program will cost in all about $500,000,000, but $250,000,000 of the original $750,000,000 appropriation will be used for that purpose.

Plans for taking a large amount of tonnage out of the great lakes for Atlantic service also will be completed by the Shipping Board soon. It is estimated that between 200,000 and 400,000 tons can be removed before the Winter season sets in.

WASHINGTON TO ISSUE DAILY WAR BULLETINS

This Will Be After Pershing's Men Get Into Action; No Concealment of Misadventures.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The first official summary of the war activities of the United States will be issued in a few days by Secretary Baker, to be followed weekly thereafter with statements of such matters as may be disclosed without violating military precautions.

When American troops get into action in France daily statements are likely to be issued, founded upon the reports from General Pershing.

Regarding the rumors of disasters to American troops that are constantly being circulated, Mr. Baker reiterated the pledge of the Administration to withhold no news of misadventure of the forces from the public. Every untoward happening will be announced promptly, he said, and the public might rest assured that no news meant good news to that extent.

The extent to which naval happenings can be made public is a different matter. Secretary Daniels has promised that news of disasters will be given out with as little delay as possible, but it is not to be expected that the extent of damage to naval craft, temporary disablement of destroyers or other vessels, either as a result of action or through accident, will be disclosed. The practice of all countries has been to keep the enemy as much in the dark as possible on such matters.

THIRD DRAFT BRIBER GETS PRISON TERM

Kalman Gruher, Who Conspired with Members of Board 99, to Serve 2 Years in Atlanta.

MAKES SCENE IN COURT

Pleads for Mercy in Consideration of Wife and Family—Counsel Gives Notice of Appeal.

After four hours' deliberation the jury in the Court of Federal District Judge Martin H. Manton returned a verdict of guilty yesterday afternoon against Kalman Gruher, a maker of dental goods, who was charged with conspiring with two members of Local Exemption Board 99, at Rivington and Lewis Streets, to sell exemptions from military service. Judge Manton pronounced the maximum sentence of two years in Atlanta Prison, the same sentence which on the preceding day he had imposed on Dr. S. J. Bernfeld and Louis I. Cherey, the two members of the Exemption Board who pleaded guilty.

As the jury returned its verdict of guilty, Gruher, a little stout man, past middle age, who had been in great agitation throughout the trial, began to weep, and his wife and daughter, who sat at the rear of the court, sobbed aloud. The foreman of the jury added that the jury recommended leniency, and at this Gruher looked up and stared eagerly at Judge Manton. Assistant United States District Attorney Knox, who tried the case, told Judge Manton that he had no objection to leniency in this particular case, and Isidore E. Schlesinger made a plea in his behalf. Gruher put his hands forward toward the Judge in a supplicating gesture, and was about to speak when he was checked.

"The jury has done its duty," Judge Manton said, "and nothing remains for me but to impose the penalty prescribed by law. All cases in which men are convicted of crime call for more or less pity, but in the present instance, I cannot permit myself to be influenced by the fact that the defendant has a wife and several children. He has been defended by able counsel and has received consideration at the hands of the Court, District Attorney, and jury.

"At a time when the United States Government is enlisting its loyal sons to risk their lives on the field of battle, this defendant has been found guilty of an attempt to defeat the objects of the Government in forming an army. He has been found guilty of conspiring with two men who were prostituting their honor in positions of trust conferred upon by the Governemnt.

"The other two conspirators had sufficient frankness to confess their guilt and take their punishment, but this defendant has elected to deny his guilt and go to trial. The jury has returned a verdict of guilty, and I cannot see how this Court can rightfully extend clemency. It is ordered that Kalman Gruher be imprisoned for two years at Atlanta."

Gruher would not allow himself to be restrained. He jumped to his feet, tears streaming down his face, to plead for mercy, while his wife shrieked at the top of her voice. She and two younger children were escorted to an anteroom while Gruher continued his plea.

"Don't send me to prison, your Honor," he said, "I never thought of doing anything wrong. My wife and children have no means, and I don't know what will become of them if you send me to jail. I am a loyal American citizen, and I implore the Court not to deprive me of my citizenship. Put me in the army or navy, and let me prove my loyalty, but do not disgrace my family. For God's sake, Judge, don't send me to prison. I never meant to do any wrong, and I have been punished enough."

"You are only adding to the suffering of your family by acting in this manner," said Judge Manton. "You must abide by the judgment of the Court. Sentence has been passed on you and you must submit to it."

Before he was led from the courtroom, Gruher, still weeping, profusely kissed several of his men friends and bade them good-bye. His wife was still too overcome to be allowed to see him, and the prisoner was taken to the Tombs. Judge Manton allowed him a week in which to arrange his affairs before beginning to serve his sentence. Mr. Schlesinger said an appeal would be taken at once, one of the grounds to be the allegation that the prosecution improperly brought to the attention of the jury the fact that Gruher had been convicted once before, on that occasion for practicing dentistry without a license.

Before finding the verdict, the jury returned and asked to have read the testimony of witnesses for the prosecution and defense regarding a conversation over the telephone between Abraham Leicher and Gruher, in which arrangements were made for a meeting to arrange for the payment of the bribe of $300, which seemed to be the standard price for exemption in that district. They also had read the testimony regarding the original meeting of Gruher and Leicher on Aug. 6, which Gruher sought to prove was never held, for the reason that he was at Rockaway Beach on that day. After hearing this testimony, the jury retired and in a short time came back with the verdict.

In the morning Mr. Schlesinger called to the stand Assistant United States District Attorney Edwin M. Stanton, who has been engaged in prosecuting the case, and asked him whether either Cherey or Bernfeld had ever told him that Gruher was a party to the graft conspiracy. Stanton declined to answer after an objection on the part of Assistant United States District Attorney Knox. On the previous day Cherey had been asked a similar question and had refused to answer. In his summing-up Mr. Schlesinger dwelt a great deal on the refusal of these two witnesses to answer the question, and insisted that it showed that Gruher had not been a party to the conspiracy, but had stumbled accidentally into a situation which looked bad for him because he tried to do Leicher a favor by introducing him to Bernfeld.

Mr. Knox admitted that Gruher had not been one of the principal beneficiaries of the bribes, but argued that he wanted to be, and that his purpose in bringing Leicher to Bernfeld and Cherey was to be in a position to claim a share in the graft. Judge Manton, in his charge, warned the jury emphatically not to allow prejudice to enter their minds against the defendant because he was charged with a crime against the Government at a time when the nation was at war. He asked the jurors to exercise unusual care not to let patriotic sentiment or any other feeling influence them.

NET FOR DRAFT DODGERS.

Federal Official Asks Public to Give Information.

Roger B. Wood, Assistant United States District Attorney, who is in charge of the appeals which are being taken by the Government in all cases where exemptions are granted because of dependents, issued a statement last night in which he asks the assistance of the people of the city in the enforcement of the Draft law.

"There are numerous slackers at large," said Mr. Wood, "and we are anxious to find out where these men are. I refer to men who have been called for examination but who have ignored the call, and to a considerable number of others who have probably secured temporary exemption through the filing of false affidavits with local boards, or who have in other ways tried to evade their obligations to their country.

"I therefore ask that each and every good citizen of New York who is in possession of information which the United States should have to go to the board located in the district in which they live and give that information to the legal representative of the Provost Marshal General of the United States. These lawyers and the districts to which they are assigned are as follows:

Germans in New York who have taken out their first citizenship papers are not eligible for the national army. This question came up yesterday, following the appearance before a board in Brooklyn of a man who wished to serve in the national army, but who had only taken out his first papers. The question was referred to Deputy Attorney General Roscoe S. Conkling, and the board was instructed not to accept the man.

Mr. Conkling pointed out last night that a large number of men who have claimed exemption from the service are withdrawing their claims and announcing their readiness for service in the national army. One board reported ten withdrawals of exemption claims yesterday, and another reported a withdrawal of nine claims which had been filed by that board.

PLATTSBURG READY FOR NEW CANDIDATES

Winter Quarters Erected for New Camp, Which Opens Tomorrow —38 New Yorkers Appointed.

Special to The New York Times.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 21.—By tomorrow evening everything will be in readiness for the reception of the first half of the New York and New England candidates who will spend the next three months at the Plattsburg Training Camp. Carpenters were busy today putting the cantonments in shape for the cold weather which is likely to come in late October and November, while an army of clerks were working overtime indexing the roster of the next camp.

On Thursday 1,500 candidates are scheduled to arrive. This number includes half of the New York quota, half of Massachusetts, and all of the Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, and Connecticut contingent. These men will be followed Saturday by the remaining men from New York and Massachusetts and all of the Vermont candidates.

Due to withdrawals, thirty-eight New York men who were selected from the alternates' list today, were notified to report Thursday and Saturday to take the places of the originally selected candidates. Their names and addresses follow:

SHAM BATTLES STAGED FOR MARINES' PRACTICE

French Chasseurs, as "Enemy," Are Quickly Ejected by Our Men When They Gain.

By The Associated Press.

AMERICAN TRAINING CAMP IN FRANCE, Aug. 21.—Training in some of the American battalions has progressed to such a point that sham attacks on the trench systems are being carried out with a degree realized akin to actual warfare. Thus far artillery fire has been only theoretical, but before long the troops expect to have the experience of watching the effect of real artillery upon the trenches.

The marines are having some especially lively engagements this week with their French instructors. French chasseurs, acting as the enemy, have been making attacks upon the Marines' trench system with Dewey, Farragut, Porter and Sampson trenches as the battle objectives. The French also have been attempting to block and hold communication trenches known as Ohio, Mississippi, Delaware and Potomac.

The Marines have been making stout resistance and wherever the enemy penetrated their line they organized a counterattack which quickly ejected the intruders. The real object of these preliminary attacks is to get the officers and men acquainted with what are known at the front as operation orders. It is the first step toward learning the rudiments of a highly organized part of modern warfare where every step and every detail is worked out in advance on a prearranged plan and must be strictly adhered to.

One great difference from real warfare, however, is the fact that in the battles with Marines the "enemy" has accommodatingly allowed a copy of his operation orders to fall into the hands of the defending garrison. This will be changed later and the American trench garrison will be called upon to resist surprise attacks in force.

Another valuable feature in sham battle exercises is in teaching Americans the great importance of what is known as liaison work—the maintenance of communication with supporting artillery, with flanking forces, with airplanes and with information centres, &c. Attacks are accompanied by a lively rocket display as S O S signals are sent up for defending the curtain of fire from the artillery and reserves from companies in support of the trenches. The rockets also are used in the guise of artillery fire by shortening and lengthening ranges. The evacuation of wounded under a theoretical shell fire is another feature of sham battles which is receiving attention.

TO SUCCEED VAN DYKE.

President Nominates J. W. Garrett for Minister to the Netherlands.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—John W. Garrett of Baltimore was nominated today by President Wilson as Minister to the Netherlands and Luxemburg.

Mr. Garrett succeeds Dr. Henry van Dyke, who resigned some time ago. Although accredited also to Luxemburg, as is the custom of the Diplomatic Service, Mr. Garrett hardly will go there, as the duchy is overrun by the Germans and now is under their military control.

28,000 GUARDSMEN TO MARCH AUGUST 30

Date for Farewell for State Troops Here Approved by Army Officers.

EXPECT BIG DEMONSTRATION

Every Opportunity to be Given Public to Honor Troops—"Sixty-ninth" Gets Down to Work.

The great parade to mark the departure of New York National Guardsmen for Spartanburg, S. C., and thence, after a period of intensive training, for the fighting in France, will take place in this city on Thursday, Aug. 30, beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning. About 28,000 men, comprising the major part of the Twenty-seventh Division, will take part, Major Olmstead of Major Gen. O'Ryan's staff said. Some of the organizations in line will be:

First Infantry Brigade—Seventh, Twelfth, and Fourteenth Infantry and brigade headquarters.

Second Infantry Brigade—First Infantry of Binghamton, Twenty-third of Brooklyn, Seventy-first of Manhattan, and brigade headquarters.

Third Infantry Brigade—Seventy-fourth Infantry of Bufalo, Third of Rochester, Second of Troy, and brigade headquarters.

Field Artillery Brigade—First, Second, and Third Regiments, Twenty-second Engineers, Signal Corps, First Battalion, division supply train; Companies A and B, supply detachment, division ammunition train, field bakery and sanitary units, as well as Squadron A, cavalry.

Coast Artillery units from Forts Totten, Schuyler, Wadsworth, and Hancock.

It was reported at National Guard headquarters that there was some question of the Second and Third Field Artillery units being in the march, but in case they did not take part the 4,000 men representing the coast artillery units from the four forts, who are not a part of the Twenty-seventh Division, will more than keep up the numerical strength of the parade to 28,000.

Parade to Start in Forenoon.

The parade taking place in the morning, some of the up-State units will have to come to the city the night before, and arrangements will be made for their care.

Immediately after the marchers are disbanded it is expected that the up-State units will go to their trains, and they may, therefore, be the first of the State troops to reach training camp at Spartanburg. The guardsmen encamped in parks will move more leisurely, but it is not improbable that many of them will be on the move southward that same night or the morning after.

It was originally the intention to send about 35,000 men to the Spartanburg training camp, but the members of the Fourth Brigade, under Brig. Gen. Wilson, were later assigned to camps in Virginia, Pensylvania, and the District of Columbia. It will probably take about eight days to get all of the 28,000 men who are going from this city into camp.

The old "Fighting Sixty-ninth" Regiment of the New York National Guard, now a part of the 165th Infantry of the new national army, spent yesterday getting settled at Camp Mills, near Mineola, L. I., its new training quarters. The members of the infantry were awakened early in the morning by the whir of military airplanes from the Mineola station making their trial flights, and from then on until dusk were busy getting their belongings in shape for their stay.

General Lenihan in Command.

Brig. Gen. Michael I. Lenihan, commander of the Eighty-third Brigade of the Forty-second Division, is in command of the camp until General W. A. Mann arrives. General Lenihan was a clasmate of Colonel Charles D. Hine at West Point in 1887, and saw active service in the Spanish-American war and in the insurrections in the Philippines.

Colonel Hine announced that 300 men of the Twenty-third Regiment would probably reach camp today, to be followed by a contingent from the Seventy-first on Thursday, one from the Twelfth on Friday, and one from the Fourteenth on Saturday. The new arrivals will bring the quota on hand up to 3,605 men and ninety-five officers. The number yesterday was 2,400.

It was also announced at the army headquarters that one battalion would drill each day immediately after retreat roll call.

Major T. Henry Shanton, in command of the newly organized companies of mounted infantry or military police of the National Guard, yesterday inspected and reviewed his command in Central Park in preparation for the official review by Major Gen. O'Ryan, commanding the New York Division.

The two companies are still about seventy men under their war strength of 319, several candidates for admission having been rejected because they lack the physical and mental qualification set for the police.

TO HONOR NATIONAL TROOPS.

Executive Committee Named Here to Arrange Celebration.

George T. Wilson, Chairman of the Committee on Organizations of the Mayor's Committee on National Defense, has appointed an Executive Committee to handle the arrangements for the proposed celebration in honor of the men who will represent New York City in the National Army. The date of the celebration, it was stated, will be announced in a few days, as well as the complete program for the event.

The committee appointed by Mr. Wilson includes William Fellowes Morgan, President of the Merchants Association, Chairman: Stephen N. Bond, D. Edward Porter, E. W. Estes, Joseph H. Fargis, J. W. Bunder, Max Morgenthau, Jr.; Thomas D. Greene, and George T. Wilson.

Saks Suits for Men

Formerly $38, $35, $33, $30, $28

Now Reduced to

(Small Charge for Alterations)

The merit of Saks' suits at the former prices mentioned above is something well known. Therefore we see no reason to dwell upon that point at length. Of paramount importance, however, is the fact that everything that goes into the production of a suit is very much on the incline, thereby making this reduced price of $20 of more import than would be the case in normal times.

DISLOYAL PREACHING SAFE UNDER THE LAW

No Way to Reach Seditious Orators Through Federal Statute, Woods Says:

REPLIES TO ROOSEVELT

Cleveland Moffett Threatens to Break Up Another Meeting of Friends of Irish Freedom.

In response to the need for federal laws against sedition which amounts to less than treason, punishable by death, the American Defense Society is having drafted an anti-sedition bill which will shortly be introduced in Congress. In its campaign against the propaganda of sedition, the Society has found itself confronted with the fact that there is at present no law in the United States punishing sedition, such a provision having been cut out of the espoinage bill. The soapbox orator who now inveighs against our allies violates no law unless he incites to riot. It is the purpose of the Society to have such disloyal action classed as a crime and to have a punishment prescribed by federal statute. This would put an end to the anti-British campaign now being waged in this city by the Friends of Irish Freedom and others.

The need for such a law was emphasized in a letter which Police Commissioner Woods sent yesterday to Col. Roosevelt in reply to a letter from Oyster Bay to Police Headquarters asking for more stringent action against seditious orators. The Commissioner wrote the Colonel that the Department was doing the best it could under the present laws, and said: "If disloyasl preaching is to be effectively prevented in this country a federal statute should be enacted making criminal any sort of propaganda, printed or spoken, in favor of the enemy or tending to weaken our country in its struggle for democracy and for the right of free nations to exist."

Commissioner Wood in his letter to Col. Roosevelt said in part:

The right to hold meetings in the street is, of course, clear. People may gather and speak their minds, and the police are bound to protect them in this right so long as the gathering is conducted lawfully, not interfering with the rights of others, not blocking the streets or sidewalks so as to prevent others from using them, and not inciting to violence. The police will continue to permit lawful street meetings.

In war times, however, some of these matters have to be looked over again to see what, under the changed conditions, constitutes incitement to violence and interference with the rights of others.

If treason is preached in our streets an immediate arrest will, of course, be made, and we have the United States statute dealing with treason, which provides the punishment of death. But the United States authorities have advised us that under this statute the courts will hold only most serious cases, which would justify the extreme penalty. So far no utterance of any street speaker that has been reported to me falls in this class, and there is no other Federal law that applies unless we can prove interference or attempt to interfere with the military or naval forces of the United States.

If there is talk on the street, therefore, which though clearly of a seditious nature cannot be classed as treason under the statute, we have to fall back on our local statutes that prohibit conduct seriously disturbing or endangering the public peace, or disorderly conduct leading to a breach of the peace. Right here is a gap in the law, for these State laws provide no way to proceed against seditious propaganda in the streets unless the seditious person is also disorderly. If disloyal preaching is to be effectively prevented in this country a Federal statute should be enacted making criminal any sort of propaganda, printed or spoken, in favor of the enemy, or tending to weaken our country in its struggle for democracy and for the right of free nations to exist.

Although in ordinary times it might be wise for a policeman not to interfere with a speaker in close cases, in war times the safety of the nation is paramount, and in such cases the force have instructions to take summary action.

In announcing yesterday a campaign to bring home to the American people the atrocities of the Germans in the conduct of the war, the American Defense Society made public the following letter from Colonel Roosevelt, who is a member of the Advisory Council of the society, addressed to Major William Tutherly, Secretary of the society:

My Dear Mr. Tutherly:

I wish to congratulate the American Defense Society on their work which brought the prohibition of marine insurance by German firms, and especially do I wish to express my earnest sympathy with you in your proposal to bring home to the American people the frightful German atrocities in conquered terirtory.

The terrble menace which has been shown to exist in the Prussianized Germany of the Hohenzollerns makes very real and concrete the danger that confronts us of disaster and of possible ruin unless the Allies win decisively in this war. We are fighting for the cause of mankind; but we are also, and most decisively, fighting for the vital interest of our nation. This war has emphasized the fact that there is a wide and deep abyss between American ideals and methods and those of the Germany of today. It is not too much to say that in this war the German Government, seemingly with the hearty backing of the German people, has practiced, and prided itself upon practicing, the most revolting and scientific system of savagery that it is possible to imagine.

The leaders of Germany today, the men who are followed by the great bulk of the German people, pride themselves upon having turned Germany into a nation which practices this scientific savagery. They take from civilization only the things which enable them to devise efficient instruments of torture and destruction; and then they revive, out of what we hoped was the dead and gone barbarism of the dark ages, those qualities of heart and soul which make these scientific instruments in their hands a deadly menace to humanity. They used the resources of science precisely as an old-time Apache used a rifle—as a weapon more efficient than his former savage weapon, and to be used with more than the old-time ruthless savagery.

Wishing you all success, I am, faithfully yours,

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Cleveland Moffett, Chairman of the Committee on Alien Enemies and Traitors of the American Defense Society, issued an ultimatum yesterday to the Friends of Irish Freedom, declaring that if tonight at their scheduled meeting at Thirty-seventh Street and Broadway any of the speakers insulted the President or disparaged England, he would break up the meeting or be arrested in the attempt.

Luther Bedford, a street speaker at Thirty-seventh Street and Broadway, was arrested last night on complaint of Adrian McCaskill of 55 West 169th Street, and in the Men's Night Court was charged with disorderly conduct. He asked for adjournment, and Magistrate Blau put the case over to tomorrow morning in Jefferson Market Court, fixing bail at $1,000.

When Bedford asked for an adjournment George Hiram Mann, an attorney, who would not admit that he represented or was a member of the Vigilantes, but said he just happened along when the arrest was made, said:

"We intend, no matter what the disposition of this case is, to bring this matter to the attention of the Federal authorities, and we will charge treason."

Bedford was accused by McCaskill of saying: "I do not believe in sending soldiers to France to fight England's battles."

McCaskill informed Patrolman Downey of the West Thirtieth Street Station that he intended arresting the speaker, and Downey stood by McCaskill's side when the arrest was made. In the Night Court Bedford called among the spectators for witnesses in his behalf, and among those who crowded inside the rail was William Robinson, the speaker who caused Cleveland Moffett's arrest, out of which the present activities of the vigilantes grew.

NO HALL FOR PACIFISTS.

People's Council Will Take a Tent—Patriotic Meeting Indorsed.

The People's Council has lost the hall in which it planned to hold its peace convention in Minneapolis, beginning on Sept. 1. It now plans to hold its meeting in a tent.

A telegram was received at 70 Fifth Avenue, the headquarters of the council, yesterday from Louis P. Lochner, its Secretary, saying that he had found it impossible to obtain the use of a large hall in Minneapolis and therefore had leased thirty-five acres on which to erect a tent or tents.

The convention which is to be held by labor leaders and patriotic Socialists at the same time as the pacifist meeting received messages of approval from all parts of the country yesterday. Among them was a telegram from Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver, saying: "Heartily favor plan. Add my name." John H. Walker, President of the Illinois Federation of Labor, telegraphed that he was doing everything he could to make the patriotic meeting a success. The New Jersey State Federation of Labor, in convention at Paterson, yesterday adopted resolutions denouncing the so-called Workmen's Council and indorsing the Minneapolis patriotic meeting.

ular way with the Board of Elections before midnight, and all will make the fight in the Democratic primary.

Hylan Opens Campaign.

Judge Hylan started his campaign and let it be known that he intended to fight right up to Election Day. As soon as he is officially notified of his nomination, the Tammany candidate will begin a discussion of what he considers to be the issues of the campaign. The indications are that he will train his heavy guns upon what he terms the foundation influence in the present city administration. By foundations Judge Hylan means the Rockefeller and other interests which he believes find favor in the Mayor's office. The Gary school system will be especially attacked.

In the afternoon Judge Hylan went to the headquarters of the Democratic Fusion Committee, 50 East Forty-second Street, on the floor below the candidate's own headquarters in the Business Men's League, and there met for the first time his running mate for Controller, Charles L. Craig. The two were introduced by Sheriff Alfred E. Smith, who will run on the same ticket for President of the Board of Aldermen. For about two hours the three discussed their plans. The question whether each candidate on the city ticket should conduct his campaign separately from his own headquarters, or whether all campaign work should be done from a central point, was also considered, but no decision was reached. There will be another conference today.

When asked who would conduct his campaign, Judge Hylan said:

"The Business Men's League will have charge of my campaign, and headquarters will be established in every borough, based on the borough autonomy idea. There is a Business Men's League headquarters now in Manhattan and also in the Bronx. Later, headquarters will be established in Brooklyn, Queens and Richmond. The people of each borough will run their own campaign without interference.

The advisability of placing an independent Board of Estimate ticket in the field was discussed at a conference of Independence Leaguers, "unattached" Democrats and others held in Brooklyn last evening. Several of the more ambitious conferees were for wiring William R. Hearst to come with all speed out of the West to save the city this Fall and also rescue the State next year.

Who called the conference was not learned, but inasmuch as Edward T. O'Loughlin made the "long talk," suspicion fastened upon him, and he did not offer an alibi. When asked about it he said that the conference was held in an "office in Fulton Street." It was regarded as a coincidence that O'Loughlin has an office in Fulton Street. He was not prepared to give the names of the men with him at the meeting. The movement probably will bear the name of the People's Non-Partisan League, which sprang into being when McCooey and O'Loughlin parted.

Mr. O'Loughlin, who is regarded as the Hearst leader in Brooklyn, was asked about the Hearst petitions for the Democratic primary filed yesterday. He said he did not know who had obtained the names or on what authority.

*Renominated.

Only one State Senator is to be elected this year. The vacancy is in the Seventeenth District, where Ogden L. Mills, the Republican incumbent, resigned to take up military service. In this district the Republicans have designated Courtlandt Nicoll, a former Alderman, and the Democrats have designated Silas B. Axtell, a former Assemblyman.

LA FOLLETTE FIGHTS FOR HIGHER WAR TAX

Attacks Men of Wealth, Charging That They Put Profit Above Patriotism.

PREDICTS BREAD-LINE ERA

Weeks Defends War Revenue Bill, Pointing to Peril of Overtaxing Business.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—"Tax the rich corporations and make them stand the brunt of the cost of this war," urged Senator La Follette of Wisconsin in a three-hour speech in the Senate today on the War Revenue bill, during which he advocated amendments putting the strain of financing the conflict upon big incomes and profits derived from the war.

The Wisconsin Senator attacked accumulated wealth, alleging that it thrived upon war and tried to escape paying its share of war expense. He wanted the "householder" to be spared any tax that could be put upon corporation war profits or the incomes of the wealthy, he said. He predicted an era of bread lines if present conditions continued.

"While the Governments want to push the war on," Senator La Follette said, "the people want it stopped, but the people have to pay in men and in money for the horror of it, so the Governments may fight on to the end."

Senator La Follette's assault upon accumulated wealth was so bitter as to bring a rebuke from Senator John W. Weeks of Massachusetts, who, in a speech, declared the Wisconsin Senator was "unjustified in his attack." Senator Weeks maintained that the wealth of the country could not be accused, as Senator La Follette said, of having brought on war or having encouraged it.

"The accumulation of wealth must be used by this Government in conducting this war," argued Senator Weeks. "If that is the case, then what folly it is to say wealth has precipitated the conflict. Surely if wealth were to be drained by the Government wealth would not profit by the war."

Senator La Follette advocated amendments to increase the tax on excess war profits and big incomes to more than $3,500,000,000, instead of approximately $1,350,000,000, as contemplated in the bill. He favored eliminating every dollar of direct tax upon the consumer and shifting it to the corporations and individuals with large incomes.

Income Tax of 50 Per Cent.

The Wisconsin Senator offered an amendment to tax incomes, starting at $5,000 at 1 per cent. and going up by gradual stages to a tax of 50 per cent. on incomes above $2,000,000. He intends to offer another amendment, increasing the tax on excess war profits, following approximately the British system of an 80 per cent. flat levy.

Senator La Follette started his attack by pointing out that, in the end, the money to finance the war must come from the people, partly by the Government putting on a direct tax and partly by borrowing from them by the issue of bonds. He went on:

"Wealth has never yet sacrificed itself on the altar of patriotism in any war. On the contrary, it has ever shown itself eager to take advantage of the misfortunes which war always brings to the masses of the people. That has been true of every war we have had in this country and of every war in Europe of which I have any knowledge.

"Wealth is ever potential in government. It fattens on war loans and war contracts and the speculations with which war times are rife. Hence wealth is always for war. And when it is successful in bringing on a war, it is often powerful with war ministers and parliaments and congresses. And so with us in this war, within thirty days from the date of the war declaration we had plunged into bond issues upon an unheard-of scale. Morgan came to town, the press urged, the Administration recommended, and Congress authorized the issue of five billion nontaxable Government bonds and two billion interest-bearing Treasury notes."

The Wisconsin Senator referred to the $2,006,970,000 contemplated under the War Revenue bill which, with taxes from normal sources, would yield an aggregate levy this year of $3,347,470,000. The obligations the country must face this year, he said, would total $19,735,807,000, including the $9,000,000,000 recently asked by Secretary McAdoo, and contemplated fresh loans to the allies of $4,000,000,000. These figures, he said, supported his argument that much more money must be raised in the Revenue bill.

Senator La Follette argued that a tax upon necessities was wrong in principle. The consumer, he said, had a difficult burden to bear with high war prices. The main pressure, he argued, must be put upon those who make fortunes out of the war.

Weeks Defends the Bill.

Senator Weeks advocated the War Revenue bill as redrafted by the Senate committee as adequate, although, he said, it might be improved.

"I want to suggest that while in this bill we are substantially raising the same proportion of annual cost of war that England is doing, which is the highest proportion of any country in the world, England has reached this stage of taxation after three years, and that makes a radical difference in the results to the business of the country. Business wishes to look ahead, and where it is going to end. It wants a terminus in plain view, and if it has that terminus then it has confidence, and we have good business in the country.

"Therefore, if we can raise taxation sufficient for our necessities this year, based on a plan which is fundamentally sound, we can undoubtedly raise a larger amount next year based on exactly the same plan without any more embarrassment to the taxpayers than the embarrassment which they will meet by paying a lesser amount this year."

Senator Townsend of Michigan joined those advocating higher tax upon corporation war profits and incomes when he announced that he would offer an amendment to that effect. The debate on the amendments is expected now to carry the War Revenue bill over into next week for final passage. Senate leaders believe it will be passed by a close vote.

Senator Gerry, a Finance Committee member, introduced an amendment, reported to have been approved by committee leaders, to increase by about 33 per cent. surtaxes on incomes of $500,000 and more. His amendment proposes levies of 35 per cent. on incomes between $500,000 and $750,000, 45 per cent. on those between $750,000 and $1,000,000, and 50 per cent. on those over $1,000,000. It would raise $40,225,000 more revenue.

DENY MEXICAN LOAN STORY.

No Assurances Given to Bankers, Lansing Asserts.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Secretary Lansing stated today that he had heard nothing about the reported encouragement given to financial interests willing, with the moral support of the Government, to make a loan to the Mexican Government.

State Department officials have repeatedly insisted that the Mexican Government has never broached the subject of a private loan in the United States.

New York bankers are not taking seriously reports from Washington and other places regarding the flotation of a Mexican loan. Inquiry yesterday elicited the information that no steps looking toward the sale of Mexican Govern securities here had been taken, and it was said by bankers that flotation of a Mexican loan was out of the question. The only condition under which they would consider the proposition was that the United States Government guarantee the obligations of the Mexican Government. Bankers said that they had received no advices from official sources in Washington.

PRESIDENT CUTS SOFT COAL PRICE

anticipated, few had clung to the conference agreement.

Jobbers and middlemen also, according to reports which have reached here, have been obtaining what some believed to be extortionate profits for their part in the distribution of coal. The action taken tonight seemed to make certain that the end of such practices was in sight.

A sliding scale of prices was fixed by the President for mines in various localities and all bituminous coal is to be supplied, under his ruling, on the cars. The lowest price he names for coal as it comes from the mouth of the mine is $1.90 a ton, or $1.10 below the "universal" price suggested at the recent conference attended by the operators. The highest price is $3.25 a ton in the State of Washington, where mining is conducted under great difficulties.

For prepared sizes the rates range from $2.15 a ton to $3.50, striking an average which is also about $1 under the conference agreement.

As the President's order did not state definitely whether the price scale was meant to affect existing contracts, there was some confusion at first as to the interpretation to be placed on it. But a study of the act showed that Section 25 expressly provided that the price fixing authorized was not to apply to existing contracts.

Garfield May Be Coal Controller.

In connection with the issuance of the President's order it became definitely understood tonight that the President had selected Dr. Harry A. Garfield, President of Williams College, as the head of an organization which will be empowered to take over and resell the entire coal supply of the country if the situation warrants such action. This position, commonly referred to as the coal dictatorship, will be one of great power.

President Wilson spent most of his time today on a final study of the Federal Trade Commission's report on production costs and decided to end the matter of price fixing of bituminous coal before taking the next step, the creation of the organization of which Dr. Garfield will be the head.

The anthracite situation was not mentioned in the statement tonight, indicating that the bituminous output would be handled first.

COAL OPERATORS ORGANIZE.

Co-operation with the Government and Unity of Action Sought.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Operators from all the bituminous coal producing States met here today and organized the National Coal Operators' Association to promote united effort on the part of the coal producers and co-operation with public officials, especially during the war emergency. Delegates were present from State and other sectional organizations representing 700 operators whose annual production aggregates 200,000,000 tons.

An Executive Committee to direct the activities of the association was named, as follows: H. M. Taylor, for Missouri; Rembrandt Peale, Central Pennsylvania; W. K. Field, Western Pennsylvania; Howell J. Davis, Tennessee; F. C. Honnold, Illinois; A. M. Ogle, Indiana; George H. Barker, Ohio; J. J. Tierney and J. H. Wheelwright, West Virginia.

Francis Peabody, Chairman of the Defense Council's Coal Production Committee, addressed the operators and expressed sympathy with their movement, which is a development of the conference of coal men held here in July.

Another meeting will be held tomorrow to perfect organization plans. Some of the avowed objects of the association, besides co-operation with the Government, are conservation of coal by increasing the yield of the mines, prompt observance of State and national laws, installation of uniform cost-keeping methods and improved accounting systems, and promotion of proper relations between producers and carriers. It is announced that no part of the organization's machinery is to be used for the regulation of production or control of prices.

RAILROADS FOR LOVETT PLAN.

Advised Wilson of Need of Federal Control of Traffic.

The appointment by President Wilson of a coal administrator to apply the priority rule to rail shipments and the ordering by Judge R. S. Lovett of immediate shipments to the Northwest were in accordance with recommendations made on Saturday by the Railroad's War Board, it was announced by the Eastern Division of the War Board in this city yesterday.

A statement on behalf of the Eastern Division said that on Saturday Howard Elliott, at the direction of the War Board, filed a memorandum on the situation in the Northwest for the information of the President, "which was the formal appeal of the Railroads' War Board to the National Government to invoke the priority act for assurance of coal relief for the Northwest."

"The problem, in brief," the statement read, "was that something over 17,000,000 tons of coal had to be moved from the Lake ports during the sixteen weeks when navigation is normally open, or more than 1,000,000 tons a week. Inasmuch as a much lesser quantity was being carried on the Lakes in spite of all efforts of the Railroads' War Board, the members of this body voluntarily asked that the power of the priority act be used. The coal needed for the Northwest was going to other points for reasons entirely beyond the control of the railroads.

"Arrangements have now been made so that as this 17,000,000 tons of coal are unloaded at Lake ports the cars may be used for immediate reloading with iron ore for the return trip, an accomplishment which is of tremendous importance in the matter of preventing any idleness of much-needed cars or their hauling without load."

The board also made public the memorandum of Mr. Elliott in which he reviewed the efforts of the railroads, unaided, to solve the Northwest problem.

ILLINOIS WILL FIX SCALE.

May Cut Under President's Figures for Coal Prices.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—The announcement of President Wilson fixing prices for coal will not affect Governor Lowden's program on the subject, according to reports tonight. Chief Justice Orrin N. Carter of the State Supreme Court, coal director of the State, will proceed to fix prices in Illinois unless otherwise directed by the Governor. It is said the reductions contemplated by him are approximately those of the President, in some cases somewhat under those figures.

In coal circles tonight it was stated that the Washington price on screenings was much too high in proportion to the igfures on mine run and prepared sizes. It was said that only within the last year had screenings brought even $1 a ton, as they were regarded as a by-product, and until a few years ago were sheer waste. In the last two years they have sold as low as 37½ cents a ton.

It is known that the Governor had made preparations to seize the mines in the event the operators refused to obey the Coal Director's dictum, utilizing the Adjutant General's office for that purpose.

BOOK PAPER PRICES TOO HIGH.

Trade Commission Reports and Will Proceed Against Papermakers.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The advances in the prices of book paper last year were excessive and unwarranted, the Federal Trade Commission reported today to the Senate. As a result of its investigation, the commission has ordered proceedings against certain practices of manufacturers.

The price advances were warranted neither by increase in costs nor by changes in conditions of supply and demand, the commission found. They were brought about in part by the activities of members of the Paper Manufacturers' Association and the Secretary of the Bureau of Statistics maintained by the manufacturers. On account of those activities the proceedings were ordered.

The commission found that book paper manufacturers, especially those subscribing to the Manufacturers' Bureau of Statistics, kept one another informed of market conditions so that prices were advanced simultaneously without fear of competition. While ostensibly the duties of the Secretary of the Bureau of Statistics have been to compile and distribute statistical information, his principal efforts, according to the report, appear to have been devoted to encouraging members to increase their prices.

The commission found that the average profits of thirty-nine principal book paper mills were nearly 100 per cent. higher in 1916 than in 1915. The margin of profit of paper jobbers also advanced. The average increase in margins on current sales of machine-finished book paper for the fourth quarter of 1916 over the third quarter of 1915, according to the report, was 492 per cent. for Boston jobbers, 200 per cent. for New York jobbers, and 203 per cent. for Chicago jobbers.

WILL HOLD I. W. W. LEADERS.

Spokane Officials to Seek Evidence of Unlawful Conspiracy.

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 21.—Examination of prisoners taken in a raid on the Industrial Workers of the World headquarters here Sunday was begun today in the County Jail by Major Clement Wilkins, who made the arrests, and the Federal District Attorney, Mr. Garrecht.

Mr. Garrecht said that he and Major Wilkins could see no reason for not holding James Rowan, District Secretary of the I. W. W., who signed the order for a general strike in four States, as a military prisoner indefinitely.

"In the meantime the military authorities and the Federal officers," said the District Attorney, "will endeavor to connect him and other I. W. W. leaders with a conspiracy to give aid and comfort to the enemy, which can be charged under the Federal statutes."

An effort to have Rowan released under habeas corpus proceedings failed in the State courts, when a Superior Judge told the attorney who presented the petition that the Stae courts did not have jurisdiction.

Irish Discuss Self-Government Plans

DUBLIN, Aug. 21.—An official statement, issued tonight on the progress of the Irish Convention, says that "the fifth meeting entered upon the consideration of certain draft schemes based upon the dominion principle of self-government, and the discussion lasted throughout the day."

REPORT 382 SLAIN IN RIOTS IN SPAIN

Largst Number in Bilbao, Where Rumor Says Efforts Were Made to Start a Republic.

ARTILLERY USED ON MOBS.

News from Barcelona Sent to the Frontier Indicates Serious Disorders.

By The Associated Press.

PARIS, Aug. 21.—Official estimates of the victims of disorders throughout Spain, according to a Havas agency dispatch from Madrid, show that there are thirty-seven dead at Barcelona, twelve at Madrid, 328 at Bilbao, four at Nerva and ne eleswhere.

The number of wounded is more difficult to estimate, but it is believed that there are 100 injured in Madrid and a large number in Barcelona.

BARCELONA, Spain, Saturday, Aug. 18, (By Courier to the French Frontier, Aug. 21.)—Violent rioting has been taking place in Barcelona and the neighboring towns since last Monday, when a general strike was proclaimed. Firing from the roofs of houses and from behind half-closed shutters has been going on daily. A considerable number of persons have been killed and many have been wounded, though no reliable figures are available.

Artillery was brought into action against some buildings which were strongly held by the rioters, and three houses were destroyed by shellfire.

While these events are going on in Barcelona and in other Catalonian towns reports are circulating by word of mouth of great disturbances in other parts of spain, and of a republic being proclaimed at Bilbao and Saragossa. It is impossible to learn the truth regarding these rumors, as a rigid censorship is exercised over the telephone and telegraph lines and the newspapers.

All the Liberal daily newspapers have been suppressed. The only journals appearing in Barcelona are the Vanguardia, which prints only official and inaccurate reports, and the Diagrafico, commonly believed to be subsidized by the Germans.

The correspondent heard authoritatively that an armed rising was being prepared for the end of the year by promoters of the recent conference of Catalonian Deputies in the event of their demands being refused by the Madrid Government, but the present outbreak does not appear to be supported by the Catalonian leaders, it being confined to discontented working men. The movement seems certain to fail because of its lack of organization. There is no indication that it is supported by any part of the army. Order probably will be restored in a few days.

The army reservists of 1914 and 1915 have been recalled to the colors.

SEE AN ORGANIZED PLOT IN STOPPAGE OF MINES

Ohio Governor Investigating Incident, Believed to Be Due to Propagandists.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 21.—Anti-American propagandists are believed to be responsible for suspension of work today in five Ohio coal mines with a daily output of 4,000 tons, it was announced through the office of Governor James M. Cox tonight. Mine workers are not responsible, it is said.

The mines are in the same field, but names and locations are withheld until an inquiry, begun tonight, is completed. Disaffection has apparently been emanating from an organized centre, the Governor said tonight.

"It is certainly more than a coincidence that this trouble has arisen in adjoining fields. The fact that the United Mine Workers' organization has no connection casts more than a suspicion on it. eWexpect to have the facts in a few days and will act on them."

KILLS A HOLD-UP MAN; FIGHTS OTHER IN RIVER

Giodiano, Tired of Extortion, Gives Strenuous Battle to Save His $50.

When two men entered the junk shop of Antonio Giodiano at 5 West 146th Street yesterday and demanded $50 at once, Antonio killed one of the men and chased the other into the Harlem River, and then pursued, shooting as he swam. Giodiano said men had extorted money from him before, and after they had burned his junk shop at 305 East 149th Street he decided to resist all efforts to extort money from him "for poor families in the neighborhood." Both men had guns when they made their demand yesterday, Giodiano said, and it was only by parleying with them that he managed to get his own gun out of a drawer and fire first.

Romeo Dalarmi of 339 East One Hundred and Twenty-first Street fell dead at the first shot, and his companion, Ralph Pinto of 337 East One Hundred and Twenty-second Street, ran out of the reardoor of the shop that is under the approach of the One Hundred and Forty-sixth Street bridge across the Harlem river, leading to the Bronx, and jumped into the water. The junk dealer jumped after, firing nis pistol as he swam and one of the bullets inflicted a flesh wound in Pinto's forehead. Then the two men grappled in the deep water, each trying to drown the other. Policemen on the bank threatened to shoot unless the men ceased fighting and Giodiano and Pinto swam to a scow and continued their fight there. After the arrest had been made a charge of homicide was entered against Giodiano and a charge of attempted extortion against Pinto.

EX-WIFE SUES BURTON.

Asks $250,000 for Breach of Promise, Charging Ceremony was Illegal.

Lillian Underhill, whose marriage to Washington Burton, manufacturer of flavoring extracts, was annulled by Supreme Court Justice Blanchard on April 21, 1914, yesterday filed in the County Clerk's office, through Mrs. Grace Humiston, her attorney, a summons and complaint in a suit against Burton for $250,000 for breach of promise.

Miss Underhill, who was a professional singer, alleges that Burton should be required to pay her the damages sued for because, so she says, the marriage ceremony he went through with her before a minister in New Jersey was null and void, and as a result thereof she has suffered great mental anguish and has lost her voice, though before that time she had a "large and good paying" demand for her professional services. Incidentally, she says, that she spent $2,000 on her trousseau and lived with Burton in New York, New Jersey, Minnesota, Mexico, Porto Rico, and elsewhere, believing she was his wife.

AN OPPORTUNITY TO PURCHASE A MODERN SEWING MACHINE

Domestic Boudoir Cabinet Sewing Machines

$52, $59, $62 and $69

Toward the purchase of which the manufacturers will allow up to $15 for your old machine

This may not be information to all, but it is equally true that the illustration and the actual machine are not always taken for what they are.

More often the Domestic gives the visitor the impression that it is a music cabinet—anything but a sewing machine.

Domestic Boudoir Cabinet Sewing Machines are as far ahead of the ordinary sewing machine as the—well, almost any comparison will do. As far ahead as the refrigerator is over the old ice box.

Which is true, not only of appearance, but of speed, power, ease with which it is operated, work it produces, etc., as well.

Domestic Boudoir Cabinet Sewing Machines are run by electricity or foot power (electric motor found only in the higher priced models).

The Cabinets are in various wood finishes—mahogany, oak, Circassian walnut and mission.

Making it a simple matter, therefore, to match the machine to the rest of the furniture.

It is this Domestic Boudoir Cabinet that is rapidly replacing the old, unattractive, mounted-on-wheels, generation-ago sewing machine.

The makers, in order to introduce their products, have adopted the plan that the manufacturers of pianos used to install the more modern musical instruments such as the player and the grand in the homes where there were old-fashioned square pianos.

And which the manufacturers of certain talking machine still use.

They have agreed to allow as high as $15.00 on your old sewing machine as part payment for a Domestic Boudoir Cabinet.

Domestics, which are moderately priced to begin with, are thereby placed within the reach of all.

And the question, "What'll I do with my old machine?" is answered simultaneously.

May be purchased on the same terms as if they were selling for the full price—$2.00 Down—$1.00 Weekly. Free instructions if you live within city limits.

INNOVATION

Wardrobe Trunks

$25

Simplicity is not only the keynote but the key to Innovation Wardrobe Trunks.

Getting at some trunks is like taking a watch apart to find out what time it is.

There's as good reason for a bulge on an Innovation Wardrobe Trunk as there is for a hump on a camel's back.

The bulge top on an Innovation Wardrobe Trunk does not permit the most careless baggage man to stand the trunk upside down.

Some trunks can not only be made to stand on their heads—standing a trunk on the wrong end isn't the greatest disadvantage of a flat top trunk, although one's disposition can hardly be as sweet as honey to find upon opening the trunk that some of the garments are off the hangers and things mussed up generally—the greatest disadvantage of a flat top trunk is that it "often" opens at the top. That is, in addition to opening the trunk to the position the trunk in the illustration is in, many flat top trunks open at the top as well.

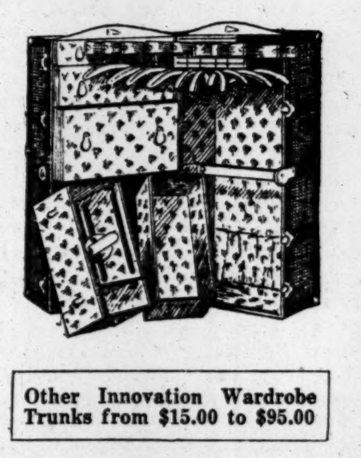
The reason we say "often" open at the top, is because when the top gets jammed and you finally do get it open, it is seldom that you can close it again.

The $25 Trunk Strikes A Happy Medium

It is of regulation size. Excess-baggage-proof. Body is of the finest veneer lumber. Riveted, not nailed, and trimmed as well as reinforced with cold rolled steel hardware.

Another feature of the INNOVATION Wardrobe Trunk is the individual hanging system. Enables you to reach any garment without disturbing any other. It does away with weighty racks and pull-outs.

Innovation Wardrobe Trunks are not made with cardboard drawer bottoms. Everything is veneer lumber. The two bottom drawers can be converted into a large hat drawer.



Other Innovation Wardrobe Trunks from $15.00 to $95.00

Sole authorized agency for Innovation Wardrobe Trunks in New York City.

PEACE IN THE DARK.

"It is considered in Russia," says Ambassador BAKHMETEFF, "that the "very bases of the Vatican's proposals "are inconsistent with the democratic "aims of the Russian people in this "war, and are not acceptable from "that point of view."

The democratic aims of the Russian people do not admit the possibility of a state of things in which a militaristic, imperialistic autocracy with predatory appetite shall be able again to threaten the peace of the world as soon as it recovers its breath. Germany and Austria will not interpret the Vatican's proposals as meaning that that autocracy shall be hampered in the future indulgence of those appetites, or in its power to make and execute that threat. The Pope proposes that it be so hampered by universal disarmament and arbitration, but Germany will interpret that proposal as it chooses, and the world will not accept the Kaiser's promises on that subject.

But there is another and not less important reason why the democratic aims of the Russian people do not find themselves reflected in the Vatican's proposals. It is that all the real issues of the war, all the means by which the power of German autocracy to threaten the world could really and surely be clipped, are left to a peace conference. The world is through with peace conferences of the old-fashioned kind. In those conferences it was the craftiest diplomat at the table who emerged with the spoils of victory, not the most successful army in the field. When that diplomat could not win his game at the peace table he won it by cunning manoeuvres in secret conferences, unknown to most of his colleagues. Democracy wants no more of such councils as ended the Crimean war, the Russo-Turkish war, and the Chino-Japanese war. Democracy wants peace made in the open, with all the cards on the table, so that all the world may see; it will not have this war won by a Talleyrand. It will not have its armies cheated of their labors because some German diplomat is a cleverer trickster than some French, British, or American diplomat seated unsuspiciously with him at a diplomatic roulette board called a peace conference.

Both America and Russia would enter such a conference at a hopeless disadvantage. Neither America nor Russia aims at selfish aggrandizement. The aim of both is to free democracy from the peril which German autocracy constantly holds over it. The means which both would employ would be fair dealing. The world has seen enough of the results which attend dealing on even terms with German autocracy, on the assumption that it is honest too. It has seen enough of tricks and reservations and scraps of paper and artful playing off of one country against another.

If the allied Governments would agree to such a thing, the allied peoples would not. This is a people's war. The people want no more of secret diplomacy. One place where they surely will not permit it is at the council table of peace. They have not entered the war for "territorial adjustments"; they have entered the war to break the hands of that autocracy which makes it impossible for them to live and labor in peace. They will not have that hope and aim placed at the disposal of the shuffling of the cards. The vital issues of the war must not be placed at the hazard of a new Congress of Vienna or Congress of Berlin. The work of those conferences produced only new wars. This war must end the wars of autocracy, not make new ones, and to accomplish this it must be ended in the open, not in the dark.

TALK OF A MEXICAN LOAN.

Even if the United States Government had intimated to American financiers that a loan to the Carranza Government in Mexico would not be misplaced, it was hardly likely that CARRANZA would get so large a sum as $250,000,000 gold unless he could offer good security. The best security for a national loan is honest and secure government.

Bankers will not be in haste to invest their money in a country burdened by laws which make investments insecure and still afflicted with political disturbances. There is a suggestion, for it is nothing more, that President CARRANZA, if a Mexican loan can be floated in this country, will consent to heed advice as to the manner in which the money shall be expended and will approve of some form of supervision. This concession on the part of CARRANZA might help to solve the problem, but if the former First Chief of the revolution has become susceptible to good advice he has greatly changed in a very short time; as for supervision of the expenditure of such a loan, he would not have listened to such a thing a few months ago.

Assuredly Mexico needs money. Such a sum as $250,000,000, wisely expended, would go far to re-establish the republic on a sound basis and put it in a position to meet all its large liabilities. Potentially one of the richest countries in the world, Mexico only needs money, wise government, and assured peace to make it prosperous. That is obvious. But the tendency of the present Mexican Administration is ever to disregard the obvious. In the circumstances, it is not strange that Secretary LANSING refuses to confirm the report that our Government favors a loan.

NEW GOVERNMENT IN HUNGARY.

The semi-official Wolff's Agency announces the resignation of Count MAURICE ESTERHAZY, the Hungarian Premier, and the appointment of Dr. WEKERLE as his successor. When Count TISZA, one of the great outstanding sinister figures of Europe, fell last Spring, there was much talk of a Coalition Cabinet with the Magyar magnates, the three Counts, ANDRASSY, APPONYI, KAROLYI. Of these the two former are Chauvinists, the second has tried to Magyarize forcibly the denominational schools, and to introduce a plural voting system that would have nullified universal suffrage when the non-Magyars get it. KAROLYI, the most liberal of the three, said in Parliament last Winter that Hungary must turn her desires of conquest against her non-Magyar nationalities, instead of their brethren over the border. On the reform of the franchise he is liberal.

The coalition fell through. The Archduke JOSEPH, Dr. WEKERLE, Count ANDRASSY vainly tried to form a Government. Finally, ESTERHAZY, magnate, Oxford man, succeeded. He was selected by King CHARLES as a follower of ANDRASSY acceptable to TISZA, between whom and ANDRASSY there is a permanent, bitter feud. The new Ministry contained many of ANDRASSY'S henchmen and relatives. APPONYI, the arch-Magyar, was a member. With the exception of Mr. GRATZ, Minister of Finance, a journalist of Liberal opinions, and Mr. VAZSONYI, Minister of Justice, a lawyer and orator dear to the Budapest workingmen who are not Socialists, it was essentially of the landholders and extreme Magyars. Count ESTERHAZY'S "democratic" ideas may be judged from his initial declaration that he wanted to "work on democratic lines, but nat-"urally democracy in Hungary can "be only a Magyar democracy," that is, rule by the minority. His program of electoral reform, the foundation of his Government, he said, offered the ballot only to constituencies where there is a large percentage of literates. This means that public voting, its intimidations and corruptions, must continue in non-Magyar communities, where illiteracy has been nourished by the Magyarization of the schools.

Liberal, Party of Work, Independence, there is little to choose among Hungarian parties and leaders. The Esterhazy Government had no Parliamentary majority, but that makes no difference. The Government can always carry an election. This seems to have been a stop-gap Cabinet, having few common principles but opposition to Count TISZA.

Dr. WEKERLE, a German thoroughly Magyarized, was Premier from 1906 to 1909, a reactionary in foreign and domestic affairs. But he is the most eminent financier in the Kingdom. It must need all his financial abilities at present.

COAL CONTROL.

When President WILSON wrote "The New Freedom" he little thought that he would live to appoint a number of trade dictators. The dictators whom he appoints must be equally surprised to find themselves doing by law the very things they deem necessary for the salvation of the situation, and for which many of them had been put on trial before juries of their peers. Yet it is easy to reconcile the contradictions. The combinations and pools and lawful monopolies which are created daily now are for the public good, and not for selfish profit. Their claim to the public confidence is that they are managed by men of experience rather than by radicals and theorists. There are few more accomplished railway managers than Chairman LOVETT of the Union Pacific, whom the President has put in charge of the coal situation by virtue of his appointment as Director of Priority of Shipments. Naturally, his first official act was the order giving precedence to shipments of bituminous coal through Lake ports by either rail or ship. Nothing more practical could be done. It is dictated by conditions, not theories, and it is done in the teeth of writers of reports not charged with the responsibility of acting.

For example, the Federal Trade Commission had reported that this trade was "paralyzed," and its paralysis was causing industrial paralysis. That report was challenged at the time, and yesterday the fact was published that in July the railways carried 129,721 more carloads than last year, which was a record in itself. In that one month six and a half million more tons of coal were supplied consumers, and yet the demand was for more. The "extortion" of which we hear so much is not due to scarcity, whether produced by "paralysis" or by restriction of production in order to create scarcity prices. The problem before the Government is not to break up monopoly in coal, for there never was and probably never can be monopoly in soft coal, but to increase the supply of cars.

The deficiency is of cars, not of coal. There has been coal for every car furnished, but there is such a check to distribution that it is necessary to take peremptory measures to move an unprecedented quantity of coal before Winter closes the water routes. The water carriers have had more profitable trade in the carriage of iron ore. Ore is supplied in such quantities and is loaded and unloaded with such speed, facility, and certainty that it is preferred cargo. The carriers can do better by going empty one way for ore rather than by waiting the uncertainties attending the procurement of a return cargo of coal. After a few score carloads of coal are put into the water carrier it usually develops that the other cars are tied up on sidings somewhere due to railway congestion. The carrier has to wait or abandon its load. On Lake Erie not a quarter of the coal shipping facilities were used, and there are other ports on other lakes. These are facts, and show that the coal question is a question of volume of distribution, not of volume of production, nor of price, nor profit, nor wages. All these factors are operative, but they are more heard of than their public importance justifies, because they touch special interests which cry aloud, rather than public interest.

SOUTH AND WEST.

If the Germans in the west are in the enemy's country, so are the Italians in the south. The difference is that, while the Germans are trying desperately to hold on to what they have got, the Italians are going ahead and taking more. And this is what the Italians have been doing all this year. Austria, on her own territory, like Germany on French territory, battles desperately to hold her position, rushes up men from quiet fronts, and after a while the Italian offensive, like the Franco-British offensive, stops. But it stops only to be renewed, and the whole thing is done over again. On both fronts the result is always that when the offensive is ended the Teutons have suffered heavy losses and are pushed back a little.

The difference is that on the southern front they have been pushed back more than a little. Italy, in one offensive after another, is narrowing their hold. Both in the west and in the south the fighting of 1916 cleared the way for this state of things. In the west HAIG fought the battle of the Somme in 1916, in the south CADORNA captured Gorizia. Then the campaign of 1916 ended, and the gain did not appear to be great in either case. But in 1917 HINDENBURG retreated and CADORNA marched across the Carso Plateau, pushing the Austrians before him. The taking of Gorizia was the pivot on which the southern campaign turned, as HAIG'S all-Summer fight on the Somme was the pivot in the west.

Austria was able at last to check CADORNA, perhaps by the use of the troops she brought from the quiescent Russian front, but not until she had been driven far back with costly losses. The check profited nothing, and now the drive is renewed. In the south the aim is the same as in the west, but there is apparently something in addition. The French and British do not expect to break the German line, but only to pound it remorselessly first here and then there, to the point of weakness. It is by no means certain that the Italians do not expect more than that from their campaign, though it will be a long time before the Austrian hold on Istria is in danger.

RUMORS OF NAVAL ACTION.

Of the operations of our navy in the last four months the American people know next to nothing. In a general way they have the assurance that all our warships are fully manned and in commission, that those naval officers still on land are hourly expecting sea orders, that some of our destroyers are in European waters. They know also that Secretary DANIELS is anxious that many more destroyers shall be built, that the American Navy shall have more warships of this class than any other navy. This much, with the knowledge that large new dreadnoughts have recently been or are about to be launched, comprises the sum of the public knowledge of naval affairs in the fourth month of the war.

But Americans have great faith in their navy, in its fitness, in the skill of its gunners, the ability of its officers and the zeal of its men. When there is a rumor spread in Europe of an impending naval battle, it sets us all wondering whether our own ships are to be involved in the next encounter of the opposing forces on the sea. Sooner or later there must be a decisive meeting between the warships of Germany and those of the Allies against her. The announcement that the German Emperor has been publicly, and with some approach to theatrical effect, inspecting his naval defenses and the land defenses behind which his ships have been safely hiding may not mean that a new naval engagement is near at hand, but it increases for the moment the public interest in naval affairs and is the cause of much surmising.

CONSTITUTIONALITY OF THE DRAFT ACT.

The decision of United States District Judge SPEER of the Southern District of Georgia, affirming the constitutionality of the Draft act, overthrows at every point the legal contentions of its opponents. Counsel for two negroes, in jail for unlawful failure to register, applied for writs of habeas corpus. Their main argument, beloved of all the legal anticonscription geniuses, was that the Draft act is void as contravening the Thirteenth Amendment forbidding slavery and involuntary servitude save as a punishment for crime. To argue that a drafted soldier is subject to slavery or the personal involuntary servitude forbidden by the Thirteenth Amendment is to take leave of common sense. The men who defend the nation slaves!

If soldiers are slaves, then the power of Congress under the Constitution "to raise and support armies" is a power to ordain and enforce slavery. It has been held by the Federal courts that the power of Congress under that clause is "plenary and exclusive." It includes every means of raising armies, whether by enlistment or compulsory draft. A citizen may be forced to do military duty if the demand for that duty is made by a proper exercise of the national will. It has even been held that minors may be enlisted without the consent of their parents. In short, there is no doubt of the authority of Congress to enact the Draft act.

The contention that the petitioners have by the common law the right to "remain within the realm" and are, therefore, not subject to military service outside of the United States was promptly overruled by Judge SPEER. The common law cannot prevail against the Constitution.

The two petitioners are not members of the National Guard, so the point raised by their counsel that Congress has taken over the National Guard, and that this is the State militia, constitutionally to be called forth only "to execute the laws of the "Union, suppress insurrections, and "repel invasions," did not apply to their case. But Judge SPEER makes short work of the theory that a national army is the militia. He quotes the judicial definition of each, and adds:

> Congress, in the exercise of the power to raise armies, may summon to the colors every citizen. It follows that the States, even if they so desire, cannot defeat this power by enlisting such citizens in the State troops or the National Guard. Were this possible, it would be also possible for the States to prevent altogether the raising of armies by Congress.

As for the preposterous theory, contrary to common sense and to American military history, that Congress cannot send the national army beyond seas or to foreign countries, Judge SPEER refers to "the common defense and the general welfare," and specifically to "the power to raise and support armies" and "the power to "make all laws which shall be nec-"essary and proper for carrying into "execution the foregoing powers and "all other powers vested by this "Constitution in the Government of "the United States or in any depart-"ment or officer thereof." But it is almost superfluous to treat seriously a pacifist notion according to which the United States could not have sent troops to Mexico, California, Porto Rico, the Philippines, China. The anti-conscriptionists have not a constitutional leg to stand on.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Again the Board Is Right. It is entirely consonant with the good sense with which New York City's own District Board of Draft Appeals is doing its work that it should have united with the other like boards in the State, acting through their Committee of Fourteen, in urging President WILSON so to change the draft regulations as to exempt firemen and policemen from military service.

To do this would, indeed, deprive the country of not a few most excellent soldiers, and there is no question that our cities and towns could get along, even if they did have to depend on fire and police forces containing as many new men as they would lose of old ones through a rigid enforcement of the draft law as it stands. To compel them to do this, however, is a violation of that law's spirit in order to observe its letter—of the very principle of selection according to capacity and utility from the standpoint of the national interest and welfare.

The question is not whether the policemen and firemen whose numbers have been called want to go to the war or do not, whether their cities want them to go or not, but whether at home or abroad they can more advance the cause for which their country is preparing to fight with all its might and all its resources. To Commissioner HUGHES and his colleagues it seems expedient to keep here men with a special training and competency for the protection of our cities from the known and unknown dangers to which every one of them is subjected at this time.

Great fires as the result of enemy plots are among the possibilities of these days, and not among the impossibilities are riots of similar origin, carried out by the disaffected, the purchasable, and the misguided elements of our heterogeneous populations. The occurrence of either would so seriously and directly affect the supplying of our foreign troops, so interfere with their prompt and safe dispatch abroad, that it is obviously the part of discretion not to weaken either of these highly effective agencies of protection.

The argument for the exemption from draft of firemen and policemen is as little based on the personal fears for private safety that some of us may have as it is on the apprehension of death or wounds that may be entertained by a few—by a very few, one can be sure—of the men themselves. Its entire weight depends on a broad consideration of military expediency. That settled, and apparently it is settled, the question of keeping them or letting them go is or ought to be answered.

A Hopeless Case to Plead. Presumably the counsel of BERNFELD and CHERRY, the two members of Exemption Board 99 who confessed to the taking of bribes, did the best he could for them in the way of pleading for mitigation of punishment. It is significant, therefore, that he could say nothing in their behalf that was not, on analysis, an argument for severity.

They had, he said, taken money only from men who were physically unfit for service and would have been exempted anyhow. In other words, they were willing to force into the army, so far as their power went, and except when paid, men who should not be there—whose presence would be a source of weakness, not of strength. For it is a dangerous as well as an expensive matter to have scattered through a company or a regiment soldiers unable to stand the strains of war. It is impossible to believe, however, that officials whose first thought on beginning the exercise of their functions was to make money for themselves would not have sought it through exempting the fit as well as through not exempting the unfit.

If they did not exploit that field as industriously as the other it must have been because the chances of detection there were greater. Nobody would have a personal incentive for denouncing the exemption of a man really incapable of service, while the passing of men without defects would naturally excite the resentment of others not thus favored. The too familiar argument of previous good character was made in Dr. BERNFELD'S case, but evidently it was his repute, not his character, that was good, and the fact that each of them had a family was of course only a reason why each should have kept out of criminal courses for his family's sake if for no other.

It is not quite easy to understand why the District Attorney said, and the Justice agreed, that the Government did not want to take any "tainted money" from these men in the shape of the fines that might have been imposed in addition to the penalty of imprisonment. Money so taken is not tainted unless in justice or equity it should go to the victims of the criminals, and indignation against these corrupt and unfaithful public servants should not close our eyes entirely to the fact that the giver of bribes shares the bribe-taker's guilt and deserves no sympathy except such as sometimes can be given to ignorance. In this instance every one of the bribe-givers had been in the country long enough to know better than to do what he did, and every one of them is undeservedly lucky to escape prosecution and punishment for his grave offense.

Only a Smile Required. Senator JOHNSON showed a somewhat unnecessary amount of excitement and indignation in denouncing the Governmental cautioning or requesting that led the papers in this part of the country to say that the Japanese Mission arrived not at San Francisco, but at "a Pacific port." Neither the Senator nor anybody else had to wait the arrival of the San Francisco papers before knowing where the Japanese did land, and while all he said about the absurdness and uselessness of this particular sort of secrecy may have been true enough, it is just as well to be amused by it as to indulge in eloquent rage, and if our military censorship never does anything more foolish than that, how much luckier than any of our allies—or of our enemies—we shall be!

The loyal American papers do their fretting over more important suppressions. They are willing and eager to conceal everything that ought to be concealed, and they are willing, if not eager, to conceal things, now and then, the disclosure of which could do no imaginable harm if thereby they can please officials about the excellence of whose intentions they have no doubt.

Senator JOHNSON insisted that the suppression of San Francisco's name was "typical"—that it showed distrust of the American people. How much more kindly it would have been for him to see in it only a commendable desire to take no chances, even the smallest, that information useful to our foes gets to them without their doing, to get it, work that is more or less dangerous.

Americans in Canadian Army.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have been studying for some time the official Canadian reports of the killed, wounded, and missing, and I have been in a position to obtain information from our own convalescent wounded. Briefly, the least possible number of United States volunteers in the Canadian army is 35,000 men; more likely they number 50,000. All the States are represented, from New England to Alaska.

Of the others, from 70 to 80 per cent. are British born, the French and English speaking native born Canadians making up the remainder in about equal proportions.

Barns for Drying Food Products.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Big dryouts ought to be made of barns, smokehouses, and other buildings to turn out bushels of dried fruit and vegetables. Shelves may be made of laths, beanpoles, and refuse strips. Tie, wire, or nail them into shapes like screen doors or quilting frames, and then cover them with wire or cotton netting.

Wood or coal stoves and furnaces, oil stoves, or any smokeless dry heat will do the work.

Why pay high wages for peeling apples, peaches, and pears when they can be cut and dried peel and all? READER.

Pleads for Use of "Mynheer."

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I want to call your attention to the fact that in your recent article headed "Assert Embargo Will Ruin Holland," the German word "Herr" is used three times instead of the Dutch translation for Mister—that is, "Mynheer."

"Herr" is German and nothing else!

To make your readers believe that the Dutch language is the same as the German language is doing injustice to the Hollanders.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Why, why, do we not everywhere float the Cuban flag? It is a shame that our "Little Brother," holding for us the key to the Gulf and promptly following our lead in declaring war, is not honored in this respect equally at least with France and England.

HOOVER SUPPORTS STATE FOOD BILL

Necessary Adjunct to Federal Legislation, Food Administrator Advises Whitman.

WILL PASS, SAYS WHITMAN

Perkins's Advertising Propaganda Counted Upon to Break Down Opposition of Up-State Farmers.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 21.—Federal support for Governor Whitman's Food Control bill was forthcoming today in the form of this telegram from Herbert C. Hoover, Food Administrator, to the Governor:

> With regard to the pending legislation in New York, I think it is desirable to bear in mind that the Federal Administration can only undertake the control of a few great staples of non-perishable character, with a view to stabilizing interstate traffic, so that, in order to secure the maximum benefits from these arrangements and to serve in the same manner local questions in other communities, it is necessary for States and municipalities to have organizations extending the Federal administration.
> Furthermore, Federal legislation absolutely excludes any control of retail distribution and makes no provision for bettering local market conditions beyond some restriction upon detrimental wholesale practices. From every point of view, the adequate war regulation and permanent improvement of marketing conditions in New York needs efficient State legislation.

With the telegram the Governor made public this letter received from Mr. Hoover last May:

> Washington, May 25, 1917.
> Hon. Charles S. Whitman, Governor,
> Dear Governor Whitman: Captain Lucey has told me of your discussion with him. I feel deeply that, in protection of our people as well as the preservation of our allies, it is critically necessary that we should have not only sufficient national legislation on food questions, but that this legislation should be supplemented by the creation of State food administration with extensive control.
> My own view is that certain matters can only be advanced or remedied through national action, but that the largest portion of the execution of these matters and many matters of State character should be covered by operation of State food administration with large powers, and that the National Administration should co-operate with each State administration, decentralizing in every way possible, and that it is only by such decentralization and the use of the very effective organs of State government that these problems can be solved.
> It also seems a great pity to wait until national legislation is completed or defeated, as time is almost the essence of any successful intervention, and it does seem to me that both are interdependent and equally pressing. Yours faithfully,
> HERBERT C. HOOVER.

The New York State Dairymen's Association sent copies of a resolution indorsing the bill adopted at a meeting at Syracuse at which the President of the association was instructed to get in touch with the Dairymen's League and the State Grange, which have been opposing the bill, to see if they could not be turned from antagonizing the measure "on the ground of selfish interest."

In the opinion of Governor Whitman, the letter and telegram from Mr. Hoover constitute an effective answer to the contention that the Federal Food Control bill has rendered State legislation unnecessary. It is largely by middlemen and cold storage interests, whose lobbyists have been busy at the Capitol during the extraordinary session, that this argument has been advanced.

Governor Whitman, on his return to the capital today, expressed the opinion that the bill would be passed in its present form. The Governor resented calling the bill a compromise.

"There is no compromise about it," he said. "Everything I insisted upon as vital to effective food control is in that bill."

BRITONS CONSERVE FOOD.

Bread Consumption in Towns Drops —Great Production Increase.

LONDON, July 30.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—As the result of the "food economy" program, or propaganda, the consumption of bread in some of the larger British towns has been reduced by as much as 25 to 30 per cent., while the consumption of flour is down by 15 per cent. This has been effected largely through the voluntary efforts of the people in the United Kingdom, who have been urged by various means to reduce their ordinary consumption of food.

More than 20,000,000 leaflets and 2,000,000 posters urging the people to "eat less bread" have been issued by the Director General of Food Economy, meetings have been organized throughout the country, propaganda leaflets placed in the pay envelopes of all munition workers, and lectures given in schools, while the newspapers freely gave their columns in support of the campaign.

Of course, it also was necessary to place some restriction on the use of flour and other commodities as, for instance, the prohibition of making fancy pastry and bread, no bread to be sold until twelve hours old, and no milk or fruit to be used in the making of bread. The brewers' output was restricted severely, manufacturers were cut down 25 per cent. in their use of sugar, while public eating places were severely rationed with regard to the size and price of meals.

Further, the rationing of horses was also taken in hand, and, as a result of the voluntary efforts of the people in conjunction with these measures, the Director General of Food Economy is able on his retirement to report a considerable decrease in the consumption of the most essential commodities.

Efforts in the direction of increased food production also have met with considerable success, particularly among the workers of Great Britain, who are now cultivating four times more allotments for vegetable growing than before the war. Throughout the country, land has been taken over which was formerly growing mustard seed, hops, bulbs, &c., and utilized for growing food. Some 300,000 acres have already been added to the arable area in England and Wales, on which 40,000 troops have been employed, while about 100,000 women are now regularly employed in agricultural work. More than a thousand motor tractors and sixty caterpillar tractors are being used on the land, and orders for 7,000 tractors have been placed for the 1918 campaign.

In order to encourage private firms to preserve vegetables and fruit, the authorities intend to offer a contingent guarantee for the disposal of their produce up to the maximum amount. Drying stations for drying vegetable produce are to be installed, and pulping stations in the principal fruit centres will be established with the object of preserving fruit for subsequent use as jam.

In order to stimulate the fishing industry, Government loans have been granted to increase the installation of auxiliary motor power in sailing craft, and for the effective transportation of the seasonal excess supplies of fish that are bound to occur.

HERITAGE.

We see women in the street, sad-eyed and heavy-hearted.
They cannot smile when those they love respond to war's demand,
At night they beat their breasts and pray to God to send them back, unharmed, to their starved arms.

We see soldiers in the street, our splendid country's splendid best,
Brown-skinned and brawny-armed.
They laugh, care-free, hilarious, ready to "carry on" here or in France.
It matters not when youth and health are in command.

Alas, 'twas ever thus! God must ordain
it so.
Love is a woman's life, its ebb and flow.
She needs must give the treasure of her heart,
While man must do and dare, with love
a thing apart.

ROCKAWAY SALE INQUIRY.

Grand Jury Investigation Into Charges of Big Profits.

William Bullock, Director of the Bureau of City Inquiry, which is attacking the Mitchel administration on behalf of Tammany Hall, succeeded yesterday in having the Dreamland and Rockaway Park sales taken before the Grand Jury. The District Attorney had been conducting until yesterday only an informal hearing on the Bullock charges, with the intention of ultimately submitting them to the Grand Jury if sufficient evidence of crime was discovered to warrant such a step.

Assistant District Attorneys William Harmon Black and Edwin Kilroe found a reason for immediate Grand Jury action in the refusal of Frank Bailey, Vice President of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, to appear before them as promptly as they desired. When called on the telephone in the morning by Mr. Kilroe and asked to appear in the District Attorney's office with books, check stubs, and records, Mr. Bailey, who was very busy with other engagements, said he could not come until today.

He asked for twenty-four hours' time, but Mr. Black informed him that he would have to come immediately. When Mr. Bailey insisted that he could not come until today, the Assistant District Attorney ordered him to appear before the Grand Jury at once. If he did not do so, Mr. Black told him he would serve him with a subpoena that would compel his immediate appearance. Mr. Bailey came. He was asked to sign a waiver of immunity, but he declined to do so.

The greater part of the hearing before the Grand Jury yesterday concerned a secret agreement alleged to have been signed by ex-Senator William H. Reynolds, the late Patrick H. McCarren, Frank Hurley, and Frank Bailey. This agreement, according to Mr. Black, eventually led up to the sale of the Dreamland and Rockaway Park property to the city with an enormous profit to the owners, who were organized at the time as the Neponsit Realty Company. It provided, Mr. Black declared, that Adelaide B. Roberts should act as a dummy for the purpose of holding a contract with the West Rockaway Land Company for the purchase of lands at Rockaway Park. There were five holders of stock in the West Rockaway Land Company, each possessing $40,000 worth of stock.

According to Assistant District Attorney Black, after the woman was unable to make good her share of the contract, the holders decided to transfer her contract to a new company, also organized as the Neponsit Realty Company, which sold the Rockaway and Dreamland property to the city. Mr. Bullock charges that the city bought 248 acres of the Neponsit Company holdings at the rate of $5,032 an acre, while the Neponsit Company had previously bought the same property from the West Rockaway Land Company at $3,000 an acre for 201 acres. Forty-seven additional acres sold to the city at $5,032 an acre were previously purchased by the Neponsit Company from the State at the rate of $200 an acre, it is charged. According to Assistant District Attorney Kilroe the sale of this particular allotment to the city yielded a profit of 2,400 per cent. to the Neponsit Company.

When examined by Mr. Black, ex-Senator Reynolds stated that he at one time owned a two-fifths interest in the Neponsit Company, but he explained that he had sold his stock in the concern to Frank Bailey before the Dreamland and Rockaway Park sales had taken place and before he was called upon to act as an expert in the condemnation proceedings.

Mr. Reynolds told Assistant District Attorney Black that in exchange for his share in the Neponsit Company he had received from Frank Bailey a check for $43,000 and a one-tenth interest in the Alert Mining Company. Frank Bailey, before going to the Criminal Courts Building was asked to bring today the check stubs and other records to confirm Mr. Reynolds's statements.

$75,000 FOR RARE STAMPS.

Colonel E. H. R. Green Buys Nearly $10,000 Worth at Worthington Sale.

Colonel E. H. R. Green, son of the late Hetty Green, who recently returned to New York from his honeymoon trip, spent nearly $10,000 yesterday for some of the rarest specimens of United States postage stamps at the sale of the celebrated George H. Worthington collection, which is estimated to have cost Mr. Worthington of Cleveland more than $1,000,000. Its United States stamps have long been acknowledged as the finest in the world, and his entire collection, including foreign stamps, is only excelled by one or two abroad. Two sessions were held yesterday afternoon and evening in the Murray Hill Hotel under the auspices of J. C. Morgenthau & Co. The total for yesterday's sessions was $75,000.

The sale will be continued today and tomorrow. Only a portion of the United States stamps were sold yesterday by Walter Scott, who acted as auctioneer. The prices went far beyond expectations, and even the more ordinary specimens brought more than the regulation catalogue prices. Ten lots brought $1,000 or more each.

The keenest competition centred in the very rare inverted centres of some of the 1869 two-colored issue. One of these, the 15-cent brown and blue, unused, brought the highest price of the sale, $4,100. It was purchased by the Nassau Stamp Company for a private collector. The 30-cent, blue and carmine, perfectly centred, was obtained by the same buyer for $3,550. The 24-cent, green and violet, said to be the only known unused copy with the inverted centre, brought $2,850.

Colonel Green, who was an unsuccessful bidder for these rarities, got a lightly canceled copy of the inverted 30-cent stamp for $1,500. This was the highest price he paid for a single stamp, although he bought several well above $100 each. Another heavy buyer was Henry Duveen, who has one of the famous collections in the world. Among his large purchases were the 5-cent brick red, a block of four unused, 1857, for $910; the 30-cent orange, 1867, with grill covering the entire stamp, for $660, and the 1-cent, grilled 13 by 16 mm., for $250.

NEW SWISS-GERMAN TREATY

Previous Report Said Loan Was to be Made to Get Coal.

PARIS, Aug. 21.—A wireless dispatch from Zurich says a new economic convention between Switzerland and Germany was concluded and signed last evening at Berne.

Recent dispatches from European capitals indicated that a hitch in the economic relations between Germany and Switzerland had been straightened out by Switzerland agreeing to advance Germany 40,000,000 francs monthly for nine months at the rate of 5 per cent. Germany in return was to supply Switzerland with 200,000 tons of coal monthly.

The financial expert of the Berlin Tageblatt, referring to this financial arrangement, said that it was inspired by the fact that Germany's imports from Switzerland were so considerable as to outweigh the value of Germany's coal and iron exports, even at the increased prices. The writer said that Germany had perfected a similar arrangement with other neutrals, notably Holland.

Patriotic Italians to Get Charter.

Justice Erlanger in the Supreme Court approved yesterday the application of the Italian-American Patriotic Society for a certificate of incorporation. The petition was filed by Peter Broncato, attorney, and the objects of the organization are to keep alive in the minds of Italians in the United States the names and memory of their countrymen who have labored in America and who have by their deeds as discoverers, explorers, inventors, scientists, and public benefactors attained a place in American history. The object also is to foster respect for American ideals, institutions, laws, and citizenship.

WILL RESTOCK FARMS WITH FOOD ANIMALS

Government to Draw Upon Big Western Herd for Cows and Ewes.

NAMES COMMITTEE OF 100

Dwindling of Foreign Live Stock Supplies as Result of War Makes Conservation Here Imperative.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Creation of a United States live stock industry committee of 100 volunteer members to undertake a campaign to increase the nation's meat production was announced today by the Department of Agriculture and the Food Administration.

The committee will further a plan for the transfer of thousands of head of cattle, sheep, and hogs from the big Western producing districts to small farms in Central and Southern States, where a great amount of feed goes to waste. An Executive Committee including Gifford Pinchot of the Food Administration, G. H. Rommel of the Agricultural Department, and E. C. Lassater, a Texas stockman, will direct the work of the larger committee.

Under the arrangement planned, small farmers may place orders for live stock with county agents of the Agricultural Department. Live stock exchanges will assist in the movement without charge to the purchasers.

In a statement issued tonight setting forth the plan, the Food Administration and the Agricultural Department call attention to the heavy demand for meat from abroad and the continued diminution of European herds. America will be called upon to furnish the Allies with increasingly large amounts of meat as the war progresses. This can be done, it is pointed out, only by a reduction in American consumption and an increased supply in this country.

The joint statement by the Food Administration and Department of Agriculture follows in part:

"What we need is more cows and more ewes producing the 700-pound calf and the 70-pound lamb. We wish to restore the confidence of the farmer in his industry by convincing him that he will get a fair share of a fair price paid by the consumer and extending to him credit on a reasonable basis, so he may be able to equip his farm for handling sheep, hogs, and cattle successfully.

"One of the incidents of the European war has been the slaughter of large numbers of animals, and it is estimated that already the herds of Europe have been diminished by 28,000,000 cattle, 54,000,000 sheep and 32,000,000 hogs. An accelerated increase in this diminution of meat animals must take place in Europe from month to month as long as the war lasts.

"Especially should the energies of the farmer be directed to increasing the sheep stock of the country. Clothing comes next to food as a necessity. Not only does the sheep meet the demand from a food and fertility standpoint, but for its wool for clothing there is no substitute.

"Every interest that can make itself felt should advocate and encourage the establishing of flocks of sheep in proportion to size of farms in every section of our country. Every farmer should carry to its yearling form every heifer calf of both dairy and beef breeds and every ewe lamb that promises to have an economic future.

"The County Agents of the Department of Agriculture will take orders for cattle, ewes, or ewe lambs among the small farmers of communities in less than carload lots, and we have arranged with the live stock exchanges to contribute to this mobilization of the nation by buying this stock and seeing to it that it is properly handled while in the yards free of any charge to the buyer.

"This campaign should not be considered to have terminated successfully until the great majority of our farms have their flocks of sheep and a sufficient stock of cattle to consume all roughage now largely wasted."

Warning that conservation of dairy products must be not only a war measure, but must be carried on after the war, was given today by the Food Administration.

A nation-wide food survey will be started immediately by the Department of Agriculture. The census will cover nearly 100 items of food and will include supplies on the farms, in warehouses and stores, and even the stocks in the family pantry. A quick survey will be taken first of the supplies of eighteen of the principal articles of diet and probably can be completed in three or four weeks, to be followed by a complete census after the crops are gathered. All of the figures will be as of Aug. 31.

Information gathered by the department will be turned over to the Food Administration, which will base its operations largely on the statistics supplied. After the survey is finished monthly reports will be prepared on the supplies of the principal foods.

HOGS $20 A HUNDREDWEIGHT.

Record Price Reached at Chicago, with Speculators Active.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Indications are that pork chops, ham, bacon, and all other pork products in a few days will be unavailable save on the tables of the rich. Hogs went to $20 a hundredweight at the Stockyards today, the highest price on record. Only 7,000 hogs were received, as compared with 31,000 a year ago, when the price was $11.05. Only 45,000 hogs were received at eleven central markets, in comparison with 64,000 a year ago.

Speculators are reported busy, many having bought at $19.75 Monday. But hogs cannot remain at $20 long, observers declare, for the public will quit eating pork unless there is a decline in prices. The packers are not buying many hogs at fancy prices. Many carloads were reported held back from the market today. Farmers ordered them held for a rise, according to commission men.

SUGAR FUTURES UNDER BAN.

Exchange Prepares to Carry Out Suggestions Made by Hoover.

A special meeting of the Board of Managers of the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange was held yesterday afternoon to receive the report of the committee appointed to confer with Food Administrator Hoover in Washington regarding the sugar business.

"It is the desire of the Food Administrator," the committee reported, "that no further business in sugar futures be entered into for the duration of the war and that all outstanding contracts be settled as speedily as possible."

The board did not reach a final decision regarding the course to be taken in liquidating open contracts. George W. Lawrence, President of the Exchange, said it was impossible to say how long it would take to wind up this business.

Odd Fellows Care for Soldiers' Wives

The New York State Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows began its annual convention at the Metropolitan Temple, Seventh Avenue, near Fourteenth Street, yesterday. The delegates are stopping at the Park Avenue Hotel. They include a number of visiting grand officers from other States. A vote was taken yesterday upholding President Wilson and asserting the loyalty of the Odd Fellows to the country. Grand Master L. E. Cheney of Salamanca said that there were many Odd Fellows already in France, and more were going, and that the order had taken steps to take care of the fighters' families during their absence. The convention will be continued today and tomorrow.

THRONG AT WEDDING OF LORAINE ALLEN

Only Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Allen Marries Allan MacDougall

IN ST. PETER'S, MORRISTOWN

Reception Is Held at Glynallen, New Country Home—Bridegroom a Member of Squadron A.

Special to The New York Times.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Aug. 21.—One of the largest weddings of the Summer, celebrated here today, was that of Allan MacDougall, a son of Mrs. Allan MacDougall of New York and a great-great-grandson of Stephen Allen, one-time Mayor of that city, and Miss Loraine Allen, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Marshall Allen of New York and Convent Station. It took place at 4 o'clock in St. Peters Church, and the Rev. Herbert Shipman, rector of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York, and the Rev. Henry M. Kirkby of St. Peter's performed the ceremony.

The bride, who walked with her father, wore a white net and lace frock having a court train of white satin, and her tulle veil was held with a lace Russian headdress. She was attended by Miss Edith M. Fanshawe as maid of honor, in pale blue chiffon and carrying blue hydrangeas. The other attendants were the Misses Adelaide Wilmerding, Ellen D. Geer, Madge R. Lesher, Gladys MacDougall, Marion Connett, Dorothy Darrell and Mrs. Bache Hamilton Brown, all in shell pink chiffon covered with lace and carrying pink hydrangeas. All the attendants wore straw colored net hats trimmed in pink and blue.

Charles F. Neave was Mr. MacDougall's best man and the ushers were Johnfritz Achelis, Raymond E. Cox, John B. Marsh, Edward M. Robinson, Lew L. Wallace, Donald MacDougall, Warren Barbour and Harry A. Foote, a number of whom have received officers' commissions at the various training camps.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at the Allens' new country home, Glynallen, at Convent, at which the Russian Balalaika Orchestra played. A special train from Hoboken conveyed the guests to and from Convent and Morristown. Mr. MacDougall, who is a member of Squadron A, is a grandson of Emerson Foote, a charter member of the Union League.

The engagement was announced last February at a large dinner Mrs. Allen gave for her daughter at the Ritz-Carlton.

MISS O'BRIEN BETROTHED.

Youngest Daughter of Ex-Justice to Marry Pierce Butler.

Former Justice Morgan J. O'Brien and Mrs. O'Brien of 720 Park Avenue gave a small family dinner last night at Delmonico's, at which they announced the engagement of their youngest daughter, Miss Maude O'Brien, to Pierce Butler, youngest son of James Butler of this city.

The announcement was hastened as Mr. Butler has been ordered to the officers' reserve training camp at Plattsburg, and will leave for camp today. Only the members of the two families were present at the dinner.

Miss O'Brien was presented to society last Winter at a large dance given for her at Sherry's. She is a sister of Miss Estelle O'Brien, Mrs. Henry James, Mrs. Lyttleton Fox, and Mrs. Stuart Duncan Preston. Her brothers are Morgan J. G., Esmond, and Kenneth O'Brien.

Mr. Butler is a well known polo player, and is associated with his father in business, being in control of the New York suburban branches of James Butler, Inc.

No date has been set for the wedding.

WILSON CHANGES AGAIN.

Witness in East Side Case Has Another Story Now.

A. L. Wilson, the witness in the bribery charges against Lucien S. Breckinridge, who has retracted almost every piece of testimony he has given for or against any one in the case, yesterday denied the truth of statements made by him on Monday in the District Attorney's Office to Dr. Samuel Buchler, the Jewish Chaplain at Sing Sing. Not only was it not true, he said, that any agent of the City Club had offered him a consideration to retract his testimony against Breckinridge, but, according to Wilson, not one statement credited to him by the Chaplain had ever been uttered by him.

He told the reporters that the Chaplain was a "liar," and insisted that Judge Mulqueen of General Sessions had not spoken the truth when he quoted Wilson as saying that he wanted to go the House of Detention. The District Attorney's Office, according to Wilson, was "chuck full of liars," and no one could be trusted to tell the truth. He made the further charge that District Attorney Swann's representatives had offered him $7,000 to stand by them, a proposition of which the District Attorney said yesterday he had no knowledge whatever. Mr. Swann said Wilson had received no remuneration further than that which he was entitled to under the law, for the time he gave up to the State as a witness, this compensation amounting to about $25 per week.

Bride of Lieut. T. Huber Stilwell.

The marriage of T. Huber Stilwell, son of Mrs. Charles Stilwell of Philadelphia and recently appointed at Fort Niagara a Lieutenant in the infantry, and Miss Clara M. Croff of Batavia, N. Y., sister of Dr. James B. Croff of Buffalo, took place yesterday in the Church of the Transfiguration, the Rev. Charles Strombom officiating. None except the immediate family were present. John Troth of Philadelphia was the best man. Mrs. C. Waldo Stickle, wife of Dr. Stickle of Brooklyn, a sister of the bride, was one of the witnesses. The wedding was hurried because of the short leave of absence of the bridegroom, who is to join his regiment on Aug. 29.

Emanuel Lederer.

Emanuel Lederer, who was a veteran of the civil war and for years thereafter a representative in the United States of foreign playwrights, died yesterday at his home, 150 East Seventy-fourth Street, of heart disease. Mr. Lederer was born in Budapest, Hungary, seventy-six years ago. He came to this country in 1860 and enlisted in the Union army. He was discharged at the end of the war with the rank of captain. He was later a newspaper man and an actor and manager in this country and in Germany. In this country he was associated for several years with Augustine Daly. Mr. Lederer is survived by two sons, one of whom is Dr. W. J. Lederer of New York.

ENGAGEMENTS.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry de Forest Baldwin of 133 East Sixthy-fifth Street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Marian Baldwin, to Perry Dunlap Smith of Chicago.

Mrs. Andrew Longacre of 27 West Sixty-seventh Street announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Breta Longacre, to William Arthur Del Mar of this city. Mr. Del Mar is a director of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and a member of the Engineers' Club.

Mrs. Alexander Francis Phelps of Wilkes-Barre, Penn., announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Frances Alexander Phelps, to Captain Charles B. Waller, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Waller. Captain Waller was graduated from Yale in 1912 and from the Harvard Law School, class of '15.

Mrs. John C. H. Lee announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Josephine Hodges Lee, of Straitgate, Flemington, N. J., to Captain Albert Henry Craven Palmer, First Field Artillery, U. S. A. Miss Lee is the sister of Captain John C. H. Lee, Corps of Engineers, U. S. A.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo M. Furchgott of 1 West Seventieth Street announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Claire M. Furchgott, to Paul Lowinger.

Lawrence Perkins of Pomfret, Conn., and New York City, announces the engagement of his niece, Miss Constance W. Perkins, to Robert W. Sherwin of Boston. Mr. Sherwin is a lieutenant in tho Signal Corps stationed at Monmouth Beach.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Sarah Bernhardt, accompanied by her son Maurice, his wife and daughter, and a company of fifty artists will go to Saratoga by special train today to begin the French actress's tenth tour of America there tomorrow. Following a number of performances in other cities Mme. Bernhardt will return to this city and on Sept. 1 will begin a two weeks' engagement at the Knickerbocker. This date is the fifty-fifth anniversary of her debut on the stage of the Comedie Francaise, Paris, when at the age of 17 she appeared as Iphigenie.

The Stage Women's War Relief has arranged to give a series of bi-monthly entertainments at Yaphank for the men of the new national army who will be trained there. The first entertainment was given last Friday for the men who are building the cantonment.

Norman Hackett will leave the cast of "The Knife" at the Cort tonight to head the company that will present the Walter melodrama on the other coast. He will be succeeded by Henry Mortimer.

Additions to the cast of "Love o' Mike," which will be revived next Monday at the Casino, include Mabel Weeks, Clare Stratton, Hazel Parr, and Kuy Kendall.

Mayor Mitchel entertained the members of the Belgian Commission at the Ziegfeld "Midnight Frolic," atop the New Amsterdam, last night.

The fact that performances are given twice daily at the Hippodrome when the season is on has led to some misunderstanding as to the time of the opening performance. It will occur at night, and not in the afternoon.

HANG BOY "TRAITOR" FROM TENEMENT ROOF

Visit to Movies Suggests War Game Which Nearly Costs Lad's Life—Mother Aids in Rescue.

In carrying out the sentence of a boys' court-martial yesterday "General" Morris Cohen, 12 years old, "who gave to the enemy the plans of the fortress"—the fortress being the chimney of an apartment house roof at 1,427 St. Mark's Avenue, Brooklyn—was hung over the cornice of the house until the sentence of death was almost fulfilled. Morris is in St. Mary's Hospital in Brooklyn, and although physicians say his condition is serious, it is expected he will recover.

With several other boys, Morris went to the "movies" yesterday, where he saw the "just penalty" for treason inflicted on a young man who bore his fate manfully and insisted upon hanging himself. After the show the boys decided to re-enact the film on the roof of a tenement house, and Morris volunteered to be the "traitor." A gallows was erected on the roof of the three-story house, and was fixed so that the guilty officer should hang over the edge of the roof, with death certain if the rope broke and the victim fell sixty feet to the ground.

After all the ceremony had been finished Morris carried out the sentence of the court with such impressiveness that the boys fled in fear. Even the "physicians" who had been assigned to feel his pulse could not stand the ordeal. Finally play became reality and Morris was almost dead when a negro janitor saw him hanging limp over the cornice. He was so frightened that he ran, too, but his pace attracted the attention of Mrs. Cohen and her neighbors, who climbed to the roof. They had difficulty in getting the limp body of the boy over the cornice to the roof.

The police began a search for the "generals" who had ordered the execution and Morris was held on a charge of juvenile delinquency. Although he recovered consciousness at the hospital, he was loyal in refusing to give the names of his companions.

"I'm going to be the general after this," he said. "I'll bet that movie fellow had an iron collar on his neck. Mine hurts."

Miss Cutler Weds Lieut. Twaddle.

Miss Elinor Cutler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lysander Cutler, and Lieutenant John Pawling Twaddle, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lewis Twaddle of Devon, Penn., were married yesterday afternoon at the Summer home of the bride's parents at Rye, N. Y. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George H. Toop of Philadelphia.

The bride's only attendant was her younger siser, Miss Constance Cutler, and Kirk Moore acted as best man.

Marriage and death notices intended for insertion in The New York Times may be telephoned to 1000 Bryant.

FRENCH PLAYERS END SUDDENLY IN NEWPORT

Leave for New York, With Edgar Becman Under $1,000 Bond for Claim of Father Higney.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 21.—The engagement of the French Players from New York, starting Aug. 13 for a period of two weeks at the Lafayette Theatre, came to an abrupt end today.

Lucien Bonheur of New York arranged for the appearance of the company, which included Madame Gilda Darthy, Miss Yvonne Garrick, and Edgar Becman. All left for New York, with Becman under bonds of $1,000 for the claim of the Rev. Edward A. Higney, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, which parish owns the theatre.

Father Higney rented the theatre for two weeks for $800. Up to the present time his claim for the time of possession is $372. He says Becman accepted the responsibility of the two weeks' contract. In addition to this there are other Newport claims.

This afternoon Father Higney through his attorney placed a writ of attachment upon Mr. Becman at his abode for $1,000. Andre Gerard went surety for Mr. Becman. The writ is returnable Sept. 21.

Attorney Ernst T. Voigt, representing Mr. Becman, stated the French Players would not give their entertainment tonight on account of Mr. Bonheur not being here.

RIVES.—At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Bank of New York, National Banking Association, held Aug. 21, 1917, the following minute was unanimously adopted:

In the death of George Lockhart Rives, on Aug. 18, 1917, the members of the Board of Directors of the Bank of New York, National Banking Association, have lost a friend; one who was for many years their associate.

Elected to the Board in February, 1901, Mr. Rives at once took an active part in the direction of the affairs of the bank, and, until ill-health compelled him to retire from office in January, 1917, he was constantly attentive to its interests.

Born and educated in New York, he gave to the city of his birth his wise counsel and sound judgment, derived from an intimate knowledge of the law and a broad experience in affairs. The many civic, educational, and charitable organizations in which he was active bear witness to his devotion to the public welfare. High-minded and cultured, he represented the finest type of citizenship that finds both duty and pleasure in service to the commonwealth.

With sympathy for his family and as a tribute to his character, the Board of Directors of the Bank of New York, National Banking Association, places this minute on its records in memory of George Lockhart Rives.
HERBERT L. GRIGGS, President.

RANKING PLAYERS TRIUMPH IN THIRD ROUND MATCHES OF NATIONAL NET TOURNEY

MURRAY MASTERS TILDEN'S SERVICE

Hard-Hitting Quaker Carries Coast Star to Four Sets in National Tourney.

THROCKMORTON IS VICTOR

Downs Washburn in Close Match—All Other Stars Come Through at Forest Hills.

Compared with the exciting flurries in the opening rounds, progress in the national tennis tournament at Forest Hills yesterday was calm and serene, ruffled only here and there with a faint ripple of surprise. There was hardly what might be called a real upset in the course of the day, unless it was the defeat of Watson M. Washburn by Harold A. Throckmorton in a four-set contest at 4—6, 6—2, 6—4, 6—4. This, however, was foreshadowed, because Throckmorton has not only been playing a lot of tennis recently, but he has been playing even better than a year ago, while Washburn, fresh from Plattsburg, has had small opportunity to round his game into its usually formidable strength.

Other than this, the leaders advanced to fourth-round brackets, even though several of them had difficulty in attaining that objective. The tournament has now simmered down to a contest between ten men, all of them notables of the game. In the upper half of the draw there remain Robert Lindley Murray, Dean Mathey and Craig Biddle, who were unable to complete their third round match yesterday; John R. Strachan, and Charles S. Garland. The lower half shows the names of Nathaniel W. Niles, Clarence J. Griffin, Harold A. Throckmorton, and Richard Norris Williams, 2d.

The real match of yesterday was that which saw Murray triumph over the hard-hitting William T. Tilden of Philadelphia in a contest that was carried to four sets with the score, 3—6, 6—4, 6—3, 6—3. Strachan defeated the Russian racquet wielder, A. W. Macpherson, at 6—2, 3—6, 6—0, 6—3, and Garland disposed of the Southern expert, Douglas Watters, at 6—4, 4—6, 6—1, 6—3. Holcombe Ward, who was the sensation of the first day's play when he defeated S. Howard Voshell, was forced to give way before Niles in the third round with the score, 3—6, 6—3, 6—1, 6—2. Peck Griffin triumphed over R. M. Beck without experiencing any great difficulty, the score of this encounter being 6—2, 6—0, 6—2. The national champion, Williams, was pressed rather hard by Leonard Beekman, who was not defeated until the score read 6—8, 6—4, 9—7, 6—3.

Exciting Service Duel.

The match between Murray and Tilden soon developed into a duel of service. It was confidently expected that Murray would triumph, but those who remembered his match a year ago against Tilden in the Seabright invitation tournament, expected just such a spirited contest as that which resulted yesterday. If anything, Tilden had more speed in his first service than the Californian and it was because of difficulty in handling this that really forced Murray to lose the opening clash at 6—3. It was a match in which both players gave every ounce of strength that they could summon to stroking the ball but at the start Murray was outplayed in every particular. He could not seem to catch his stride and not only did he have difficulty in volleying Tilden's hard drives, but he was a victim of passing shots that whistled down the lines or across court tantalizingly out of reach.

Of all the strokes which Tilden could bring to bear, and there were many of them, the low volley at which he is particularly adept was most confusing to the Californian. He never did succeed in mastering it until his severe play had worn down Tilden. As the match neared its close the Philadelphian was weakening perceptibly in his play, and while now and then he shot across a service ace, it was only a sporadic show of strength and Murray's sharp volleying beat off any rally that was attempted. How effective was Tilden's service at the start is shown by the way in which he burned across service aces. In one game he placed three into his opponent's territory and practically secured a fourth, Murray being able to make only a feeble return.

Both men played aggressively at the net, brilliant smashing and sparkling volleys being interpolated every few minutes to the delight of a large gallery, which forsook all other matches to witness the contest between Murray and Tilden. As is always the case, Murray, with that happy knack of winning the approval of the spectators without playing to the gallery, was a pronounced favorite from the start, now and again a cheer echoing across the court in praise of a particularly well played shot. Murray began service, and was immediately broken through, and from then on the Philadelphian went along triumphantly to a first set victory despite the heroic efforts on the part of his opponent to stay the attack.

Tilden's play was still going along quite to his satisfaction at the start of the second set when he ran off the first two games. From then on, however, it began to wane. The severity of his play weakened somewhat, and Murray, although he was pressed here and there to a hard fought deuce game, swept along to a well earned victory. In the last set Tilden was quite fatigued, leaning heavily over his racquet between points.

Jersey Youth Beats Washburn.

The victory of Harold Throckmorton over Watson M. Washburn was a notable achievement. In the ranking of a year ago Washburn was included in the first ten, and although Throckmorton was favored to win over him yesterday, it was anticipated that the contest would be brilliantly fought. For one who has played almost no tennis this season Washburn put forth a spirited game against the Jersey youngster, and at times threatened to carry off the honors. In the first set, which went to Washburn's credit, there was evidence of the cool, crafty court generalship which has carried him to so many victories over notable rivals. He steadily outplayed Throckmorton, until the latter was exasperated and out of stroke. His service was puzzling to the Jersey boy, who netted frequently, and when Washburn advanced to the forecourt he volleyed with confidence and skill.

Opposed to the calm generalship of his opponent, Throckmorton had a style that was erratic, and even petulent. He could not make his strokes respond to his will and he showed his dissatisfaction in every action. Had the match gone on this way Washburn would have won without difficulty.

Throckmorton, however, realized that he was fast losing control of his game and in the second set steadied and supplied brilliant play where he had been wild and uncertain. His victory in the second set, which Washburn did not oppose seriously after Throckmorton had gained a commanding lead, restored the confidence of the Jersey player, and in the third and fourth sets he attained a high degree of skill, which proved too much for Washburn's defense. The latter developed an unfortunate streak of double faulting, and he netted many shots that appeared easy of return. These errors, combined with Throckmorton's stinging attack, carried Washburn down to defeat.

Champion Close to Defeat.

It is always rather difficult to gauge the game of Williams, the national champion. He has the reputation of playing just well enough to win, seldom defeating a rival by a one-sided score. At any rate, he was carried uncomfortably close to defeat when playing against Leonard Beekman, one of the strongest of the younger generation of players. Williams did not show nearly as strong a game as in the first two rounds of the tournament. He was erratic off the ground in playing against Beekman's service, outs and nets being frequent products of his efforts. Now and then came one of the old flashing shots across court or down the lines, and when Williams was playing at more nearly his true form Beekman looked weak by comparison. The champion, however, could not or would not consistently play at top speed, and Beekman carried the contest to a close conclusion. The score of 6—8, 6—4, 9—7, 6—3, is not one which would be expected in a match between Williams and Beekman were the national champion at the height of his game, which has brought grief to such players as McLoughlin and Johnston.

In the set that went to 9—7 Williams always appeared to have the situation in control, even though the score does not indicate that fact. The vantage game was usually his, and when Beekman made it deuce again it was because Williams persisted in making errors of service that were almost inconceivable in his play off the ground.

The fact that Williams was decidedly off his game does not detract from the commendable spirit of fight which Beekman showed. He never let up for an instant, even when the outlook was gloomiest in the fourth set. During their period of the contest there were four deuce games, one carried to 10—8, and two others to 8—6, before Williams won them. The 8—6 games were the final ones of the match, and from this, it is apparent that Beekman let down not one whit before the champion, even at the end. Williams, in those games, was putting forth every effort to win, for he did not relish the prospect of another set against such an aggressive foe.

Biddle in Long Set.

Craig Biddle and Dean Mathey had the record contest of the day, and when darkness closed in, it was still unfinished, with Biddle leading his rival of the first ten, now a Lieutenant of artillery, with the score 6—4, 12—14, 6—3. The second set was almost a heartbreaker for each man. Biddle played remarkably fine tennis against Mathey, who was far from being out of form, even though suffering somewhat from lack of tennis practice, because of his stay at Plattsburg. This match will be continued this morning, and the winner will meet Murray in the afternoon.

Holcombe Ward, who, during the first two rounds, recovered some of the skill which made him national champion in 1904, found that it was too much for his strength to bring about the downfall of Nathaniel W. Niles. He succeeded in taking the first set by making use of the crafty versatile placing game which defeated Voshell, but Niles was not disconcerted by this, and in the last three sets swept along to easy victories over his veteran rival.

BOYS TO PLAY FOR TITLE.

National Junior Tourney Starts at Forest Hills Today.

The only championship to be awarded by the United States National Lawn Tennis Association this season will be determined by tournaments beginning today at the West Side Tennis Club. These titles will go to the junior and the boy who comes through the finals of what are the most truly national tournaments of their kind ever played in this country.

So many entries have come for these two classes that play had to be advanced a day in order to get through the matches this week. These events are the culmination of a series of elimination tournaments that have been in progress since early Summer throughout the country. Preliminary events were held by various organizations affiliated with the U. S. N. L. T. A., and the winners thus become eligible to play for the championship of tennis centres—cities so designated by the association. The tennis centre champions are qualified for the national, and it is these players who will compete at Forest Hills.

Fourteen juniors—under 19 years—and ten boys—under 16 years—have entered as follows: Juniors—Portland, Ore., Marshall Allen; Baltimore, Stuart Symington; Washington, D. C., Jack Dudley; Birmingham, Orton Blake; Pittsburgh, Charles S. Garland; St. Louis, Val Satterfield; Philadelphia, George Throckmorton; Buffalo, Stanton P. Welsh; Chicago, Lucian E. Williams; Cincinnati, James Moss; Providence, Harold L. Taylor; Binghamton, Rodney Van Atta; Indianapolis, Fritz Bastian; New York, Frank T. Anderson. Those in the boys' event are: Washington, Paul Conklin; Baltimore, Theodore Bandel; Pittsburgh, Arnold Silverman; St. Louis, George H. Passmore; Philadelphia, Charles Watson; Chicago, Blanton W. Jones; Cincinnati, Richard Bray, Jr.; Portland, Me., Herbert Payson, Jr.; Providence, J. D. E. Jones, Jr.; New York, Vincent Richards.

The ability of these youngsters was apparent in the opening matches of the national singles. "Chuck" Garland of Pittsburgh had an easy victory over Karl Behr, the former internationalist, who has been playing fine tennis this season. Marshall Allen of Seattle lost to Nat Niles, but gave him a good match.

SALLEE'S PITCHING RECORD IS BROKEN

Matty's Men Get Fifteen Hits from Giant's Pitching and Take Game, 7 to 5.

Matty's Cincinnati Reds gave Slim Sallee's pitching record a bump at the Polo Grounds yesterday. When the Sheriff was about to bring home his eleventh straight victory of the season, Big Six's troupe went on a batting tear and grabbed the game by a 7 to 5 score. So Sal's season record is ten straight, and no more. The Giants pounded Mike Regan out of the box in the fourth inning, when they romped into the lead, but when Rube Eller appeared on the pitching mound he made the Giant batsmen play dead.

The Old Master has taught his Reds a lot of baseball tricks, and as they looked yesterday it is difficult to understand how the club slumped after its last visit here. Right now it looks every bit as snappy a club as the Giants. The hitting was an awful nightmare to the ambitious Sallee, and fifteen hits bounded in all directions. The New York crowd seemed to be chockful of confidence when they mutilated Regan's pitching, but the Reds had the bigger kick to their argument at the finish.

In the season's series of games the Giants and Reds are now tied, each club having won nine games.

Sallee was in trouble from the start, but showed indications of improvement as the game progressed, only to become a victim of wild and woolly tactics by the Reds in the seventh, when they broke the 5 to 5 tie wide open and easily annexed the game.

King Kopf, a former Fordham shortstop, led the Reds with the bat with four singles and he scored three runs. Eddie Roush, who leads the National League sluggers, added three more hits to his collection. Ivy Wingo and Georgie Burns enlivened the pastime with a couple of hilarious home runs.

The Giants were without Robertson, Davy having gone to Virginia to be examined for the draft army. Wilhoit played in right, but didn't do much until the ninth, when he got an infield hit.

Matty sent his men after Sallee in the first inning. Groh bounded a hit over first, Kopf got one to short left, and Roush filled the bases when Sallee turned a handspring trying to field Eddie's bunt. Groh scored on Chase's out at first and Kopf tallied on Griffith's sacrifice fly. The Giants got one of those runs back in their portion of that chapter. With one gone, Herzog doubled to left and scored on Kauff's single to centre.

In the second inning Shean was safe on Holke's muff of Zim's toss, and at this stage Ivy Wingo plastered the ball into the right-field grand stand, coaxing Shean home in front of him. That didn't look any too encouraging to the Giants until the fourth, when they inflicted a slambang rally on Regan. Fletcher singled to centre and was forced by Wilhoit. Holke got a hit near first and Rariden was thrown out at first by Wingo.

Sallee took the game in his own hands and peppered a single to centre which shoved Wilhoit and Holke over the plate. There couldn't possibly be a better place for a home run than at this instant, so Burns rapped the ball into the bleachers in left, sending Sallee home with the tying run, and Burns followed immediately with the tally which put the Giants in front, 5 to 4.

This sudden change in the complexion of the game didn't feaze Matty and his Reds, for in the fifth Kopf singled to left and went to third on Roush's single to centre. Kopf scored with the tying run while Chase was going out at first.

The big blowoff came in the seventh. Kopf beat out his fourth hit, a hard roller to Fletcher, and Roush laid down a perfect sacrifice. Chase jammed a single to left, scoring Kopf, and while Griffith was striking out Chase stole second. Hal scored on Sherry Magee's rap to left. Roush almost scored another run in the ninth, but was thrown out at the plate on a pretty throw home by Burns.

ONLY ONE HIT OFF BENDER.

Chief Shuts Out Cubs and Phillies Lose Second Game, 4 to 2.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—Bender's remarkable pitching featured the double-header with Chicago here today, Philadelphia winning the first game 6 to 0 and Chicago the second 4 to 2. Bender held Chicago to one single in the first game and he gave only two bases on balls, while he pitched to only twenty-eight batsmen. It was Bender's third successive shutout and his fourth straight victory.

DODGERS AND PIRATES TIE.

Darkness Stops Battle in the Thirteenth Inning with Score 3-All.

Darkness yesterday put an end to the second tilt between the Pittsburgh Pirates and Charles H. Ebbets's Robins at Ebbets Field. When the umpire announced to the faithful few present that the game was called the score was tied at 3—3, the Robins had just been retired in their half of the thirteenth inning, and darkness had enveloped the field.

Hy Myers, who cavorts about centre field for the Superbas, made a bold bid for victory almost single handed. The veteran Hy in six trips to the plate walloped the ball for five solid safeties, two of which were of the most timely order and helped Brooklyn to at least get an even break with the visitors. In the sixth frame he put the Robins into the lead when he singled to left, went to second on Stengel's infield hit, advanced with Casey on Johnston's sacrifice, and scored on Cutshaw's sacrifice fly to Jackson.

The Pirates came right back in the seventh and tied the count. With one down, Carey beat out a slow roller along the third-base line and went to second on Boeckel's Texas Leaguer to left field. Ward rapped one at Olson, on which Carey went to third, while Boeckel was forced at second, Olson to Cutshaw, and the latter, trying to make a double play at first, threw to the stand, allowing Carey to score.

From then until the tenth Jeff Pfeffer, who had been doing superb work on the mound for the Robins, continued his excellent service and never let the Pirates get dangerous. In the tenth, however, a single by Pitler and a home-run drive to the left-field fence by Fischer put the Pittsburghers in the lead by two runs.

The lead of the visitors was short-lived, however, for in their half of the tenth the Robins tied the count. After Daubert beat out an infield hit the dependable Hy Myers thumped a triple to left field, scoring Jake, and tallied himself on Casey Stengel's single to right.

From then until the thirteenth both managers shifted their batting orders, but without effect.

DRAFT CALLS SIX INDIANS.

Guisto and Smith Latest to be Examined for National Army.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 21.—Louis Guisto, utility first baseman of the Cleveland Club, today received a telegram from Napa, Cal., notifying him that his draft number for selective conscription service had been drawn. He will go before one of the Cleveland examining boards tomorrow, and does not intend to claim exemption.

This takes both of Cleveland's first basemen, as Joe Harris has passed without claiming exemption. Outfielder Elmer Smith has also been drafted, and will take his examination tomorrow. This makes six Cleveland players taken in the draft.

BAKER'S TIMELY HIT BEATS BOLAND, 3-1

Detroit Pitcher Finally Downed by Yankees, but It Takes Ten Long Innings.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Aug. 21.—After passing up numerous chances to win in nine innings the Yankees triumphed this afternoon in the tenth. Frank Baker's timely slam to right field with two out carried Donovan's men to victory over the Tigers, 3 to 1. This defeat broke the long string of victories which Bernie Boland had piled up against New York. He has won ten since he came into the American League three years ago, and up to today had not suffered a reverse.

Bob Shawkey pitched brilliant ball all the way, and might have had a shutout had he been a bit more careful in the first inning. The Tigers got only four hits at the rate of one an inning, and from the first inning to the end of the game only one of the Jennings boys passed first base. That was Bob Veach, who opened the seventh with a double to left. Shawkey lost a shutout by letting Bush get too far off third in the first inning when Veach hit a bounder back to the Yankee pitcher. Bush beat Pipp's return to the plate.

The Yankees looked better with the stick, in the field, and in the box than they have for several days, despite frequent failures to come through with a timely smash. Frank Gilhooley got back into the lineup for his first game since he broke his collarbone at Philadelphia on May 7, and got one hit, a hard smash to right field.

The Yanks went out without scoring in the third and fifth innings with two runners on the bases, and finally tied up the score in the seventh after filling the bases with none out. Caldwell singled past Bush, Nunamaker and Shawkey each beat out a bunt. While Young was throwing out High at first Caldwell scored. Gilhooley fouled to Yelle and Peck fanned.

With one out in the tenth Peckinpaugh beat out a bunt along the third base line and Pipp walked. Both runners advanced while Burns was retiring Maisel, and Baker chased the pair home with a single to right.

Following Competitive Military Drill Cleveland Takes Game, 16 to 3.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 21.—Cleveland defeated Philadelphia today, 16 to 3, hitting Pitcher Myers at will. Pitcher Bagby, in addition to keeping Philadelphia's hits scattered, made four hits and scored three runs.

A large crowd was present because of the military ceremonies prior to the contest, it being the inauguration of the competitive drills of the American League Baseball Clubs. Lieut. Col. Raymond Sheldon, U. S. A., who judged the two competing clubs, will make no criticism until he has completed a round of the league.

WHITE SOX DOWN RIVALS.

Gandil and Gainer Fight After Chicago Beats Boston, 2 to 0.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—A fight between Del Gainer, first baseman for the Boston Club, and Chick Gandil, guardian of the initial sack for Chicago, followed the third game of the series between the two leaders for the pennant, which Chicago won 2 to 0. Gandil claimed that Gainer attempted to spike him when he slid into first base during the fourth inning.

After the game the two players met in the local club's dugout. A clash started, but the struggle was short, as the other players interfered.

BEN ALI DEFEATS PACERS.

Takes Philadelphia Grand Circuit Feature Handily.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—All three events on the second day's card of the Grand Circuit race meeting at Belmont Park today were decided in straight heats. North Spur, Ben Ali, and Bacelli took their respective events in handy fashion, although there were close finishes in the 2:10 pace, which furnished a track record for an open pacing race of 2:04 in the second heat.

Local interest centred in the 2:20 trot for the Directors' Stake of $1,000, the entries being owned at present or at the time of entry by local horsemen. North Spur, by San Francisco, a winner at Cleveland last Friday, owned by Joseph McLaughlin of this city and driven by Cox, won handily.

The 2:10 pace for the Adelphia Hotel Stake of $3,000 had only six starters, but was hotly contested. Ben Ali was the favorite, and justified the choice by winning in straight heats.

BASEBALL MEN EXONERATED

Magistrate McQuade Commends Managers for Sunday Game.

Manager John J. McGraw of the Giants and Christy Mathewson, manager of Cincinnati, were both discharged by Magistrate F. X. McQuade in the Washington Heights Court yesterday, where they appeared to answer to the charge of violating the State law by playing a benefit game at the Polo Grounds last Sunday. The game followed a band concert, the proceeds of which went to a fund for the dependents of the Sixty-ninth Regiment.

Magistrate McQuade not only exonerated McGraw and Mathewson of any guilt in playing on Sunday, but commended the managers for lending their services to such a patriotic cause.

Magistrate McQuade's finding, in part, is as follows:

"It is my opinion that there was no infraction of any statute. Playing ball on the first day of the week, when not amounting to any serious interruption of the repose and religious liberty of the community, is not a violation of this section.

"There is not a scintilla of evidence of any one in the vicinity being disturbed. Instead of McGraw and Mathewson being summoned here to answer a charge of this kind, the public owe to each of them a vote of the highest commendation for lending their services gratis to this patriotic cause. The motion to dismiss by counsel for the defense is granted."

YOUNG GIRL BEST SHOT.

Lucile Muesel Leads in Special Event at Grand American.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Lucile Muesel, a 16-year-old girl of Green Bay, Wis., was high among the competitors in a special event for women at the Grand American Trap-Shooting Tournament today. She broke 46 targets out of a possible 50. Mrs. L. G. Vogel of Detroit, Mich., was next with 45.

The national amateur championship event resulted in a tie at 99 between Mark Aire of Illinois, Jay Clark of Massachusetts, and Roy McIntire of Pennsylvania. The tie will be shot off tomorrow morning, when the doubles event also will be finished.

The special event for professionals was won by E. W. Maxwell of Hebron, Neb. Dr. E. H. Powell of Valparaiso, Ind., won the Chicago overture shoot, defeating C. A. Gunning of Longmont, Col. The contest was at 100 targets. At the completion of the round H. P. Demund of Phoenix, Ariz., and C. A. Edmondson of Indianapolis, in addition to Powell and Gunning, had perfect scores.

The shoot-off was at twenty targets, Demund and Edmondson being the losers. Edmondson missed two targets and Demund one, which gave the latter third place. Then Powell and Gunning faced the traps, Powell breaking 18, to 17 by Gunning.

WHITNEY'S RICKETY WINS AT SARATOGA

Midway Second and Ticket Third in Huron Handicap, Feature Race at Spa.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA, Aug. 21.—Harry Payne Whitney, who has had indifferent success on the turf this season, stepped into the limelight this afternoon when his Broomstick colt Rickety won the Huron Handicap for three-year-olds, the feature of today's card, and Ruth Law, another of the get of Broomstick, was returned the winner in a condition race for two-year-old fillies that brought out a high class field.

The chief interest was in the decision of the Huron Handicap. As the card stood Rickety was top weight with 126 pounds, with J. W. Parrish's Midway next in order at one pound less.

There seemed to be a general impression that Rickety had not run his race when he was beaten by Omar Khayyam in the Travers Stakes last Saturday, and he was made a strong favorite, closing at 7 to 10. As in the Travers, Rickety swerved at the start, but no horse was near enough for him to hit and the loss of ground made little difference in the test over a mile and three-sixteenths.

Robinson on Rickety was in no hurry to go to the front, and as they turned into the back stretch Star Gazer and Midway were fighting for the lead, with Bella Desmond two lengths back and a length in front of Rickety. Bella Desmond was well out in the track, and Robinson shot his mount through on the rail, so that approaching the end of the back stretch he was in third place and gaining rapidly on the leaders. At the far turn Rickety went by Star Gazer and started a race with Midway for the lead. The struggle was brief, for the Whitney representative was full of running, and in the sweep around the turn he opened a gap of a length, which was increased at the eighth pole to three lengths. There the Whitney jockey began to take stock, and with Midway faltering behind him he eased Rickety so that at the finish he caught the eye of the judge a bare length in front of Midway. Andrew Miller's Ticket, coming with his usual rush in the stretch, finished in third place five lengths behind Midway and three lengths in front of Star Gazer.

The second victory for the Whitney colors was attended with good fortune, as Robinson rushed Ruth Law away so quickly that the daughter of Broomstick had plain sailing all the way. Rose D'Or, the favorite, drew the inside position and was pinched off in the first few strides. Buxton rode a patient race on the public choice, but was forced to go all around the field, and, though coming strongly in the stretch, Rose D'Or was beaten a length and a half by Ruth Law.

James Butler won his first race at the meeting when Paddy Whack came home in front of a big field in the fifth race, a selling handicap. Paddy Whack carried the top weight of 125 pounds, and ran the mile in 1:40, beating Wise Man by a length and a half. Paddy Whack's victory was so impressive that he was bid up, and his owner had to pay an advance of $1,100 over his entered price to retain him.

$20,000 FOR NORTH STAR.

Bradley Buys Broken Down Racer for His Stock Farm.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA, Aug. 21.—North Star, the imported son of Sun Star-Angelica which A. K. Macomber bought a year ago with the idea of winning the Kentucky Derby and other three-year-old classics, was sold today to E. R. Bradley for $20,000.

North Star, which won the Middle Park Plate as a two-year-old and was rated the best of his age in England, cost Mr. Macomber more than $50,000 and has never been sent to the post in this country.

The colt broke down in his preparation for the Kentucky Derby. It is doubtful if he can be trained and Mr. Bradley bought him for his stock value.

Kelly Goes to Rochester Club.

George Kelly, the young Coast outfielder who has been a utility player with the Giants for the past two seasons, has been released to the Rochester Club of the International League. Kelly is a nephew of Bill Lange, the old Chicago star. The Giants are now up to the player limit of twenty-two men, and the new catcher, Jack Snyder, will not be able to play until the New York club releases another player.

Avert Railway Strike in Britain.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—An understanding has been reached between the Government and the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, which has been threatening a general strike of railway employes. The society had demanded the adoption of an eight-hour day, but a delegation which visited Sir Albert Stanley, President of the Board of Trade, was informed on Sunday that the Government would discuss the question of an eight-hour day only when the war had ended. Later the two sides took up further negotiations.

THEY WANT OUR GOODS.

Merchants Along West Coast of South America Need Cottons.

H. T. Van Deusen of the New York office of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce yesterday gave out the following extract from a report received from one of the field agents now on the west coast of South America:

"Regarding textiles, I am inclined to think that our mills are losing a golden opportunity to get a grip on the trade of these countries, as there is less competition than ever before and merchants are hungry for cloths. In La Paz they told me an American salesman was a curiosity, and several merchants said they had never seen a line of American goods.

"Peru is rapidly coming to the front in the manufacture of low-grade cottons and is soon to inaugurate the manufacture of finer goods. Chile has several mills, and is to have a new woolen mill in the near future. The new woolen mill referred to, I understand, is to be provided with American-made machinery and will mean the expenditure of nearly $100,000."

ASHES TO BELOVED JAPAN.

Wish of Kochu Iba of Japanese Association to be Carried Out.

"It is my wish that when I die my body shall be burnt to ashes, and the ashes sent to my beloved Japan. Let some member of my family take these ashes and go off into the orchards where the sweet cherry blossoms perfume the air, and scatter these ashes to the four winds, that I may spend all eternity among the hills of the land I love."

This is the message addressed to the officials of the Japanese Association, that was found after the death of Kochu Iba, valet to several prominent club men of New York, at his home. 104 East Thirtieth Street. Iba was born in Japan about thirty years ago and came to this country to become an importer. His family is well known in politics in Japan, and several of his uncles are in the Japanese navy. He was a member of the Japanese Association. His body will be cremated and the ashes sent to Japan.

Wool Sales to be "Censored."

The Textile Alliance, Inc., of this city has received this cable from its representative in New Zealand: "The Government prohibits the sale and purchase of wool unless the Imperial Controller is satisfied that it is not required for Crown use."

The Navy Wants Cotton Duck.

The Navy Department, according to reports in the local trade, is in the market for about 5,000,000 yards of cotton duck, bids for which will be taken on Tuesday next. Twenty-five different widths and grades are included in the wanted goods, and the quantities range all the way from 10,000 yards to 875,000. The largest need is for 42-inch hammock duck. Deliveries are to begin in January, and are to run over eight months in equal installments.

Hard Coal Demand Steady.

The Coal Trade Journal will say today that the only notable incident in the anthracite situation in the last week has been a somewhat easier demand for the smaller steam sizes. Among the domestic sizes egg continues to play the most prominent part from the standpoint of demand, with stove following a close second. With only a few days to go before the actual fixing of prices by the Government, bituminous operators with any free coal at all to dispose of broke away from the tentative Washington prices toward the close of the week and accepted for their tonnage all they were able to secure.

Are Looking to the Jobbers.

As the Fall season advances, more and more buyers are calling on the larger jobbers for goods they have heretofore been accustomed to buying direct from the manufacturers. Silks, especially the more staple varieties, dress goods, and pile fabrics especially are being sought among the secondary distributers, where stocks are in much larger assortment as a rule than the mills can promise, and where prices for the most part are very attractive. Not a little of the demand reported here appears to be coming from small wholesalers, and it is said that some of the larger ones are not averse to "slipping something over" on each other when necessity calls.

Are Singing Birds Manufactures?

Is a mechanical singing bird a "musical instrument," or just a plain "manufacture of metal"? This was a tariff problem too difficult for the experts at the Custom House and the Appraiser's office to solve, and, accordingly, Collector Malone announced yesterday that the question had been passed on to the Board of General Appraisers for settlement. Failing that, it will go to the Customs Court. An importer brought in a consignment of these birds in cages and claimed classification at 20 per cent. under the metal manufactures provision. The customs men, after listening to the talent exhibited by the birds, paid them the compliment of classification as "musical instruments," calling for a 35 per cent. duty.

Crude Rubber Prices Easing Off.

The gradual weakening of prices in the local crude rubber market continues as a result of the lack of interest on the part of buyers. Not only are the plantations easier than at this time a week ago, but the Brazilians are losing some of the firmness they showed recently. First latex was held at 65 cents yesterday, with smoked sheets quoted a cent less than this. A good inquiry for these sorts for 1918 shipment is reported, but there are no sellers at the prices buyers want to pay. In the Brazilians, up-river fine, spot, was quoted yesterday at 68½ cents, with spot lots of up-river coarse and upper Caucho ball held, respectively, at 48 and 40 cents.

Gray Goods Trading Halts.

Trading in the local gray goods market yesterday came as close to a full stop as possible. The mills were not anxious to let out goods at the prices the buyers were willing to pay, and the latter did not appear anxious enough to get them to carry the matter very far. About the only feature was the reported sale from first hands of quick 38½-inch 64-60s at 10 cents. Some scattering business was done from second hands, who in some cases were offering goods a half cent under the market, but it was without special interest. Mill prices for spot printcloths closed this way:

39-inch, 80-80s...14c	38½-inch, 64-60s..10¼c
39-inch, 72-76s...13c	38½-inch, 64-56s..10c

Artificial Shoe Vamps Coming.

Shoe vamps of artificial leather, as well as stoles of the same material, are a thing of the near future as the result of a recent discovery just patented. This announcement was made yesterday at a special meeting of the Coated Textile Manufacturers' Association which was held at the Waldorf-Astoria. Up to the present time it has been possible to use artificial leather for all parts of a shoe except the vamp. The artificial leather sole, incidentally, is different from those now being made.

Contribute Dues to Red Cross.

A resolution passed yesterday by the Board of Governors of the Commercial Travelers' Association of the Lace, Embroidery and Allied Trades, Inc., pledges them to turn over one-half of all the money received for dues between now and Jan. 1 to the Red Cross to aid it in carrying on its work. In addition to this, the resolution provides for a gift of $50 to the Red Cross war fund.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Prices Irregular, with Undiminished Pressure Upon the Rails and Bethlehem.

Throughout most of yesterday's session the stock market had the appearance of greater weakness than it really displayed. An explanation for that is to be found in the fact that while most issues lost ground the active stocks in which the bulk of trading took place generally closed higher. The exceptions were Bethlehem Steel B, which closed at 109⅝, with a loss of 4⅛ points after having sold as low as 107¼, and United States Steel, which closed with a loss of ⅝ after selling down to 123. The declines were accompanied by a marked increase in activity over the small business done on Monday, which was perhaps the sole basis for a report emanating from numerous brokerage houses that a much more active market will be seen after the turn of the month.

Selling yesterday was ascribed to fresh fears that radical members of Congress will succeed in winning the majority over to the view that excess profits tax as proposed would not bear sufficiently heavy upon the corporations as embodied in the measure drawn by Senator Simmons. Senator La Follette and his supporters believe that the rich should be called upon for a much larger contribution toward the cost of the war, ignoring the fact that the Government cannot take substantially all of the profits of the corporations and still collect the heavy sums expected through the income tax. It is probable that the more moderate views as to the proper distribution of new taxes will prevail, but Wall Street professed to believe that the law, when it is enacted, may bear much more heavily upon earnings than has been allowed for in the appropriations already made by leading corporations to meet the new taxes.

The selling of Bethlehem stock continued unabated to the accompaniment of discouraging stories as to the inability of the management to get fair treatment from the Government. A bear pool operating in this stock has made the most out of the known fact that the corporation must provide itself with larger sums for working capital and utilized rumors of dissatisfaction over the treatment being accorded to the company to good advantage. It is not to be expected that the Government will single out one or two manufacturers in order to make them accept unreasonably low prices while it is treating other companies with what some of them concede to be liberality. The various departments need supplies so urgently that it is safe to proceed on the assumption that prices, when fixed, will be designed to allow for a proper return on investment, since a niggardly policy, while resulting in an immediate saving, would in the end cost the Government dearly through slowing down of production.

Most of the railroad stocks continued to sag to new low levels. Delaware & Hudson was sold yesterday down to a new low record price at 100⅛, and closed at 102½, with a net loss of 1⅛. New York Central touched 82, New Haven 30¼, Reading 88⅞, and Missouri Pacific 29⅝. Even more discouraging than the weakness in the stocks has been the pressure to sell high class railroad bonds. The more active issues have receded for nine successive days. Part of this weakness must be ascribed to the trend toward higher yields obtainable from good bonds and short-term issues, but it is more particularly due to the unsatisfactory position of the carriers, squeezed as they are, between fixed rates and steadily mounting expenses.

WAR NEWS HELPS MARKET.

French and Italian Gains Strengthen London Trading.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—The stock market was strengthened today by the French advance at Verdun and the satisfactory progress of the Italian offensive. The available supply of stocks was limited. Home rails improved, as the dispute with the trainmen is expected to be settled today. Russian issues rallied, but Brazilians were dull, owing to the lower exchange rates. Mexican stocks finished under the best on some profit taking, while silver mines were active and higher, influenced by the rise in the metal. Shipping shares advanced and oils were in renewed request. Rubber securities were featureless. Money and discount rates were steady.

Trading Quiet on Paris Bourse.

PARIS, Aug. 21.—Trading was quiet on the Bourse today. Three per cent. rentes, 62 francs 30 centimes for cash. Exchange on London, 27 francs 18 centimes. Five per cent. loan, 87 francs 75 centimes.

BANKS HELP EXPORTERS.

Professor Cherington Explains Why English and Germans Are Favored.

Adequate banking facilities in South America and elsewhere have been a strong factor in obtaining prompt payments to British and German exporters, Professor Paul Terry Cherington, Director of Marketing in the Graduate School of Business Administration of Harvard University, told the Export Division of the Advertising Club at a luncheon held yesterday at 47 West Twenty-fifth Street. A member had complained that exporters here found by experience that foreign merchants frequently before the war made it a practice to pay their British and German creditors before settling with American shippers for goods sold. This applied, he said, particularly to South America.

Professor Cherington outlined to the merchants present the Government's plan for the compilation of a compendium of American export trade, which it is intended shall be the most thorough and complete ever prepared. It is the aim of the Government, in its inquiry, about to be started by Professor Cherington and his assistants, to canvass the entire exporting trade of the United States, with a view to obtaining facts about merchandising methods. He called upon all exporters to cooperate in the compilation, which he said would not only be a big help to merchants already engaged in overseas trade, but also of material assistance to those contemplating a foreign business.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

The fourth annual convention of the Farm Mortgage Bankers Association of America will be held in Minneapolis on Sept. 11, 12, and 13.

William Hurd Hillyer, an Atlanta financier, has opened a New York office at 115 Broadway, to deal in investment securities, specializing in Southern industrial and municipal issues.

Chase National Bank stock is no longer listed on the New York Stock Exchange, the entire issue, together with that of the Chase Securities Company, having been deposited with the Bankers Trust Company, which will soon issue certificates, each representing a share of both issues.

Directors of the National Surety Company yesterday declared a quarterly dividend of 3 per cent., payable Oct. 1, on stock of record Sept. 20.

Petitions are being circulated on the New York Stock Exchange and the Coffee and Sugar Exchange to follow the example of the Cotton Exchange and declare a holiday on Saturday, Sept. 1.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Demand for Life Insurance.

A large increase in the amount of life insurance written thus far this year is reported by The Insurance Press of New York and The Monetary Times of Toronto. These show for the first five months of 1917 a gain of nearly 31 per cent. Figures compiled from data supplied by the largest companies indicate that the new life insurance policies issued in May, 1917, were nearly 32½ per cent. greater than in May a year ago. If the ratio of gain continues during the remaining months of the year it is quite likely that the new business for 1917 will be the largest on record. Of course, the increase in the volume of business has been due chiefly to the war, but a part has no doubt been brought about by the growing popularity of group insurance, many of the large industrial corporations having recently taken out such policies for their employes.

Japanese Loan Planned.

A dispatch from London yesterday reported that a Japanese loan of $50,000,000 was about to be floated in the London market, and that the proceeds of the transaction would be utilized in financing Russian munition orders in Japan. This financing is said to be the sequel to a measure ratified last June authorizing the Japanese Government to issue its own obligations for regulating foreign exchanges or arranging for the payment of orders received from abroad. Some time ago the Russian Government floated a loan in Japan, but recently the suggestion for another loan was not received favorably.

Curtiss Airplane Prospects.

Some highly optimistic reports as to the completion of the new factory and the future business prospects of the Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Corporation, circulated in Wall Street yesterday, were discounted by an official of the company as probably due to a speculative interest in the stock, and not in keeping with the conservative policy of the company management. It was reported that the new Curtiss factory at Buffalo would be ready by Oct. 15, and would immediately begin business on a large scale on contracts for the United States and Great Britain. This was denied, although it was stated that W. A. Morgan, General Manager, would have part of the new plant ready to begin turning out metal parts about that time. Incidentally, a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Curtiss Company was held here yesterday, at which Rodman Wanamaker, George C. Taylor, President of the American Express Company, and J. Kearsley Mitchell of Philadelphia were formally elected to the Directorate.

Silver Still Soaring.

Silver bullion took another leap yesterday, being quoted in London at 44⅝d and in New York at 88½ cents, while it was reported that in one transaction in Philadelphia 200,000 ounces changed hands at 90, a price which goes back nearly to civil war days without finding a parallel. The war has already, by the unprecedented demand for silver which it has created, turned back the history of the metal to the days of the Comstock Lode, and wiped out the effect of the great bonanza discoveries of the eighties and nineties, which were responsible, among other things, for first making William Jennings Bryan a national figure. Incidentally, if the present rise in silver continues, there is likely to be a stirring of renewed life in more of the famous old mining camps and a researching of ancient claims and prospects.

An Erring Counselor.

Either the heat or the humidity proved too much yesterday for Wall Street's most faithful friend, the famous clock in Trinity's spire, for it persistently published to the thousands who looked to it for guidance that it was 2:25 o'clock, regardless of what other timepieces said. Employes leisurely returning from luncheon became conscience smitten when they saw the time, and cut short their noonday walk. The clock has been so trustworthy that it did not occur to many passers-by to question its acuracy, with the result that a large number of watches were brought under suspicion.

Mr. Hoover's Conquests.

Business men who had witnessed the Food Administrator's complete triumph over the Chicago Board of Trade, to say nothing of the New York Produce Exchange and all the other grain markets, were not surprised to hear yesterday that he had also brought the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange into line. Trading in sugar futures was an infant industry compared with the trading in grain futures, and not apt to give Mr. Hoover much trouble after what he had already accomplished, but it is worth mentioning that the committee of sugar men who went to Washington to confer with him returned chanting Mr. Hoover's praises if anything more enthusiastically than the grain men had done a week earlier. The Food Administrator appears to be the only man in the world who can, as one of his new coadjutors put it, "put you out of business and make you like and admire him for doing it."

Revival of an Old Abuse.

The visit of Raymond Hitchcock, flanked by a dozen members of the chorus, to the Curb market yesterday in quest of contributions for one of the war relief funds proved too much of a temptation for the good resolutions of the Wall Street office boy. He stood it as long as he could, remembering the command against wasting ticker tape, and then began to hurl roll after roll out upon the heads of the populace. For a while the fronts of several of the Broad Street buildings were festooned from roof to street with streamers of good white tape.

EXCHANGE FIRM TO DISBAND

Eugene Meyer, Jr., & Co. Will Be Liquidated Sept. 30.

The New York Stock Exchange firm of Eugene Meyer, Jr., & Co., will be dissolved Sept. 30, according to an announcement made yesterday. On that date the firm will go into liquidation. Mr. Meyer, the senior partner and board member, has been in Washington assisting the Advisory Commission of the Council of National Defense since America's entrance into the war; and Charles J. Thurnauer, the other member of the firm, is a French citizen, and has been called to the colors in France.

Mr. Meyer has been a member of the New York Stock Exchange since February, 1901, and his firm was organized in May, 1912. He has recently resigned from a number of Directorates, among them the Fidelity-Phoenix Fire Insurance Company, but is still a Director of the Inspiration Consolidated and Utah Copper Companies. The firm has been identified with a number of syndicate operations and had a large foreign clientele.

Eugene Meyer, Sr., used to be a partner of Lazard Freres, but retired from business about ten years ago.

THE COTTON MARKET

Sharp Rallies Follow Decline—General List Closes 10 to 16 Points Higher.

A further decline at the opening of the cotton market yesterday was followed by sharp rallies on covering. December contracts sold up from 23.53c to 24.03c, or $2.50 a bale, from the lowest, and closed at 23.88c, with the general list closing steady, at a net advance of 10 to 16 points.

There was over-night selling orders around the ring at the opening, evidently brought in by the weakness of Monday's market. At the start prices were 12 to 17 points lower in consequence, with active months showing net losses of 15 to 19 points during the first few minutes. This made a decline of 165 to 170 points from the high level of last week and of 265 to 280 points from the best prices touched since the publication of the August crop report of the Census Bureau. The extent of the decline, in itself, seemed to create some reactionary sentiment, and covering by recent sellers was also promoted by the failure of the weather map to show any further rain in the Southwest. The buying became a little more active during the afternoon on a renewal of peace talk and the larger exports, but after showing net gains of 26 to 31 points the market met scattered realizing, with the close several points off from the best.

Trading was comparatively quiet on the advances, and local brokers attributed the bulk of the buying to covering of shorts, demand otherwise may have been held in check by reiterated reports of an easing spot basis in the South, and, notwithstanding the steadier ruling of prices, the talk around the ring was still of a bearish average.

Exports were the largest for any one day in a long time, aggregating 58,274 bales, of which more than 50,000 were cleared for Great Britain. These clearances followed reports of a more urgent demand from exporters which were circulating here a few days ago, accompanied by talk of a freer offering of ocean tonnage.

Some of the advices received from the South indicated a falling off in the demand, and under present shipping conditions irregularities of distribution are expected.

COMMODITIES MARKETS

WHEAT.

The announcement that the Food Administration would fix the price of wheat on Sept. 1, thus removing the suspense which has been hanging over the market for some weeks, attracted a good deal of comment, and on the idea that the price would be over $2 September contracts were traded in at $2.10, or 5c above the previous night. Cash wheat was steady here, with No. 2 Red quoted at $2.25 and No. 2 hard $2.27, cost, insurance, and freight, New York export. Western cash markets were also generally higher.

Rye—Market steady; No. 2 Western, $1.82, cost, insurance, and freight, New York.

CORN.

An advance of a cent a bushel in the early corn market to $1.09⅞ for December attracted a good deal of commission house and other selling, which caused subsequent reactions, so that final prices were ⅛c net lower. Washington advices said that reports to the Department of Agriculture show farm holdings of corn to be much below normal. Cash corn in New York was weak with No. 2 yellow quoted at $1.83 and No. 2 mixed $1.80, cash, insurance, and freight, New York.

OATS.

An early buying movement in oats carried prices up ⅝c over the previous night, following reports that farmers were unwilling sellers, but sentiment was not enthusiastic on the bull side, owing to the big crop estimates, and the market promptly sold off in the afternoon when a little pressure was applied, so that final prices were ¼c higher to ⅝c net lower. Locally cash oats closed as follows: Standard, 69 to 70c; No. 2 white, 70½c, nominal; No. 3 white, 68 to 69c; No. 4 white, 67 to 68c; fancy clipped white, 71 to 72c; ordinary clipped white, 69 to 71c, all elevator.

PROVISIONS.

There was a firm tone to the provision market due to the fact that hogs reached $20, a new high record. Sentiment was also influenced by Mr. Hoover's remarks about the probability of high prices ruling for some years to come, and there was considerable buying by commission houses as well as by shorts. Receipts at Chicago were 7,000 hogs, with 18,000 expected on Wednesday. Kansas City had 7,000 hogs and Omaha 6,000.

SUGAR.

The market for refined sugar was unchanged with the exception of Arbuckle, who reduced prices to the basis of 9c for fine granulated, with the list now ranging from 8.40 to 9c. Business was only moderate, as refiners were still restricting orders. There was no business reported in raw sugar, but the market was firm and decidedly in sellers' favor. Monday's business included 15,000 bags Surinams, afloat, at 6 3-16c c. i. f., and 10,000 bags Cubas, August 1st week September shipment, at 6 7-16c c. f., a parity of 7.46 delivered. Cuban shippers asked 6½c c. f. for the various positions and showed no disposition to make concessions. There was a moderate buying interest in August-September shipment Cubas at 6 7-16c c. f. Porto Ricos were available at 7.52c c. i. f. with no bids in evidence. Spot quotations are nominal at 7.40c for Centrifugal; molasses 6.52c and cost and freight 6⅝c.

COFFEE.

So far as could be judged from opinion expressed in the trade yesterday, reports of frost in Brazil caused no serious apprehensions of crop damage. Near month liquidation was much less active, and after some early irregularity the market steadied on covering, with the close showing a net advance of 3 to 10 points. Sales were reported of 24,250 bags. The local spot market was steady at 9¼c for Rio 7s and 10⅛c for Santos 4s. Range of prices:

COTTONSEED OIL.

A very strong upward movement took place in the cottonseed oil market yesterday, based on good buying for Western account, a higher cotton market, and active covering by local shorts. Most of the strength came in the afternoon, being followed by slight reactions near the close, although final prices were still 16 to 27 points net higher. Total sales were 47,300 barrels. CANADIAN RAILWAY NOTES.

$10,000,000 of Canadian Northern Paper About to be Issued Here.

William A. Read & Co. are offering $10,000,00 of Canadian Northern Railway Company's one-year 6 per cent. collateral trust notes at 99.05 and interest, to yield 7 per cent. The notes are a direct obligation of the company, specifically secured by the pledge of $15,333,334 of Canadian Northern Railway general mortgage 4 per cent. bonds, due Sept. 1, 1934, which have the unconditional guarantees, both as to principal and interest, of the Government of the Dominion of Canada.

The proceeds of the $10,000,000 of notes, which will be dated Sept. 1, will be used to refund $11,500,000 of 5 per cent. notes due on that date, $1,500,000 of the maturing issue being paid from other cash resources. The trust deed will provide for the pledge with the Trustee of the same amount of collateral as now pledged for the maturing notes. The new notes will be convertible at par and interest into the pledged guaranteed bonds at 79 and interest, at the option of the holder, on or before June 1, 1918, on ten days' notice. The bonds acquired by this conversion on June 1 will yield more than 6 per cent.

The twenty-year 4 per cent. guaranteed bonds deposited with the Trustee are pledged at approximately 65¼, or about a 7.60 per cent. basis, and are part of an authorized issue for $45,000,000, secured by a direct general mortgage lien on the Canadian Northern Railway.

The Dominion of Canada now owns $40,000,000 of the outstanding $100,000,000 Canadian Northern Railway Company capital stock, and the Minister of Finance has introduced legislation in the Dominion Parliament providing for the acquisition of the remaining $60,000,000 of stock.

Interest on the $10,000,000 of notes is payable March 1 and Sept. 1 in New York or in Toronto. The Columbia Trust Company of New York has been designated Trustee. The company agrees to pay the normal United States income tax up to 2 per cent. if exemption is not claimed by the noteholder.

The Quality of Courtesy

The Brooklyn Trust Company holds courtesy to be an inherent part of its service. In its three offices a considerate civility is not an incident of individual character, but a uniform quality of service, just as accuracy and reliability are qualities of the service. Whether at his "home" office or at another branch, the customer is always sure of agreeable attention. The seeker after information finds that its officials and staff always "have time."

You are cordially invited to inquire and learn how this Company's experience and system can help you in your particular financial or personal affairs.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

With Mexican Petroleum, American Smelting, and the tobacco stocks rising sharply in the closing dealings on the Consolidated Exchange, a somewhat better tone was imparted to the general list. There were rallies from the lowest. Earlier in the day the market had been under pressure. Liquidation appeared to be under way in many sections of the list. It was most evident in certain of the railroad issues and a number of the war specialties.

BUSINESS RECORDS

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

In Town.

WILLIAM P. FOGARTY, real estate business, at 101 West Fifty-fourth Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $55,456, and assets of $65,815, consisting of interest in real estate, $11,139; judgments against P. A. Fogarty, $54,176, and bequest under the will of Helen Keenan of $500. The real estate is one-fourth interest in 2,623 acres of land in Fresno County, Cal., and one-fourth interest in a house at Long Branch. Among the creditors are Loretta E. Cosgrove, $6,770, secured; Mary H. Stange and others, $8,965; Hugh P. Skelly, $7,228; Kips Bay Brewing Company, $16,184; Joseph M. O'Brien and Loretta E. Cosgrove, as trustees, $6,767, and Trayer & Alden, $5,141. The petitioner is a son of the late Patrick A. Fogarty, at one time a partner in the firm of O'Reilly, Skelly & Fogarty, famous ale brewers of twenty-five years ago. He was at one time in the liquor business and afterward was a stockbroker. Franklin H. Mills is the attorney.

JOSEPH BALL, investment broker, of 61 Broadway, formerly of Los Angeles, Cal., has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $113,749 and assets of $9,980, consisting of household furniture, $5,150, in possession of W. A. Meyer of Los Angeles, which he believes has been sold; stocks, $4,680, mostly pledged as collateral on debt due, $150, also an automobile in possession of C. D. Branchman, which is believed to have been sold. The stocks consist of 4,500 London Copper Co., 35,000 American Crude Oil Co., 39,738 Bell Copper Co., and 15,000 Medvery Union Oil Co., most of which has been pledged as collateral. Among the creditors are William Fitzherbert West, $10,000, secured; W. D. Longyear, $6,000; Frank G. Tyrrel, $6,000; Los Angeles Country Club, $200; California Club, $450; Annandale Country Club of Pasadena, $205; M. C. Miller, $10,000; Francis Brown, $16,000; Elizabeth H. Ball, Mahwah, $15,000; Mr. Tibbens, $7,500, and Mr. Millikin, $7,500. Nearly all the debts were contracted in California, principally in Los Angeles.

Education Notes.

The Summer Vacation Playgrounds conducted by the Board of Education closed last week. They have been in charge of Eugene C. Gibney, assistant director of the Department of Vacation Playgrounds. The attendance this year exceeded all former seasons. There were 194 vacation grounds open, and they showed an average daily attendance of nearly 100,000, the schools being open five days a week. The largest aggregate weekly attendance was 486,814.

Educational instruction in raising vegetables in the school gardens will be continued to Sept. 8. Seven small garden plots have been cultivated, five being in the Bronx, one in Manhattan, and one in Brooklyn. The Manhattan garden is connected with P. S. 77 at Monroe and Market Streets. The young garden workers will receive instruction in canning their vegetables.

The Evening Community School Centres will be continued to Sept. 8. There are now forty-five of these community centres in different parts of the city.

THE WEATHER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Barometric pressure is at a low level over most of the country south of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi River, also to the westward as far as the foothills of the Rocky Mountains.

Numerous thunder storms, many without rain, have occurred in the great interior valleys, and at points in New England, the Middle Atlantic States, and Florida. High temperatures again prevail in the Missouri Valley and the north Rocky Mountain region.

Thundershowers are indicated in the next forty-eight hours for the Ohio Valley and Tennessee, also in the upper Lake region. Elsewhere in the Washington forecast district generally fair weather will prevail. Higher temperatures may be expected in the Middle Atlantic States and New England after Thursday.

Winds for Wednesday and Thursday along the North Atlantic Coast will be moderate and variable; fair weather; Middle Atlantic Coast, light south, fair; South Atlantic Coast, fresh west to northwest, fair.

FORECAST—TODAY AND THURSDAY.

Eastern New York—Generally fair Wednesday and probably Thursday, moderate temperature.

Southern New England—Partly cloudy Wednesday and Thursday.

New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania—Generally fair Wednesday and Thursday, moderate temperature.

Western New York—Generally fair Wednesday and probably Thursday, warmer Thursday.

Northern New England—Fair Wednesday and Thursday.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at 11 P. M., taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

	1916.	1917.		1916.	1917.

The locations of these crossings in Richmond, Brooklyn, and Queens are given.

The Civil Service.

United States.

The United States Civil Service Commission will hold an examination Friday at the New York Custom House for a scientific assistant in dry-plant investigations. It is open to men only, who must be at least 45 years old. The salary is $1,200. The position is in the Bureau of Plant Industry, Department of Agriculture. Applicants are required to be a graduate of a college or university of recognized standing, or a senior student in such an institution who will be graduated within three months from the examination. The examination will be in the following subjects: Practical questions in the growing and improvement of drug and related crops, and in the technical processes involved in preparation for market of crude drugs, vegetable oils, and related products; publication or thesis (to be delivered to the examiner on the day of the examination;) general education and scientific training; practical experience in the culture, improvement, and selection of drug and related crops or of crops grown under similar conditions.

An examination will also be held at the same place today for shop apprentices, open to boys only who must have reached their sixteenth but not their eighteenth birthdays. The positions are to fill vacancies in the Bureau of Standards, Department of Commerce, at salary from $480 to $540. The position of shop apprentices is designed exclusively for young men who desire to become proficient instrument makers, and candidates will be expected to state definitely that it is their intention to pursue a mechanical apprenticeship to completion. Competitors will be examined in the following subjects: Arithmetic, (addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division of whole numbers and common and decimal fractions, and the ordinary weights and measures;) letter writing, (a letter of not less than 125 words on some subject of general interest, competitors may select either of two subjects given;) practical questions; education and training.

EQUITABLE MINORITY TO ASK COURT ACTION

Will Contest Mutualization Plan, Approved Yesterday by Vote of 615 Shares to 248.

HYDE ESTATE LEADS FIGHT

Demands Same Rate for Stock as That to be Paid to Du Pont for the Controlling Interest.

The stockholders of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, meeting in the offices of the society at 120 Broadway yesterday, approved the plan of mutualization adopted by the Board of Directors on July 19, under which T. Coleman du Pont is to turn over 564 shares, the controlling interest, for $2,799,000, the minority shares to be paid for at $1,500 a share. Under the program of mutualization, the plan would next be submitted to the 500,000 policy holders of the Equitable for approval and would then be acted upon by the State Superintendent of Insurance.

The plan was approved by the stockholders by a vote of 615 shares for to 248 against, with 137 shares not voted. It was contended by Lawrence Greer, representing the Hyde Estate, one-time controlling factor in the Equitable, that the payment to Mr. du Pont of $2,799,000 for 564 shares was at the rate of $5,400 a share, and that all the stockholders should receive the same rate. Attorneys representing several other estates holding minority shares took a similar view, and when the motion was made to approve the plan, Mr. Greer made a substitute motion that all shares be paid for at the rate of $5,400 a share. This was voted down, 615 to 248 shares, and the original motion for approval was carried by the same vote.

It was contended by the Directors that the 501 shares of Mr. du Pont's stock represented the controlling interest, carrying with it the management of the $500,000,000 assets of the Equitable and was therefore worth more than the minority stock. It was contended by the Directors that Mr. du Pont was getting something more than $5,000 a share for the controlling stock, and was putting in his other sixty-three shares at $1,500 a share, the price it was proposed to pay the minority stockholders. The minority representatives held out to the last for the same price for their holdings that Mr. du Pont would get for his.

The minority interests kept a careful record of the meeting and began laying plans for court action to force what they termed "an equitable distribution of the assets."

E. E. Rittenhouse, spokesman for the Equitable management, said he regarded $1,500 a fair price inasmuch as the stock paid, under the law, only 7 per cent., and $1,500 was more per share than the stock had cost any minority holder. It was pointed out that Mr. du Pont would receive under the plan about $2,000,000 less than he paid J. P. Morgan for the controlling interest in 1915.

At the meeting yesterday Mr. du Pont's 501 controlling shares were voted by Morgan J. O'Brien as Trustee. To this action a protest was made by Mr. Greer on the ground that Judge O'Brien should not act in what he called a dual capacity of buying the shares under a plan to the formulating of which he was a party.

It was stated by representatives of minority interests, including Mr. Greer, after the meeting that action would probably be taken to force a court review of the Equitable transaction before the plan could be submitted to the policy holders.

"I wish to make it clear," said Mr. Greer, "that the minority interests are not opposed to mutualization of the Equitable. They are in favor of it, and stand ready to turn in their stock at any price, provided all stock is paid for alike. If Mr. du Pont would have put in his 564 shares at $1,500 a share the minority stockholders would have done the same, but we consider it unfair that he should get $5,400 a share and the minority holders $1,500 a share.

"It is not a good argument to say that a certain 501 of the 1,000 shares represent the majority stock. A share is a share, and it is a mere accident that a certain share happens to be in the majority of minority classification. A majority share of any corporation may at any time, by purchase or otherwise, cease to be a majority share and become a minority share, and the minority shares, by such a process, might become majority shares. What we insisted upon today, and will insist upon, is that all shares be paid for alike. The actual price is a matter of small moment, as all concerned wish to see the Equitable mutualized."

Mr. du Pont paid between $4,500,000 and $5,000,000 to J. P. Morgan in 1915 for the controlling stock. It had been bought by the late J. P. Morgan from Thomas Fortune Ryan and from the E. H. Harriman estate for about $3,000,000. Mr. Ryan bought his holding in 1905, when the insurance scandal was brewing, for $2,500,000 from the Hydes. In former days the control of the Equitable, with its vast liquid assets, was something much desired, and the contest of financiers for this power led to the great price to which the 7 per cent. stock of the society advanced. The statement was made by Mr. Ryan that he bought the stock to take the Equitable out of Wall Street, and as soon as he got control he placed the shares in the hands of trustees, an arrangement that was continued by Mr. Morgan and Mr. du Pont.

When the policy holders vote, all policies of $1,000 or more face value will have a voice.

TEXAS GOVERNOR OBJECTS.

Refuses to Tell Legislature Names of Men Who Loaned Him $150,000.

AUSTIN, Aug. 21.—Declaring that he would rather lose his office and be plunged into bankruptcy than to divulge the names of the men who loaned him $150,000 some time ago to settle his indebtedness, Governor Ferguson, testifying today at the hearing of impeachment charges against him contended the transaction was a private affair and refused to answer questions regarding it.

Representative Bryan, judge of admissibility of testimony at the hearing, which is being held before the House as a committee of the whole on charges preferred by Speaker Fuller, took the question of whether the Governor should answer under advisement.

MIXUP IN BABIES STARTS AN INQUIRY

Dr. Goldstein Advocates Law Compelling Institutions to Tag All Infants.

ERRORS ARE MADE OFTEN

Witness Says Hospital Was Not to Blame for Sending Baby, Now Dead, to Wrong Address.

Following yesterday's hearing held by Assistant District Attorney Cohn of the Bronx on the death of little Charles Wisatsky, who had been sent by mistake to the wrong home after his return from the Convalescent Home for Babies at Sea Cliff, L. I., Dr. Sidney Goldstein, assistant to Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of the Free Synagogue, declared that a law should be enacted requiring institutions to adopt some means of identification for the babies placed in their care. Dr. Goldstein was present at the hearing before Mr. Cohn yesterday afternoon in his capacity as head of the Social Service Department of Lebanon Hospital, from which the Wisatsky baby was sent to Sea Cliff. He submitted a report of the matter so far as the hospital was concerned, setting forth the events in chronological order which culminated in the baby's going to Sea Cliff.

"I cannot see where any blame can be attached to Lebanon Hospital for this pitiful tragedy," said Dr. Goldstein. "It appears to me as an unfortunate series of occurrences from beginning to end. I fail to see where any neglect can be charged. But I do think that out of all this should come some sort of law or ordinance requiring the institutions which accept the care of babies to adopt some means of identification for each child placed with them. Perhaps a wristlet with the baby's name on it could be given each child to be worn from the time it enters until it leaves the institution. This would prevent mistakes. You will remember that last Summer during the infantile paralysis epidemic there were several mistakes in identity which ought to have been prevented and which would have been prevented had there been the law of identification in force which I suggest."

In addition to Assistant District Attorney Cohn and Dr. Goldstein, there were present at the hearing Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Florio of 318 West Thirty-fourth Street, who cared for the Wisatsky baby for two weeks, thinking it was their own child; Miss Jaqueline Camblos, who represented the Sea Cliff Home, while from Bellevue Hospital's Social Service Department were Miss Anna Pratt, Miss Jessie Hill, and Miss Abbott, the nurse who took the Wisatsky baby from Sea Cliff to the Florio family.

Testimony offered both from Bellevue and Lebanon showed that on June 22 there were five babies admitted to the Sea Cliff Home, little William Florio and the Wisatsky baby both suffering from pneumonia. The babies were about the same size. Charts showed that when they were discharged the Florio baby weighed nineteen pounds and Charles Wisatsky, seventeen.

When he was admitted to Lebanon Hospital, nearly three weeks later, the Wisatsky baby, who had been living with the Florios, weighed only twelve pounds. This was not due to any neglect, the District Attorney thinks, but rather to the poor condition of the baby when he arrived there. The Florios testified that they called in their family physician on the case as soon as they found the child ailing.

The hearing will be concluded in a day or two.

MRS. VOLCK GETS A DIVORCE

One Child Put in Charge of the Brazilian Ambassador's Wife.

Supreme Court Justice Guy granted yesterday a final decree of divorce to Mrs. Elsie M. Holmes Volck from Morris Roderick Volck, son of Mme. de Gama, wife of the Brazilian Ambassador. By the terms of the decree Mrs. Volck receives the custody of her four-year-old daughter and $100 a month alimony.

In June, 1915, the Volcks' affairs had come to such a pass that Jabish Holmes, a lawyer, had to apply to Justice Greenbaum for a writ of habeas corpus to procure the release of Mrs. Volck and her child. It was alleged that they were kept prisoners in their home, 11 East Sixty-eighth Street, by Mr. Volck, who denied the charge.

The Volcks have two children, Morris Volck, Jr., 6 years old, and Elsie, 4. Mrs. Volck placed the former in the custody of Mme. de Gama because of her great attachment for him. He is to remain under her guardianship until he is 21 years old.

MAKE DRAFT JOKE SERIOUS.

Board Refuses to Release Youth Under Age Who Registered.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., Aug. 21.—George Hemmingway, who appeared before the local exemption board when notified to present himself for examination and stated that he had registered as a joke on his friends, finds that his joke has been taken seriously. He said he was under age at the time and later filed a New York birth certificate with the board in support of his contention.

The board was of the opinion that as he had registered voluntarily and was accepted by the examining physicians they had no other course than to certify his name. Any appeal should be made to the division board, Hemmingway was told.

CROSSINGS CLOSE TONIGHT.

Railroad Gates at Grade to be Lifted Only on Request.

In order to reduce the number of accidents at railroad grade crossings in New York City, gates at 145 crossings in the greater city, beginning today, will be lowered at midnight and kept down until 5 A. M. They will be raised only on request. The purpose is to bring traffic to a stop before crossings. The order was issued by the Public Service Commission after a hearing at which the plan was indorsed by the Police Department.

Mosquito Bite Blamed for Death of Three.

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 21.—The bite of one mosquito, communicating pernicious malaria, is held responsible for the quick death of three members of the Skinner family here. John A. Skinner, Jr., died today. His mother and brother died yesterday. All died in violent hiccoughs.

8 KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT.

New Haven Locomotive Hits Machine at Crossing in Connecticut.

SAYBROOK JUNCTION, Conn., Aug. 21.—A freight engine running light over the Shore Line division of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad shortly before last midnight struck and crushed at a crossing an automobile owned and driven by Robert H. Rohloff of New Haven, who had with him a party of four adults and four children. The survivor is Louise W. Weyel, aged 9, who was taken to the Memorial Hospital, New London, where this morning she was suffering from shock. The dead are:

Robert H. Rohloff, 39 Winthrop Avenue.

Gustave Weyel and his wife.

Miss Mabel Wagner, 209 North Front Street, and

Mrs. Louis Astorino, daughter of Mr. Weyel, and her three children.

All belonged in New Haven.

The party had spent the evening at the Niantic camp grounds, where Mr. Weyel's son, William, is a member of a military body. Miss Wagner was William Weyel's sweetheart.

Those who were on the crossing immediately after the accident say that the gong which gave warning of a train's approach was in working order.

HEARINGS ON NEW BUDGET.

Board of Estimate to Scrutinize Applications for Salary Increases.

The sub-committee of the Committee on Tax Budget of the Board of Estimate began its hearings on department estimates for the 1918 city budget in the Board of Estimate Chamber at the City Hall yesterday. Notices were sent to all civic bodies interested in the budget that representatives might be present and make objections, but not more than two or three appeared. Almost every city department has asked for increases in salaries, but the sub-committee has anounced that every salary increase will be thoroughly scrutinized, and that considerable pruning of the tentative estimates might be looked for.

The sub-committee took up yesterday the estimate of the Public Administrator of New York and Bronx Counties and the Commissioner of Jurors of New York, Bronx, and Richmond Counties. Today it will take up the Surrogates' Courts in Kings and Queens Counties, the Court of General Sessions and the Examining Board of Plumbing.

ESCAPE WITH $16,000 GEMS.

No Trace of Thieves Who Robbed Tompkins Home in Brooklyn.

Brooklyn detectives were unable yesterday to obtain any clue to the identity of the thief or thieves who on Monday evening entered the home of S. D. Tompkins at 673 Ocean Avenue, Flatbush, and stole more than $16,000 worth of jewels belonging to Mrs. Tompkins. Mr. Tompkins is a manufacturer of paper bags at 485 Washington Street, Manhattan.

Mrs. Tompkins told the police that she had been spending the Summer at Mount Kisco, N. Y., with Mr. Tompkins. On Monday she made a visit to the city and spent the early part of the day shopping in Manhattan, and arrived at her home late in the afternoon. She left her jewelry in a strong box in her room and went to a moving picture theatre a few blocks away. When she returned she found the door open and a strange key in the lock. She hurried to her room and found the strong box containing the jewels missing. Detectives found traces of wax about the key hole.

Wisdom In Few Words

VI.

PRECEPT & PRACTICE.

Benjamin Franklin was strong on precept. He was the greatest preacher of his day. But he practiced what he preached; which explains his rise from poverty in youth to a comfortable and honored old age. In between was hard work, self-denial, saving and service. He served his neighbors, his country and humanity. He said:—

"A good example is the best sermon."

"Let thy discontents be secrets."

"Wink at small faults;
Remember thou hast great ones."

But his most constant preachment was that of success through self-help. A lot of his best sayings are printed in a little pamphlet (free for the asking) called "The Proverbs of Franklin," designed to make people acquainted with a Society which for 30 years has been leading people to realize success through self-help.

"I Used My 'Autocar Motor Trucks' for This Excavation"

"ON July 23d I started this job of excavating for the new five-story machine shop that The Autocar Company, of Ardmore, Pa., is adding to their great motor truck plant—it was a problem how best to dig out some 3000 cubic yards of dirt and haul it to the Autocar baseball field, a mile and a half from the plant.

"It was a question of horses or trucks, but it would have taken seventeen teams of horses to do the work of five Autocars at an additional cost of about sixteen cents per cubic yard.

ONLY ONE PAIR OF HORSES USED ON THIS JOB

"My own four Autocar trucks and one other Autocar that I hired, have done the job with wonderful speed and economy—each Autocar has dumped on an average, forty yards of dirt a day at the ball field.

"You will see in one of the pictures a pair of horses—that one pair has ploughed up much of the dirt, has helped pull down some of the old buildings that were on the site—and I have also hitched them on the trucks to give a lift up the steepest grade out of the cellar. That takes an unnecessary strain off the motors.

"To my mind the Autocar is in a class by itself for work like this—its short wheel base makes it easy to operate in the pit where longer trucks are useless. By loading the trucks down in the cellar I did away with my steam shovel, which was fifteen miles from Ardmore (a four-days' round trip).

"Handling this job with Autocars I was able to excavate at the rear first, and the foundations for the new building were being laid there before the digging was half finished."

I will be glad to figure on your Excavating Job
